Car Rolls Over, Kills Baby Girl

POPLAR BLUFF - A two-year girl was killed when she was run over by the car she fell out of one mile north of Hillard at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The highway patrol said Virginia Lynn Magill was sitting in the parked car while her mother, Mrs. Margaret Magill, was talking to her husband.

The girl apparently opened the door and fell out of the car, parked on a hill. The car rolled over the girl.

The body was taken to Greer, Croy and Fitch Funeral Home.

Former Girl Scout President Dies

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Anne Hyde Clarke Choate, a former president of the Girl Scouts of America, died here Wednesday. She was 80.

Mrs. Choate, the widow of Arthur Osgood Choate, an investment banker, was the group's second president, taking office in 1920. She later served twice as its vice president.

Computer-Printer Speeds News To Pages of Daily Standard

Amid flashing and blinking of recorded electrical impulses lighting up a glass enclosed panel, the Daily Standard crossed the threshold today into one of the newest and fastest and most modern forms of putting the printed word before the readers' eyes.

The latest addition to the Standard's newsroom is the Associated Press offsetter, a combination computer and printer, which delivers news from around the world in the form that readers see them in the newspaper in a single operation.

Installation of the machine was completed Wednesday, making the Standard the first newspaper in the state and among the first in the nation to use the new offsetter.

The first model entered service Jan. 19 at the Winchester, Va., Evening Star.

The offsetter is especially designed for newspapers printed by the offset process. It was perfected by the Compugraphic Corporation for use by the Associated Press and its member newspapers.

The purpose of the machine is speed and by eliminating mechanical steps an AP story can appear in the newspaper within 15 minutes after it is received. Unlike the teletype service, which it replaced the Offsetter produces copy ready to be pasted on the page and photographed without further handling.

Previously, the Standard's AP copy has had to be reproduced either mechanically or manually to obtain the proper column width and letter spacing. Paper tapes perforated by the same electrical impulses received by the Offsetter were mechanically reproduced by a two - step process.

The tape first was fed through a Friden Justowriter recorder to produce another perforated tape. The second tape was then fed through a Justowriter reproducer to obtain the final paste - up copy.

Copy from the teletype machine also could be reproduced manually by Justowriter operators, who punched new tapes, which in turn went through the second reproduction process.

The offsetter does this in a single operation.

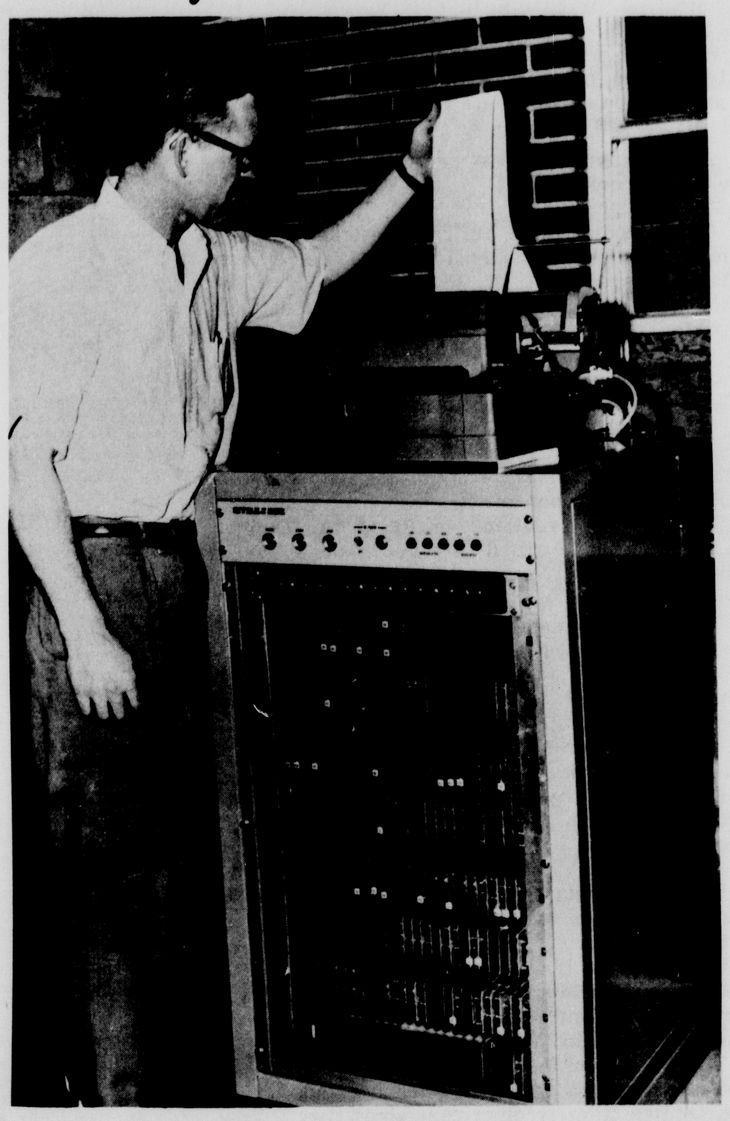

There are no tapes or additional Justowriter procedures. Copy from the offsetter goes directly onto the paste-up page. At the Standard's request the new machine has been equipped with the same type face used on machines, which set Sikeston area stories, so all type appearing in print will match.

The Offsetter is a unit consisting of a compact computer that drives the printing unit mounted on top. The computer is housed in a cabinet about two feet wide and two feet deep. Instead of reacting to each impulse as it is received as a teletype machine, the Offsetter waits until it has received a complete line and computed the proper letter spacing before it begins printing.

Although appearing to run slightly behind the teletype machine while it is storing up information, the Offsetter reproduces faster when in operation. It maintains the same rate of 66 words per minute in turning out finished copy.

The Offsetter permits the use of news received an hour later without affecting press time.

The Standard switched from letterpress or hot metal process to offset printing in 1964.

THE DAILY STANDARD has joined the computer age. Frank Burrell, the newspaper's wire editor, examines the stream of news, flowing from the new Associated Press Offsetter. The copy is ready for publication. The machine eliminates two production processes formerly required.

Tommy Thompson Convicted of Thefts

BLOOMFIELD - Tommy Lee Thompson, 18, Sikeston, was convicted on charges of burglary and stealing by a jury in circuit court Wednesday afternoon.

Thompson had been charged in connection with the Feb. 17, 1965, burglary of the Daris Burgess residence, 842 Ruth, in Sikeston. A billfold and clothing were taken in the burglary.

The jury recommended that Thompson be sentenced to four years on the burglary charge and two years on the stealing charge.

Thompson is scheduled to be sentenced June 5 by Judge William Billings.

Thompson's attorney, James E. Moore III of Sikeston, said today that he would file a motion for a new trial.

Judge Billings will rule on this motion June 5. If the motion is denied, an appeal will be filed and the case probably will go to the Missouri Supreme court, Moore said.

The trial originally had been set for circuit court at Benton but a change of venue was granted to the Stoddard court.

Thompson was acquitted of a first degree murder charge Dec. 9 in circuit court at Jackson. He had been charged with the rifle slaying of Mrs. W. R. Lewis of Sikeston at her home Feb. 1, 1965.

Cotton Growers Ask Honor for A. Pierce

PORTAGEVILLE -- A. R. Pierce, Clarkton, was nominated for a life honorary membership in the Missouri Cotton Producers Association at a meeting Tuesday in Kennett. Dunklin County directors of the organization made the nomination.

Directors from seven Bootheel cotton growing counties will vote on the nomination at the 18th annual MCPA meeting June 9 in Sikeston.

If Pierce is granted the membership, it will be the first in the 20 -year history of the association, James Conner, executive vice president of the MCPA, said.

Jack Rollins, Holcomb, was elected a Dunklin county MCPA director to replace Pierce. Board members re - elected were Rudie Slaughter, Senath; A. B. Boyd Jr., Campbell; Pat Burlison, Hollywood; Warren Karsten, Kennett; R.K. Swindle, Senath, and Wes Sutton, Kennett.

Joe Janes, Qulin, was the only new director elected to the Butler county MCPA at a meeting Wednesday at Poplar Bluff. Members re - elected were W. J. Clarkson, Poplar Bluff; T. A. Forbes, Broseley; John Garver, Qulin, Orville Clark, Qulin, and Frank Nentrup, Broseley.

All New Madrid county directors were re - elected at the Tuesday MCPA meeting in Portageville. They are, David Barton, Catron; Harry Campbell, Lilbourn; Norman Crumpecker, Morehouse; Wayne DeLisle, Portageville; John Bailey, Portageville; Charles Pikey Jr., Conran, and Roger F. Rhodes, Gideon.

Two new directors were elected to the Stoddard county board Wednesday at Essex. They were, James Kelley, Essex, and Kenneth Minton, Dexter. Other members re - elected were Floyd Gale, Parma; W. P. Hunter, Sikeston; Albert Kruse, Dexter; James Ross, Essex, and Howard Taylor, Essex.

A meeting will be held for election of directors to the Mississippi county board at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Knight of Columbus hall in Charleston.

Pemiscot county's board will meet at 1:30 p.m. today in Hayti.

Scott county's meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the First Natonal Bank meeting room in Sikeston.

Reporter's Nightmare

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Thomas Bain and Joyce Ann Bain are getting married here Saturday. The wedding party and guest list promises to be a society reporter's nightmare.

Not only is a Bain marrying a Bain, but the preacher's name is Bain. Bain is also the name of the organist, best man, maid of honor, two bridesmaids and the flower girl. To make matters worse, 50 Bains from each family are invited for the trothplighting.

Both Bain families are from southside Virginia, but they haven't been able to trace any connecting relationship.

THE JOURNALISM AWARD was presented to senior Mike Buchanan by Charles Blanton III, Daily Standard business manager, for outstanding work in journalism class. The presentation was made at the high school honors assembly.

House Reverses Billboard Decision

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House reversed itself again today by reviving and passing the controversial billboard regulation bill after defeating it earlier this week.

When the measure was taken up for final passage Monday it was four short of the necessary 82.

Today the House voted to reconsider, then passed it 83-61.

Rep. Herbert Akers, R-Bridgeton, who fought the bill Monday, again attacked it today. He said "This bill will make it possible to put up 2,400,000 billboards in the state if they want to."

The measure provides that billboards must be 150 feet apart.

Rep. Earl Sponsler, D-Cabool, said "I'm utterly confused on this bill and when I'm confused I vote 'No.'"

The bill provides that all rural areas adjacent to highways would be zoned as commercial—to allow construction of billboards.

A billboard law passed by the last legislature gave the zoning power to county courts but the federal government suggested that it didn't meet requirements of the national highway beautification act.

If a state does not have an acceptable billboard law the federal act calls for withholding of federal highway funds—estimated at $10 million a year for Missouri.

Rep. Boyd Sanders, R-Forsyth, said in support of the bill that a couple which has invested life savings in a motel or roadside place needs the use of roadside advertising.

Tuesday the House resurrected and passed a bill that would allow liquor by the drink at plush resorts and restaurants. That bill also was defeated Monday.

Labor lost its first round Wednesday in the Senate in attempting to pass a bill to boost unemployment compensation payments.

The bill has been bitterly opposed by business interests because it contains an "escalator clause" tying benefits to the average state weekly wage.

As passed by the House, benefits would have been set at 50 per cent of the average wage, which is now $111 a week. That would have boosted payments from $45 to $55.50 a week.

The House also passed a bill lowering employers' unemployment compensation tax payments from 7½ to 6 per cent.

Sen. T. D. McNeal, D-St.Louis referred to the bills as a package deal. He said if the benefit increase bill fails to pass, he would strike the tax reduction bill from the calendar.

In an attempt at compromise, McNeal sought to lower the benefit increase to 47 per cent but that was voted down, 12-20. The Senate also defeated his proposal to cut benefits to 45 per cent and that was rejected, too, on an 11-21 vote.

Opponents made it clear in heated debate they would accept a flat dollar increase in benefit payments, but not the escalator provision. Some said that was just a blank check, others predicted it would drive industry out of the state and keep new industries out.

Highway 25 Association Renews Plea

MALDEN -- Another hearing before the state highway commission to secure improvements on Missouri 25 in Dunklin, Stoddard and Cape Girardeau counties has been scheduled for June 15 at Jefferson City.

The request for the hearing was made by State Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin of Hornersville on behalf of the Highway 25 Association.

Tinnin said that two stretches of the highway need modernization. These include the section from Malden south to White Oak and from Malden north to Dexter.

The Highway 25 Association was formed last year to raise funds necessary to prepare a publicity campaign to seek improvements for the road, which runs from Jackson to the Arkansas state line.

The association presented grievances to the commission last spring.

Deputy Waives Hearing

CHARLESTON -- R. David White, Mississippi county deputy collector, waived preliminary hearing this morning in magistrate court and was bound over to circuit court.

White, charged with stealing county funds, will appear in circuit court June 5. He has been released on $5,000 bond.

He is charged with taking $188.26 from the office of the county collector. An audit will be made to determine the exact amount of any shortage.

Five Gun Blasts Kill Dog

A white mongrel dog, sought by the humane officer three months, was killed Wednesday after police received two reports that the dog had bitten children in the Clayton Park area last week.

The dog's head was sent to a state health department laboratory in Poplar Bluff to be tested for rabies.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell shot the dog Wednesday near the railroad tracks south of Murray Lane. He then tracked the dog three miles and shot him again when it crawled under a fence south of Clayton Park.

Before the dog was stopped he had been hit three times in the back and neck with .38 caliber pistol bullets and twice with 12 gauge shotgun blasts.

HUMANE OFFICER JAMES GAMMONS and Police Sgt. Leonard Campbell hold the carcass of a white mongrel dog that was shot five times and tracked three miles before he was killed Wednesday.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society is currently conducting its annual MS Hope Chest campaign. And your support is urgently needed.

During the twenty years in which the Society has been in operation, more has been learned about the disease than ever before in history. Since its founding in 1946, the Society has expended approximately seven million dollars in research grants and research fellowships.

During the same period, sister MS Societies were being formed throughout the world and in October of 1966, a world-wide Federation of Multiple Sclerosis Societies was formed. Its purpose is to coordinate and accelerate medical research seeking the cause and cure of MS and to develop services to individuals who are disabled by MS and related diseases. The International Federation will collect and disseminate scientific and educational information relating to multiple sclerosis.

It is hoped that through this world-wide effort the cause and cure for MS will be found. Not knowing where it will be discovered, the Society will continue to support research to investigate all hopeful direct approaches to uncover the reasons for MS and related diseases, and to find an effective treatment. To this end the National Society's Board of Directors budgeted one million dollars for 1967. The Society needs your help to carry forward its research program. Please give generously when the MS volunteer calls.

"Repeat exposure value" is a term used to indicate the impact gained by an advertisement when seen more than once.

Research has shown that the second or third glance at an advertisement may be almost as effective as the first reading. Repeated exposure to one advertisement has almost the same effect on a reader as reading a new and different advertisement.

This means that advertising in some printed media gives the advertiser double or triple his money's worth. More than any other advertiser, the retailer who uses his local newspaper gets a surplus of "repeat exposure value."

The reader of a small newspaper turns through his newspaper several times. And even during the first reading, the reader's eye unconsciously moves from news matter to advertising on a particular page numerous times.

Multiple exposure does not take place in other forms of local advertising. After the first glance, mail advertising is put aside. Circulars may be scanned and discarded; there is nothing to cause the reader to return to such matter. And, of course, repeat exposure is impossible in broadcast advertising.

The hometown newspaper has high repeat exposure value. It is read thoroughly. It is kept in the home longer than comparative publications. All reading matter is pointed toward the local reader. The newspaper page is large and varied in content; thus, it holds more readers longer than small and specialized pages.

"Repeat exposure value," in practical terms, is a special bonus which is gained by advertisers who use community newspapers.

AN UNUSUAL BUSINESS

Next May 21, an unusual nationwide celebration will take place. It will mark the 26th anniversary of the Tree Farm Movement. This was one of the more important achievements of our time. Trees are an essential part of our economy, of our living standards, of just about everything that makes for an advanced civilization. One could hardly conceive of a nation such as ours without forest resources.

Yet, not so very long ago, that danger appeared. It had once seemed that our forests were limitless. All that had to be done was to cut and move on to new stands. Then, finally, it was seen that the forests were going, and there would be a time when they would be entirely gone unless something unprecedented in this country was done.

The answer was the tree farm. Its purpose is to assure a perpetual supply of timber. That purpose has been realized. The growth of new trees, planted and nurtured and protected on the farms, now actually exceeds the cut.

It is, in many ways, a unique business. The tree farmer must constantly fight the natural enemies of forests - fire, disease, and insects. He must build roads and employ labor. He must pay taxes. Yet, depending on varieties and areas, the crop may not be ready for market for a great many years - more than a century in some cases.

Fortunately, government has recognized this unique situation as a general rule. It has established tax systems for the tree farmer which encourage him to continue his work and give him a reasonable chance for a fair profit when the far-off marketing time arrives. And the nation benefits from such wise and foresighted taxing policies.

"Potential retail sales which are not made on a particular day, or week, are not regained at a later date. . ."

This was the observation of an executive of Macy's concerning the loss in trade resulting from the transit strike which paralyzed downtown business in New York City.

The official of the world's largest department store indicated that consumer demand for a particular item is often very short lived. Few people were interested in buying Christmas gifts a week after Christmas.

It is a unique service of consistent advertising that it provides information which leads to buying action at a time when consumer demand is at its peak. When such information is not available, consumer need will cool and pass.

When timely advertising fails to present news about products, the retailer is likely to lose more than the consumer. He is left with excess and dated goods. He is forced to sell at a loss.

Out-of-season "bargains" are actually a threat rather than a boon to the retailer. Bargain sales too often are simply a sign that a retailer lacks in foresight.

The ideal relationship between retailer and consumer is established when selling is done at a fair profit. The establishment of this relationship on the local level is made effective through constant use of newspaper advertising.

CHRISTOPHER MINICLIER

NEW YORK (AP) — What is a wife worth?

"She is priceless," many a happily married man might respond.

A survey released Tuesday, attempts to be a bit more exact. If your wife is an average American housewife she is worth $8,300 a year, based on a wage survey of 12 occupational roles she fulfills.

An awesome thing for her to keep in mind when she asks for a new fur coat.

However, if her husband is an ambassador she is worth more —not because she works longer hours or fulfills more roles, but because the extra job she does assume pays more.

These conclusions are drawn in an article appearing in the first edition of Envoy, a new monthly magazine published in New York for the diplomatic and consular community.

Envoy enlisted the aid of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. economists, the Chase Manhattan Bank, and the Restaurant & Hotelmen's Agency to compile a table of hours worked in different tasks and wages which would be paid for these tasks.

The average American housewife served 44.5 hours a week as a nursemaid, 13.1 hours a week as a cook, 17.5 hours as a housekeeper and longer periods as a dietitian, food buyer, dishwasher, laundress, seamstress, practical nurse, maintenance man, gardener and chaufer, the study said.

Her highest salaried roles are dietitian, seamstress and cook at $2.50 an hour each. But she works only 15.6 hours a week at these tasks. Her major role is nursemaid, 44.5 hours out of a 99.6-hour work week, pays only $1.25 an hour.

The survey concluded that a housewive does not serve as a compensable hostess.

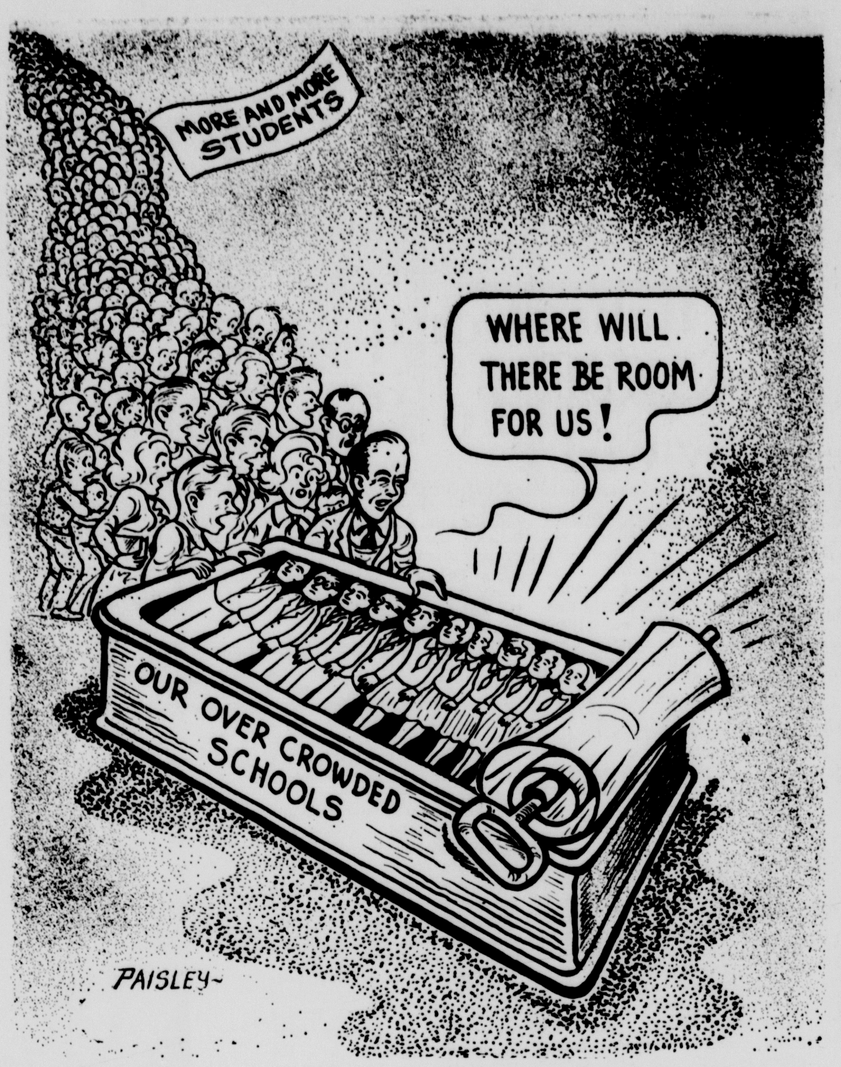

Turning to the ambassador's wife, the survey deleted the roles of dishwasher, laundress, seamstress, maintenance man, gardener and chauffeur—on the theory the ambassador's wife would have domestic help. It was assumed she would do a substantial amount of entertaining—rated at 12 hours a week at $3.57 an hour for a hostess.

The survey concluded that the ambassador's wife worked only 92.2 hours a week, but earned $8,700 a year, thanks largely to her hostess role.

The least-valued woman in the survey was the diplomatic attache's wife. Assigned a hostess salary of only $2.15 an hour and deprived of the payrolls of dishwasher, laundress and seamstress, she would earn only $8,000 a year for 94.5 hours a week.

The survey noted that education, common sense, and discretion were among the less financially measureable, but vital attributes of any wife.

Hal Boyle is ill.

POOR GOOSE

(There was once a farmer who had a goose. One day he found that the goose had laid a golden egg, and every day thereafter the goose laid an egg of purest gold. But in time the farmer became greedy, and he decided that if he killed the goose he could have her entire treasure at once. So he cut her open to find nothing at all.

Moral: Don't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.)

Everyone is familiar with this story, probably the most famous of Aesop's fables. Unfortunately, many of us seem to have forgotten the moral.

Certainly it has been forgotten by those politicians and professors who urge us to do away with free enterprise--our wealth-producing goose--in favor of hare-brained schemes with no more productive capacity than the dead goose of the fable.

It has obviously been forgotten by labor potentates and minor poobahs constantly calling for "authorized work stoppages" and wildcat strikes, with the result that our poor goose of an economy grows weak and groggy from their repeated assaults.

It seems to have been forgotten even by some businessmen who appear to be blissfully unaware that their gold-producing goose is threatened from many quarters. Not the least of the threats comes from abroad, from a conniving enemy as greedy for the goose's gold as was Aesop's farmer. But make no mistake, that enemy would like nothing better than to carve up the long-suffering critter.

Maybe what we ought to do is make the goose our national bird and then post stiff penalties against anyone who makes any kind of pass at it.

DISTRICT OR DISTRICT VOTING

Need for Reform of the archaic system by which the United States names its President is generally admitted. Some advocates of Reform favor a constitutional amendment abolishing the Electoral College and providing for the election of the President and Vice President by a majority of the total popular vote. Other students of the problem see much greater merit in CONDIRP, the Congressional District Reform Plan.

Direct voting would do little to reduce the power of the political machines in mid-city sections of large metropolitan areas. It would promote the growth of small splinter political parties, causing frequent run-off elections. And with direct elections, the states would no longer be "Electoral entities" in choosing the President. This would be a serious blow to our Republic, striking down one of the basic tenets of the Founders of Freedom in our Republic.

CONDIRP offers none of these disadvantages. This is the plan under which every voter would vote for an elector from his Congressional District and two electors from the state at large. No longer would a candidate for President get all the electoral votes of a state simply by virtue of having some votes - and it could conceivably be just one vote - more than his nearest rival. The voting power of every American would be equal to that of every other voter.

Congress at this session can approve for submission to the states, a constitutional amendment that would put this fair and equitable method of electing our President and Vice President into effect as soon as enough states ratified it. HLH.

Doc. Duncan Says

Gramp what's you ida on them anti constitution, anti-gun boys?

My guess is they aint concerned bout keepin guns out of the hands of hoods. They know that can't be done. Besides that's where they git their big vote from sometimes. Most folks thinks they is more concerned bout putting their brand of dictatorship on the people by force of law. They got cooked up and waitin - all of it contrary to all our nation has stood fur since our forefathers left it in our hans for protection. Then too, they want to fix it so's extortionist can do their stuff widout molestation.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- No one is likely to admit it officially, but American special forces are now venturing into Laos and even North Vietnam itself to spy upon the Communist infiltration routes.

The Americans are Guerrilla specialists who speak the Vietnamese language and are at home in the jungle. Their chief function is to radio information about enemy movements to command posts, which in turn direct our planes where to strike.

Sometimes jets, already in the air over Vietnam, will hit a target within minutes after special forces have spotted it.

The chief object of this secret surveillance is the famous Ho Chi Minh trail, which is actually a network of jungles trails running from North Vietnam, through Laos, into South Vietnam. Some trails are footpaths; others are wide enough to handle trucks and tanks.

The American infiltrators have reported eveything from elephants to bicycles hauling weapons through the jungle. Thousands of coolies, carrying packs on their backs or balancing bundles on the ends of bamboo poles, move like ants down the trails.

Heavier equipment is dismantled and hauled in parts on bicycles, which have been converted into one - man cargo carriers. Rockets and heavy artillery are lashed to the backs of animals or loaded upon trucks. The Viet Cong have learned to space their trucks a mile apart, so the planes can never catch a convoy lined up like ducks.

UNRELIABLE SPIES

At first, the Central Intelligence Agency hired Laotians and Vietnamese to spy upon the Ho Chi Minh trail. All too often, they took the CIA's money, then disappeared, presumably to spend it. What radio reports were received from inside Laos and North Vietnam weren't always accurate.

As a result, the army and CIA started putting Americans in charge of the reconnaissance teams. Sometimes they are hopped into North Vietnam by helicopter; sometimes they parachute into enemy territory.

They have been called the "Gray Ghosts," because some have worn gray uniforms, or the "Black Paratroopers" because of their black parachutes.

They are most active at night when the infiltration traffic is also heaviest. Vice President Hubert Humphrey has argued inside the policy councils that the United States should send Guerrilla teams into North Vietnam on commando raids, thus giving them a taste of their own Viet Cong medicine. Up to now, however, the special forces teams are sent into enemy territory to spy; they engage in virtually no sabotage operations.

The Communists are fully aware of their presence, of course, so there is no military reason for all the secrecy.

ALIENATING NEGRO VOTE

At a time when Adam Clayton Powell and the Rev. Martin Luther King are calling upon Negroes to leave the Democratic party, Rep. Mike Kirwan, the grizzled and grumpy chairman of the committee for re-election of Democratic congressman, gave them added reason to defect by excluding them from recognition at the sumptuous fund - raising dinner last week.

Negroes were permitted to buy tickets to the dinner and listen to President Johnson orate. But that was about all. The long list of planners printed on the dinner program didn't contain a single Negro name.

Rep. William Dawson, D-Ill., the venerable Negro leader, happens to be vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Secretary of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. Yet he wasn't so much as consulted about the dinner.

Dawson paid his $250 and took his seat with the Illinois delegation. But he was completely ignored at the dinner. Other Negroes in congress got the same brush - off.

It was a different story in 1948 when the party was flat broke and needed money for Harry Truman's Presidential campaign. Dawson raised hundreds of thousands of dollars among Negroes to keep Truman in the White House.

Again, in the 1960 Presidential election, Dawson delivered enough Negro votes in Chicago to nose out Richard Nixon in Illinois and clinch the victory for John Kennedy.

The reason Kirwan squeezed Dawson out of the dinner arrangements, according to insiders, is that Kirwan doesn't like to dilute his power in the party. The proceeds from these fund - raising affairs are poured each year into his Democratic campaign committee to reelect Democratic congressmen. If Kirwan likes them, he gives them generous campaign funds. If he doesn't like them, or if they vote against the $3 million "Kirwan Ditch" to connect Youngstown with Pittsburgh via canal, then they get meager funds.

It's one - man committee rule in its most flagrant form, illustrating one of the greatest defects of the present congressional system. You can understand why Kirwan doesn't want to share his power with any other congressman, white or Negro.

LITERARY WASHINGTON

Bill Douglas, the most prolific member of the supreme court both in books and opinions, has just written a volume which should bring some nostalgic memories to LBJ. It's called "Farewell to Texas -- A Vanishing Wilderness." Bill doesn't say so, but some people think that the Texas wilderness has not entirely vanished, merely been transplanted to Washington. . . Dan Tyler Moore, wartime super spy, has turned out an opus, "Wolves, Windows and Orphans," aimed at protecting widows and orphans from the wolves both on Wall Street and elsewhere. Moore exposes more ways to cheat than some congressmen ever dreamed of.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Waterfront Union Chief Whipping Up Friendship For Peking, China.

Portland, Ore.: -- Not many bearded hippies, from the houseboats of Sausalito to the sands of the Mexican border, could look at a neatly tailored, tense thin man of 65 called Harry Bridges and recognize him for the revolutionist he was on the Pacific waterfronts. The generations are passing him by. But he's still American labor's toughest champion of the Communist world.

For 30 years now he has been reelected president of the Pacific dockwallopers, the International Longshoremen's and Warehouseman's Union. And he's still doing business at the old political stand -- but with startlingly respectable customers.

He has strong friends in Congress these days though he is pressuring the State Dept. to permit him to fly to Peking, China, dispatch union delegations to the Chinese mainland and send union groups to North Korea and to Hanoi.

He wants recognition of Communist China, now. He wants trade with Mao's land, now. He wants Peking and not Taipei in the United Nations and its Security Council, now.

'Arry, as his needlers love to call him, does not trumpet across the nation nor whip up waterfronts, as he used to in bloodier days. So he might have escaped a traveler's notice if, in the course of political discussions, Bridges' ties to a bloc of congressmen had not come up.

Especially his friendship and political intimacy with the brand new Republican senator from Oregon, Mark Hatfield. In the East the political aviary is so filled with doves and hawks that only an occasional screech of fluttering feather is noted. Certainly it did not come to the public attention that Sen. Mark Hatfield had spoken as he did at the 17th biennial convention of Bridges' union which has been backing the Oregonian for years.

At this convention of 316 delegates representing 68 locals in all our strategic Pacific states, Mark Hatfield was cheered again and again. At the end there was a long standing ovation.

To the Eastern observer, this is remarkable news, for in the allegedly sophisticated saloons of New York and Washington the gentleman from Oregon is mentioned as a possible Republican national candidate.

This union which Mark Hatfield addressed recently was ousted from the labor movement in 1950 after the presentation of a brief to a board of its peers by the now Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. It was voted out on charges that it followed the Soviet line.

The roster of its leaders discloses it has changed mighty little. To this gathering came Sen. Hatfield. His appearance marks a changing time. Few politicos would have chanced it a generation ago.

Hatfield hurled verbal mortars on Lyndon Johnson, and the American position in Southeast Asia. He hit hard. He was cheered lustily. So ardent were the delegates, they voted to reprint his speech and publish it in The Dispatcher, the union newspaper, so that the tens of thousands of members could read it. This was done in the April 14th edition about a week after the convention closed.

The senator spoke the delegates' language. He reminded them that his father-in-law is a retired member of Portland Local 8. The senator was cheered when he said that his father - in - law had marched in the bloody period -- presumably the '30s when they really bloodied the San Francisco Embarcadero. Hatfield also spoke of his father's membership in the Railway Brotherhood.

The senator's feeling of kinship for the longshoremen's union is his privilege. Certainly there is no remote denial of his right to appear on any platform he chooses. But the news is that he did choose a convention at which this country and its leaders, and the labor movement and its leaders except for Jimmy Hoffa, were bitterly attacked again and again.

This does mark the changing scene. Perhaps only in Vermont's Sen. Aiken could Sen. Hatfield find a kindred soul who would, and has ventured to a union convention of this philosophical type. This speech and the presence of a Republican senator at this recent convention proves that there are no ideological political parties in the U. S.

It also proves that not all doves, wherever they are, are birds of a feather inside a single political party.

Some just come in out of the cold for a while.

In our parish in Kansas the Altar and Rosary society was discussing the changes in the Church brought about by Pope John and the Vatican Council. Some of the older members didn't like the new ways of doing things, and were being very outspoken in their criticism. But one little old lady of about 80 topped them all. She raised her hand and said, "All I can say is that I am thankful that Pope John died while he was still a Catholic."

Play's Final Performance Friday Night

Between 50 and 60 Sikeston people will go to Caruthersville Friday to stage the Little Theatre production. "South Pacific," in the new high school auditorium there at 8 p.m.

A chartered bus and a 40-foot trailer will take the cast, crew and sets for the final performance of the season.

The play will be sponsored by the Caruthersville Community Betterment committee. Wayne Bond of Caruthersville is in charge of arrangements. The Caruthersville city council approved the presentation.

Mrs. James Terrell, director, said today that it takes one day to set up for the performance. She said that the Little Theatre will take its own sound equipment. She said that profits from the performance will go into a fund to build an auditorium for Sikeston.

Lynda Johnson Dating Banker

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, who frequently is escorted by actor George Hamilton, also is dating a 37-year-old investment banker, the New York Post reported Wednesday.

He is John L. Loeb Jr., son of the senior partner in Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co., an investment banking firm.

Lynda and Loeb were first seen together last February, the Post said, when Lynda was hostess at a party for Princess Irene of Greece. They were together at the theater here in April, and at a ball.

The newspaper quotes Loeb as saying he and Lynda are "very good friends" and that their parents have been friends for years. His mother, Frances Lehman Loeb, is a niece of the late New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and has been active in Republican politics.

"I think they're very charming together," Mrs. Loeb said. "She's a lovely girl and obviously she needs an escort when she's in town."

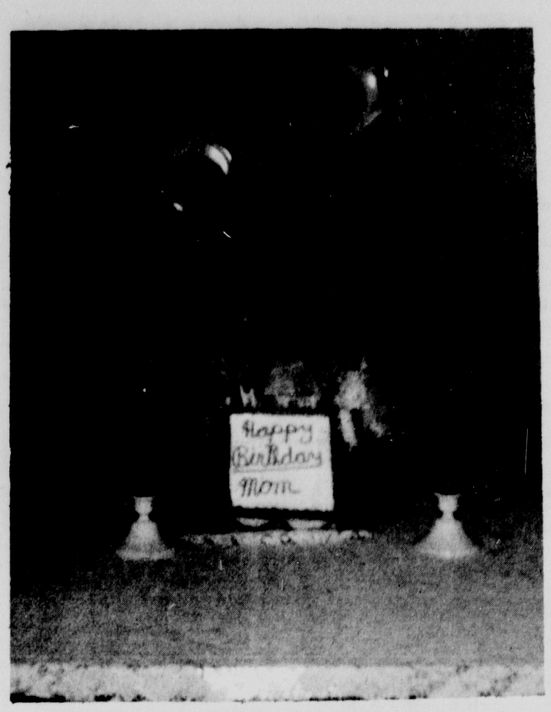

Loeb was married in 1960 and divorced three years later. He has a 5-year-old daughter.

Miss Nunnelee Gives Recital

CHARLESTON - Miss Judy Nunnelee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nunnelee and a senior at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, gave her senior voice recital May 11 at 8 p.m. in the University's Raley chapel.

Miss Nunnelee studied with William James Brown and Ted Harris. Her recital partially fulfills the requirements for a bachelor of music degree in voice. She will graduate May 28.

For her recital, Miss Nunnelee chose two arias by Mozart, "Ridente La Calma" and "Non Mi Dir;" a series of eight lieder from "Frauenliebe and Leben" by Robert Schumann; "Extase" by Henri Duparc; "J'ai Pleure en Rene" by Goerge Hue; Mascagni's "Val Lo Sapeti;" and three contemporary pieces, "Rain Has Fallen" by Samuel Barber, "Music I Heard With You" by Conrad Aiken, and "Under the Greenwood Tree" by Douglas Moore.

Man Charged In Slaying

CHESTER, Ill. -- Jerome Miller has been charged with the last Thursday night armed robbery and slaying of a Chester bridge tollkeeper.

The 25 - year - old factory worker appeared in circuit court, Monday.

Miller was given until Monday to hire an attorney in lieu of the court appointing one. Miller will then appear before a grand jury which on the basis of evidence will decide whether to indict him.

Miller, who worked in a St. Louis automobile plant and commuted from his home in Chester, was arrested about 28 hours after Joseph Gagnepain, 52 years old, was fatally wounded during a holdup.

Chester police reported Gagnepain was shot through the head with a .38 caliber pistol and robbed of about $50 just before 11 p.m.

Miller was apprehended Saturday after officers got a description of Miller's car which police said was parked near the tollhouse at the time of the slaying.

Officers reported part of the stolen money and a .38 caliber revolver were found in the trunk of Miller's car when they searched it.

Miller remained in Randolph County jail. He will not be released on bond, Sheriff Vernon Uffelmann said.

PRAYER OF GROWING OLD

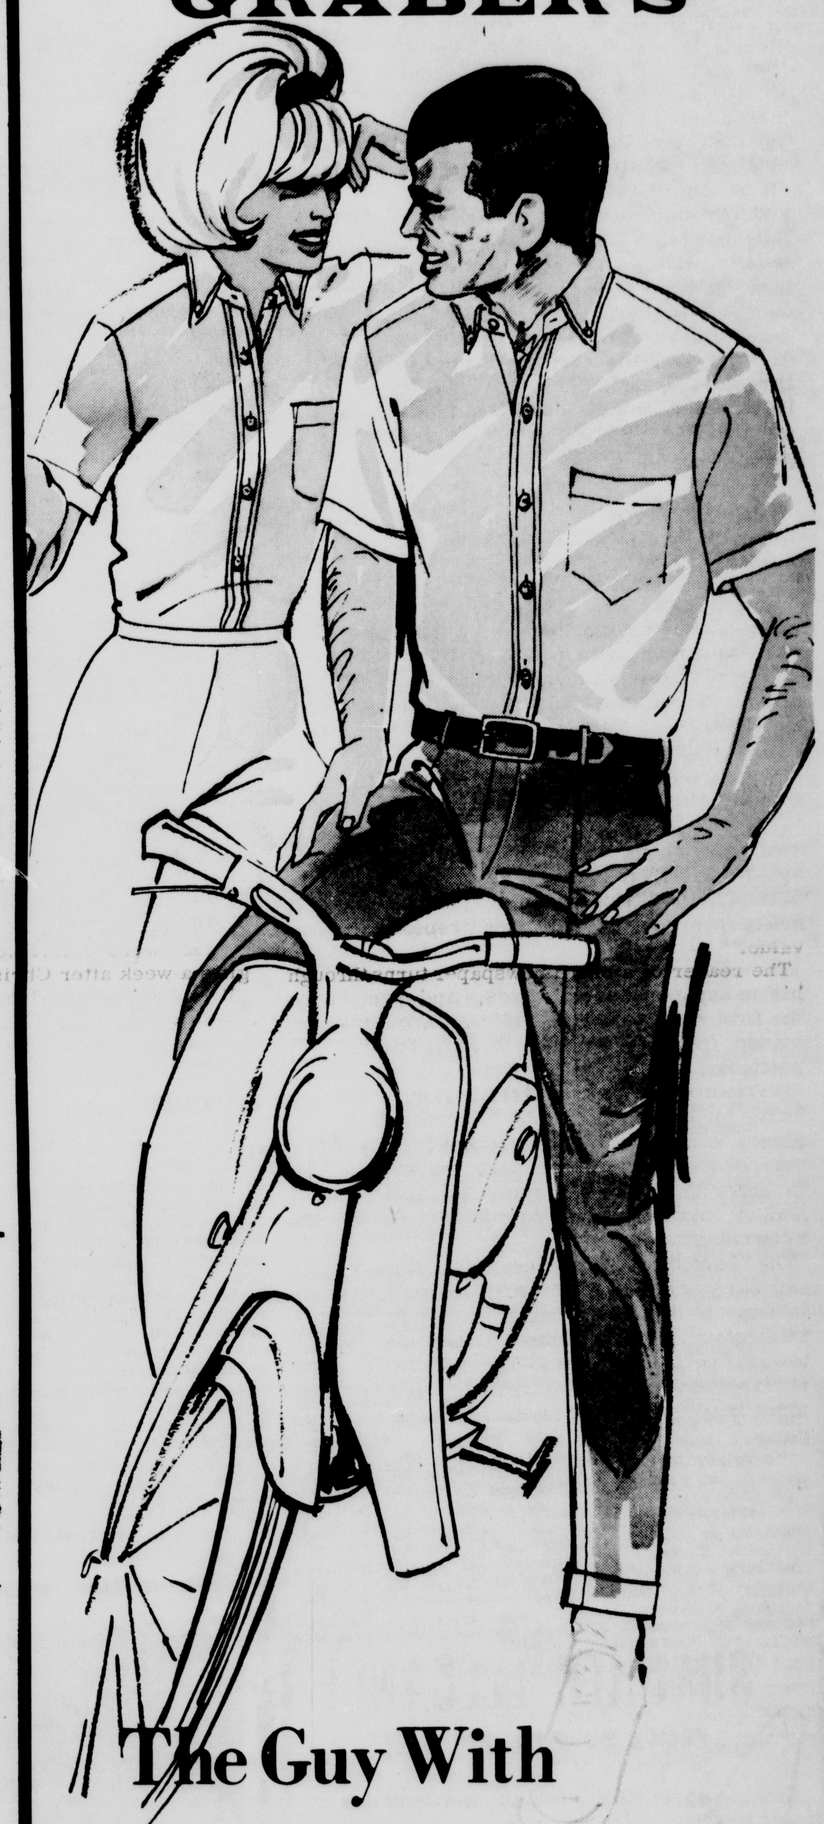

Dearest Lord, in bounteous grace,
Help us accept our wrinkled face---
Knowing that your watchful care
Made smiles, not frowns, entrenched them there.
May we, in calm, when old bones creak
Accept the cause, nor try to seek
A youthful life, but learn to rest,
When aches and pains say "This is best."

Help us express our gratitude
For loving care and daily food,
But, Lord, please watch too constant talk,
Guard our tongues where e'er we walk,

Help us pursue a hobby where
We'll keep for hours out of others' hair,
And may our nearest never be
Victims of our senility.
Amen.

McCarver's Pinch Homer Sinks Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Probably the guy on whom an extra-inning baseball game is toughest is the poor catcher going up and down behind the plate, wearing all that heavy gear.

So Joe Torre and Tim McCarver, a couple of receivers, decided they'd rather not stick around for more than the regulation nine innings.

Torre, Atlanta's All-Star catcher, cracked a leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, lifting the Braves to a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night and McCarver came off the St. Louis bench and socked a leadoff homer in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

For Torre it was home run No. 9 this season, tying him for the major league lead with teammate Hank Aaron, who had a two-run shot against the Mets earlier.

McCarver's pinch-hit shot was his third of the year and raised his batting average to .318.

In other games Wednesday, San Francisco topped Chicago 4-2, Cincinnati took Pittsburgh 3-1 and Los Angeles rapped Houston 7-0.

Aaron's two-run shot in the sixth inning had tied it for the Braves against young Tom Seaver, who helped his own cause by driving two New York runs with three straight hits.

Then Torre's leadoff shot in the ninth ended it.

Left-handed hitting McCarver was on the bench against southpaw Chris Short, who cruised through the first five innings, retiring 15 straight batters. But when right-hander Dick Farrell came on in relief, McCarver batted for John Romano opening the bottom of the ninth.

His shot into the right-field seats gave the Cards their victory.

Tito Fuentes ripped a two-out two-run double in the sixth inning that carried the Giants past the Cubs. Fuentes connected against loser Curt Simmons following two walks.

Mike McCormick won his fourth for the Giants with late-inning help from Frank Linzy. It was San Francisco's sixth victory in the last seven games.

The first-place Reds won their fifth straight with Tony Perez driving in two runs and Sammy Ellis going all the way for his fourth victory.

Ellis gave up nine scattered hits and was nicked for a run in the second but held the Pirates off the rest of the way.

The Dodgers ran up a quick seven-run lead against Houston and it was more than enough for Don Sutton, who won his first game after four straight losses.

Wes Parker homered for Los Angeles and three Dodger runs crossed the plate in the third on a bases-loaded throwing error by Sonny Jackson. Mike Cuellar was the loser.

Orioles Head AL Homer Barrage

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell is building up a following as a philosopher.

"Just swing, that's my philosophy," the Baltimore first baseman said Wednesday night. "But swing hard in case you hit it."

Well, the boys were swinging hard in the Oriole-Boston game, and they were hitting it.

Ten home runs sailed out of Fenway Park — seven by Baltimore and three by the hometown Red Sox — in the game won 12-8 by the Orioles.

The 10 homers were one shy of the major league record for two teams in a game; Baltimore's four blasts in the seventh were one short of the mark for homers by a team in one inning and the total of five in the seventh tied the record for homers by two teams in an inning.

In all, there were 21 homers hit in the American League Wednesday night, with five coming in Cleveland's 8-7 victory over the New York Yankees.

Detroit crushed Washington 8-1, California topped Kansas City 7-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 5-4 in other AL action.

There was a stiff wind blowing out generally from home plate in Fenway, but hitters on both clubs thought the homers were hit well enough to be homers there regardless of the wind.

However, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson thought the wind did affect the pitchers psychologically.

"With the wind blowing out like that," he said, "a pitcher can't make any mistakes."

The trouble started in the very first inning when Paul Blair of the Orioles hit a solo homer and Boston's Don Demeter connected with two on.

Brooks Robinson homered with none on in the second and teammate Frank Robinson did the same in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski belted a two-run blast in the Boston fifth.

Then came the wild seventh. Andy Etchebarren hit a three-run shot and pinch hitter Sam Bowens followed with a solo belt. After another run scored on a pair of doubles, Powell connected with two aboard and Dave Johnson followed with another solo shot.

Yastrzemski concluded the barrage by homering with one on in the bottom of the inning.

Cleveland built up an 8-2 lead behind Leon Wagner's grand slam and Fred Whitfield's three-run homer and then held off the Yankees, who fought back with five runs in the seventh, including a three-run homer by Tom Tresh and a bases-empty wallop by Mickey Mantle, his 501st.

Joe Pepitone earlier hit a two-run shot for New York.

Willie Horton drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Jim Northrup hit a grand slam in leading Detroit past Washington. Fred Valentine homered for Washington.

California snapped a six-game losing streak with its victory over Kansas City. Rick Reichardt and Don Mincher each drove in two runs for the winners. Reichardt's RBI came on a home run.

The White Sox broke a jinx in beating Minnesota. It was their first victory over Jim Kaat in 10 decisions dating back to Sept. 10, 1964. Joel Horlen ran his record to 5-0 although he needed relief help.

Chicago wrapped up the game with three runs in the fourth. Harmon Killebrew drove in two Minnesota runs with a double and homer.

Hunting, Fishing License Sales Up in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Hunting, fishing and related sports are on the increase in Missouri, but may be declining in many states.

Figures just released by the Missouri Department of Conservation show increases in sales of all hunting and fishing permits in 1966. The increase averages 7.4 per cent for all kinds of permits.

The largest increases were in the numbers of resident hunting, fishing and deer hunting permits issued in 1966. Resident hunting permit sales increased 7.3 per cent from 191,201 in 1976 to 205,306 last year. The department issued 474,368 resident fishing permits last year, compared with 449,515 the previous year, for an increase of 5.5 per cent.

While sales of all Missouri permits were on the rise, those in other states were declining. The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has announced a nationwide decrease of 807,486 hunting permits and 1,436,897 fishing permits. The Missouri figures are based on the calendar year, and the nationwide figures are on the fiscal year.

Missouri last year ranked fourth nationally in the sale of fishing permits, following only California, Minnesota and Michigan, and topping fifth-ranked Wisconsin by nearly 40,000 permits.

Soccer Imports Adjust To U.S. Leisure Time

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While professional soccer is struggling for recognition as a major sport in the United States, the imported players of the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association are struggling with the often confusing customs that Americans have come to take for granted.

Take, for example, Geoffrey Sidebottom, goalkeeper for the New York Generals in the National Professional circuit.

"At home," says Sidebottom, "I spent a great deal of time fishing. But now that I live on Long Island I don't know where to go. I now use all my extra time watching television and building a model boat."

"Home" for Sidebottom, who became a professional at 17, was Wolverhampton, England, where the articulate athlete was a standout in the nets for the Wolverhampton Wolves. "I've always been a goaltender," Sidebottom says, "but it can be a bit dull at times. When your own team is on the attack you tend to lose your concentration. There's nothing worse than just standing about."

So far, Sidebottom hasn't had the opportunity to lose his concentration with the Generals.

Although he looks healthy enough, Sidebottom says eating was his major problem when he first arrived in the United States. "No offense intended," he notes, "but I found it rather hard to get used to the way people cook here. But we solved that problem quite nicely. I now live with three other players —Barry Wright, Barry Mahy and Mick Ash. Wright and Ash are married and their wives do the cooking. It's just like being home."

Television, a vast wasteland to many Americans, is more of a wonderland to Sidebottom and his friends. "I think it's quite good," he says with a firmness of tone that would make Newton Minow blink. "Especially the movies. I do feel there are too many breaks for messages and the like but on several occasions we've stayed up to 3 or 3:30 in the morning watching the movies. Barry Wright never had much of an opportunity takes his eyes off the set."

Sidebottom has no illusions about soccer replacing baseball as the national sport, but he thinks there's plenty of room for the European game on this side of the Atlantic.

"The average American doesn't know much about soccer," Sidebottom says, "but people do seem interested in the game and I think they're willing to learn what it's all about."

For his part, Sidebottom would like to learn more about professional football but would just as soon ignore baseball.

"I watched the Yankees play Cincinnati in Florida this spring," Sidebottom recalls, "and it seemed like a very dull sport. I suppose if you know the game well, there are certain things you can look for, but it's not a very interesting game for someone unfamiliar with the finer points of the sport."

Simmons' 400th Win Near But Tiger Title Hopes Dim

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hi Simmons of Missouri has a good chance to get his 400th career coaching victory this weekend. His chances of overtaking Oklahoma State for a 12th Big Eight baseball championship aren't so good, but Simmons still has hope.

"Oklahoma State has played only five innings of baseball since April 29 and could be rusty," Simmons said. "Also, we've been playing under pressure lately and now perhaps it's their turn to feel a little pressure."

OSU has a 10-3 won-lost record and can clinch it all by winning two of three from Iowa State at Stillwater Friday and Saturday. Missouri stands 12-6 after seven straight victories, but the best Mizzou can do is .714 with a sweep over Colorado at Columbia.

OSU could finish .733 with a 1-1 split and one rainout. A title tie at either .714 or .667 is possible. In that event OSU would be the Big Eight representative again in the NCAA playoffs, because the Cowboys beat Missouri twice in their three-game series.

Colorado may not be an easy sweep victim for Missouri. One reason is Taylor Toomey, tall and talkative left-hander a 1.50 earned runaverage.

Another reason is Colorado's recent success against Missouri. CU won two of three from the Tigers last season at Boulder and stunned them with two of three in 1965 at Columbia, almost knocking them out of a title.

Missouri is well in front with 111 runs and a .290 team average but this has been true all season. The big reason for the Tiger surge is vastly improved pitching and defense with a revamped lineup. The leader is Jerry Hurt with a 5-0 league record and 1.57 earned run mark, but Mike McFarland, a big right-hander, is also a big factor.

Missouri ranks 1-2-3 in hitting with Gary Lear at .395, Gene Stephenson .377 and Ray Thorpe .377. Nebraska's Al Furby is still the ERA leaderat 0.65 with OSU ranking 2-3-4 with Larry Patterson at 1.20, Bill Maxwell and Larry Burchart 1.44.

In the scramble for the other positions in the standings, Kansas, 6-11, is at K-State, 8-7:

Outdoorsmen Ready for New Season

JEFFERSON CITY -- The end of May is the beginning of the outdoors season for many sportsmen, although most of Missouri's fishing seasons and a few hunting seasons are open in the winter and early spring.

Aside from trout park fishing, Missouri only has one closed fishing season and that will open May 30. Although the season on black bass is open throughout the year in most areas, it is closed briefly after Feb. 28, and then only in the streams south of the Missouri River and north and west of the southeast lowlands, or bootheel, region.

The rabbit season, closed since March 1, and the squirrel season, closed since Jan. 1, will also reopen on May 30. Although many hunters needlessly fear summer rabbits and hesitate to brave Missouri's woods during the tick and chigger season, the young rabbits and squirrels available early in the season make excellent eating.

7 Bulldogs In State Meet

Seven Sikeston high school track and field performers are scheduled to leave tomorrow for Columbia and Saturday's appearance in the class L state meet at Memorial stadium.

The seven Bulldogs qualified for state meet competition in last week's district meet on the Sikeston field. First, second and third place winners in the district event qualified for the state meeting.

John Childress, Riley Cross, Arthur Jackson and Roger Blackman qualified as members of the district meet's second place 880-yard relay team. Blackman and Childress also teamed with Bruce Killian and Jim Hailey for a third place finish in the mile relay and berth in the state meet. Allen Craig rounded out the list of Bulldog qualifiers with a third place pole vault finish.

Accompanied by Coach Norman Lambert, the Sikeston delegation will join more than 400 other qualifiers in Saturday's 65th annual state meet. Preliminaries are scheduled at 10 a.m. and the finals will start at noon.

Kansas City Central, the defending champion, will seek its third title in a row.

Big Records Face Test

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)— Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world's best middle distance runner, and Nebraska's Charlie Greene, king of the sprinters, are expected to lead an assault on the record book comparable to the 1959 and 1966 meets in the 39th Big Eight outdoor track meet starting here Friday.

Ten meet records were smashed and one equalled in the 1959 meet— last one held on Oklahoma's fast nine-lane red clay track at Jacobs Field. Three of those marks are still on the books, but two— the 220 low hurdles and 2-mile— are no longer run in the conference meet.

Seven marks were broken and one equalled in the 1966 meet at Missouri, the swiftest Big Eight meet ever run with a great 45.9 quarter, 1.47.7 half and Greene's dazzling 9.3 and 20.8 double in the 100 and 220.

The 20-year-old Ryun has run a 3:51.3 mile and 1:44.9 half-mile, but the events are only 40 minutes apart Saturday. He'll be running for points, not records. Ryun may be forced to run under four minutes by a strong mile field which includes Kansas State's Conrad Nightingale, meet record holder at 4:00.9.

If that happens, Ryun could be upset in the half by Jim Metcalf of Oklahoma State, who was second last year in 1:47.8. Ryun's only collegiate 880 defeat came in the NCAA indoor, 90 minutes after he ran a 4:08 mile prelim.

A lot of sprinters have talked about beating Greene and the latest is Oklahoma's George Aldredge, primed to upset him in the 220.

But the fast-talking little Seattle native is unbeaten in his college career except for a dual meet in freezing weather at Wisconsin, when Charlie refused to take his warmups off, to protect his legs.

Greene is always ready for the outdoor meet and he's picked here for another 100 and 220 double, plus a 46.5 mile relay quarter if needed. Unless Ryun sets two marks, Greene may get a third straight Schulte Award.

Ryun, the incredible sophomore, has a 3:54.7 mile and 1:48.1 this season, but not on the same day. Six others have exceeded meet marks. They are Chris McCubbins, Oklahoma State, 13:38.7 three-mile; Steve Herndon, Missouri; Larry Curts, OSU, 16-5 pole vault; Mike Gregory, Oklahoma, 25-1 long jump; George Byers, Kansas, 13.8 high hurdles and Gary Ard, Kansas, 50-4½ triple jump.

Oklahoma also has run a 40.3 and 3:08.4, both under the 440 and mile relay marks. OU is relying on its great quarter-miler, Bill Calhoun, plus deep talent in the high jump, sprints, long jump and triple jump.

Ard is one of five injured Kansas men who could score 50 to 60 points if well. Assuming he can place high in only one jump, OU could get a 34-8 lick in the long jump and triple jump. The form chart then would show Oklahoma 123, defending champ Nebraska 97, Kansas 85, Colorado 61, OSU 60, Missouri 53, K-State 25 and Iowa State 23.

Derby Winner Gets Sub Trainer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Training race horses is nothing new for 53-year-old Jim Mahoney. He's been around thoroughbreds just about as long as he can remember. But he admits he's nervous. The reason is, he is filling in for the ailing Loyd (Boo) Gentry as trainer of Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion.

Proud Clarion, who paid $62.20, for $2 after his one-length triumph in the Derby, is one of nine 3-year-olds pointing for Saturday's 92nd running of the $150,000-added Preakness, second and richest of the Triple Crown series which also includes the Derby and Belmont Stakes.

Gentry, who brought the Darby Dan Farm colt up to the Derby in perfect condition while struggling to keep on his own feet, is in a New York hospital recovering from hepatitis. He won't be here for the 1 3-16 mile race which could mean $139,500 for a horse that Gentry rates second string to one in his barn who never made it to the spring classics. His name is Cup Race, unbeaten in two career starts.

"I talk with Mr. Gentry every day and he tells me what he wants done with Proud Clarion," said Mahoney. "But I'll have to admit it's a bit nerve wracking to be personally responsible for such a good horse. I'm at the barn every morning by 5:30 — just to be sure that everything is in order."

Despite his Derby victory, Proud Clarion was made the 3-1 co-second choice in the first betting line made by the track handicapper. He also quoted Damascus, the beaten Kentucky Derby favorite, at 3-1.

At the top of his list at 5-2, Pimlico's Blair Wilkinson placed Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality trained by popular Sunshine Calvert, former jockey.

Some eyebrows were raised when Wilkinson released his figures for In Reality has not raced since winning the Florida Derby April 1. Calvert had intended to give the speedy son of Intentionally a prep race here last Saturday but the event failed to draw enough entries so In Reality worked 1 1-16 miles in 1:47 3-5.

In Reality will go into the Preakness backed by the finest of credentials. He was worse then second only in the Garden State Stakes last year while chalking up four victories in seven races. This year he has won three times and finished second twice in five Florida outings.

With the names of Barbs Delight, runner-up in the Derby; Great Power, Reason to Hail, Ask The Fare, Favorable Turn and Misty Cloud slated to be entered today, the Preakness will have a record gross value of $192,000.

Post time Saturday will be 5:30 EDT with the race carried on national television from 5-5:45 p.m. by CBS.

ANN LANDERS TO TOUR VIETNAM FOR TALKS WITH SERVICEMEN

Thousands of servicemen in Vietnam will be seeing a familiar face this week. It is that of Ann Landers, Sun-Times columnist, who will tour Vietnam for 10 days.

During her stay, through May 25, she will meet informally and talk with servicemen. In preparation for her tour, the USO alerted the GIs to "have your questions ready -- if anyone can answer them, she can."

Ann Landers, in private life Mrs. Jules Lederer, wife of a Chicago businessman, has written the Sun-Times column for 11 years. The column is syndicated in 688 newspapers in the United States and abroad and will continue to appear during her tour. Her readership is estimated at 54,000,000.

As her Vietnam trip indicates, the columnist is never too busy to undertake a worthy cause.

In 1963, she was national honorary chairman of the Christmas Seal Campaign. She has been honored by the Family Service Assn. of America, the National Council on Alcoholism, the National Epilepsy League, the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children and many other organizations. In 1966, the Gallup Poll reported that she is one of the 20 most admired women in the world.

During the past year she has made more than 100 speeches before some 150,000 persons. She is the author of two best-selling books, "Since You Asked Me" and Ann Landers Talks to Teen - Agers About Sex."

Some 30,000 letters addressed to Ann Landers pour into The Sun - Times each month. She consults lawyers, physicians, psychiatrists and clergymen to give the best possible answers to her readers' problems.

1968 Fiscal Year Interstate, Primary and Urban Systems Highway Program Is Approved

The Missouri State Highway Commission has approved a tentative right of way and construction program for the 1968 fiscal year, which begins July 1, on the Interstate, Primary and Urban systems.

The approved program totals $149,034,000 and extends over 551.6 miles of new construction and improvements. A breakdown shows that $118,029,000 is planned for construction and improvements and $31,005,000 for the purchase of right of way.

By systems, the program includes $57,595,000 for construction and improvements on 78.4 miles of the Interstate system and for right of way purchases totaling $13,163,000.

Primary system work programmed is on 442.4 miles with $49,488,000 for construction and improvements and $5,367,000 for right of way purchases.

On the Urban system planning calls for construction and improvements of $10,946,000 on about 30.8 miles with right of way purchases totaling $12,475,000.

The Commission also gave its approval to the 1968 fiscal year Supplementary system program. The Supplementary program planned is for $30,632,000, boosting the total 1968 fiscal year highway programs to $179,666,000. (A detailed listing of this program will be covered in a subsequent news release within the near future.)

The Department hopes that it can put under contract all of the projects that are planned for the fiscal year. However, uncertainties that may develop, such as right of way difficulties, bridge designs, utility adjustments and urban agreements may prevent complete carrying out of the program.

A detailed listing of the construction, improvements and right of way purchases for the 1968 fiscal year by district, system, county, route, mileage, work to be done and location includes:

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

"Education must be our top domestic priority. We must pay for it out of predictable future economic growth," so said Representative James Scheuer, a member of the House Education Committee in the Federal Congress.

Mr. Scheuer said there are 16 million children in the nation "For whom our educational system is part of the prison of poverty, joblessness, dependence and despair instead of the gateway to a full, rich life of comfort, independence and self - esteem that we can make it if we will."

He went on to say that we must make a national commitment of approximately $80 billion for education over the next four years. The kind of education which these times demand will cost approximately $1200 per child per year. Currently, we are spending only in the neighborhood of $550 per child on the average and much below this in the poorer schools.

We would imagine that with the dollar demand of the war in Vietnam, little will happen toward meeting Representative Scheuer's recommendations. This is unfortunate, as, in the long run, our nation is only as strong or as great as is the quality of education which we are willing to support for our children.

In the last decade, Driver Education in the high schools and colleges has steadily increased and during last school year, more than 1.5 million students completed courses in this subject. However, we are still reaching only half of the students who reach driving age each year.

There is some question as to the value of Driver Education, yet most studies indicate that Drivers Education courses generally have better safety records than do those not getting this training. Many insurance companies allow a ten to fifteen per cent reduction in premiums for school-trained drivers.

Presently, like the national average, about half of our Sikeston schools student body who reach driving age take the course. It is given after school, on Saturdays and during the summer vacation. The fee of $10 per student, doubtless prevents some from taking the course. However, this fee covers only from one - fourth to one - third of the costs to the school. Here again, the availability of money and time is a factor. If the courses were taught during the regular school day and if it were free to the student, we are sure that most students would take Driver Education. But to include it as a class during the day would prevent the student from taking some other course.

This must be a matter of establishing values. Is it better to give a student a vocational course that will enable him to get a job where he can later make the money whereby he can afford to buy a car, or to eliminate the vocational course, teach him to drive a car which he may never be able to afford? This may be a rather far fetched analogy but at least it presents some of the problems which we must face in making decisions in what is important to our children and youth.

We suspect that most youngsters who want to take Driver Education could, if they wish, devote after school, Saturday or summer vacation time to the training program which is available.

We further doubt that the mechanics of merely learning to physically drive a car is half as important as the mental attitude which must be instilled in the driver. This can be learned not only in Driver Education courses, but in many other ways. Most of us do not drive nearly as well, in relation to safety and good judgment, as we know how to do.

Information from the school Fund Service Department indicates that exactly 55,000 lunches were served during the 20 days of April. Of these only 4971 were not Type A lunches. The Type A lunch is approved as having the nutritive elements making up a balanced diet for growing children. Free lunches for the month totaled 4980. These lunches are served to economically deprived children.

Tentative plans are to conduct a Head Start Program for the district to include 150 eligible children who will be first graders next fall. Final plans will depend upon, as far as we can find out, the reconciliation of some of the problems which the Delta Area Office of Economic Opportunity Corporation has not resolved. Head Start and other Office of Economic Opportunity programs, more commonly referred to as "War on Poverty Programs" are locally under the administration of the Delta Area Office of Economic Opportunity Corporation, headquartered at Portageville.

If we get the "go ahead", enrollment dates and other details will be provided.

We hope that the obstacles which now seem to cast some doubt as to whether or not Head Start will be operated are removed. We believe that Head Start is one of the good programs possible under OEO. We have our doubts about some of the others. We further believe that all of them having to do with any aspect of education could be better operated by the regularly organized public or private schools. We don't think it would make much sense to go to a television repairman to have our tonsils removed nor to take our television set to the doctor for repairs. It makes just about as much sense to put a school program in the hands of those people who have had no training in education.

Seven Wonders of The World

THE COLOSSUS OF RHODES

Legend peopled ancient Rhodes -- the easternmost island in the Aegean Sea -- with skillful workers in metal who passed their ever - developing technical proficiency down from generation to generation. Their skills culminated in the Sixth Wonder of the World.

The colossal bronze statue of Apollo (Helios, the Sun God) -- about the size of our Statue of Liberty -- was the work of a native sculptor, Chares, who reportedly labored for 12 years before completing it in 280 B.C. It was erected at the northern end of the island, at the entrance to the main harbor. Unfortunately, it stood for only 56 years.

Earlier, it was believed the Colossus was located astride the entrance to Rhodes' harbor, with a beacon light in its hand and with ships passing between its legs. Most archaeologists now believe it stood on the shore close to the harbor entrance -- until an earthquake knocked it down in 224 B.C.

Lying unmolested for almost 900 years, its enormous fragments are mentioned by Pliny (100 A. D.) as exciting wonder to all who visited the island.

The giant pieces were not removed until 565 A. D., when Rhodes was conquered by the Saracens. The Muslims sold the remains for old metal to a Levantine dealer, who used 900 camels to carry them away. The pieces were probably reconverted into instruments of war.

More Than 2,000 Caves in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Millions of years before man made his appearance on earth in fact, before the time the gigantic pre-historic dinosaurs roamed the world, nature in her methodical, ceaseless manner was carving underground caverns in Missouri. They were destined to become numbered among the world's most beautiful wonders.

To many people, Missouri is known as the Cave State of the nation. There is evidence of truth in the statement as more than 2,000 caves are now mapped and more are being recorded each year. Authorities in cave lore say that new caverns will be found in the state into the 21st century, and the entire number may never be discovered.

Visiting caves has become one of the traveling public's most outstanding adventures. Last year, Missouri commercial cave operators entertained more than 2-million visitors and that recorded is expected to be broken in 1967, as the operators have extended themselves in improving their attractions. At one cave, as an example, more than $20,000 has been spent to build a welcome center and gift shop.

The vast network of underground caverns to be found in Missouri fall into two categories, the "wild cave" and the "commercial cave." The name "wild cave" is applied to those that have been explored to some extent, if not entirely. They have no lights, walkways, elaborate entrances or guided tours and are not inspected for safety nor advertised or operated commercially.

In recent years a new name, "Spelunkers," has come into common use in the American (English) language. The spelunker, derived from speleology or the science of caves, is a cave explorer. He or she enjoys exploring dark and forbidden subterranean passages, miles of which exist in Missouri to beckon the daring. However, the exploits of the spelunker have contributed much to the fact that Missouri now has the largest number of commercial caves in the nation. The spelunker is a strange breed of man. He neither seeks, nor seemingly wants, publicity. His greatest thrill comes from the fact that often he may find a lost underground passageway never before entered or seen by man.

Operators of the 26 commercial caves in Missouri contribute much to the State's reputation of being the "Family Vacationland of the Nation." Caves attract families, school class groups, honeymooning couples and regardless of age, a cave visit offers a thrilling experience to even the most seasoned traveler.

All commercial caves in Missouri are inspected once each year by the Bureau of Mine Inspectors, as required by law. They are lighted, have walkways, some have transportation systems, and each features some unique attraction giving myth to the statement "once you have seen one cave, you have seen them all."

Most of the state's caves, both commercial and wild, are found in the southern half, which is generally referred to as the Ozark plateau or dome. However, the entire state is underlain by limestone and dolomite formations in which ground water dissolves out caves. So, the area north of the Missouri River which is generally covered by materials deposited by the great glaciers contains a vast number of caverns. This lends proof to the belief that some of them will never be discovered or explored.

One of the most popular caves to be found anywhere in the world, and one made famous by the world renowned writer, Mark Twain, lies in the northern part of the state near Hannibal. Millions have read the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and thrilled at his experiences in the cave along with Indian Joe, Becky Thatcher and Huck Finn. The cave today attracts thousands of visitors each year and is open to the public and operated on a commercial basis.

Visitation of travelers to caves came into prominence during the year of the opening the St. Louis World's Fair, in 1904, when Onondaga first opened to the public commercially. Onondaga, located about 70 miles west of St. Louis, off Interstate Highway 44, enjoys a vivid history. Visitors may follow in the footsteps of one of the nation's most renowned explorers and colonizers, Daniel Boone, who discovered the cave in 1798. As mentioned, each Missouri cave is famous for its individual attractions. Onondaga features the Stagalmite Xylophone, Onyx Hall, the Honeymoon Room and Lost River which flows over 7 million gallons of water daily. It is said some of the cave's formations are more than 400 million years old.

Meramec Caverns, also located on Highways 66 and Interstate 44, near Leasburg, Missouri, offers a variety of natural wonders to delight the eye. The cave has entertained more than 10-million visitors and was first discovered by Jacques Renault in 1716. In olden days it was used by early miners for storage and shelter. During the Civil War, the manufacture of gun powder was at its height at the cave. It is noted too, as a hideout for the infamous gangs of the past including Jesse James and his henchmen. The cave features such attractions as the Grape Vineyard, Loot Rock, Submarine Garden and the Stage Curtain, said to be the largest single cave formation in the world.

Over 400 couples contemplating marriage have traveled to Bridal Cave, near Camdenton, Missouri, on Lake of the Ozarks, which was discovered in 1827. Here, in this underground wonderland, the marriage ceremony is performed by clergy from the nearby city. The vows are taken in the huge Onyx Bridal Chamber, with appropriate music and incidentals furnished by the management. Married couples often make a ritual of returning to the caverns on wedding anniversary dates and the cave often attracts more than 2,000 people in one day to view its huge onyx formations. It has been featured in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" newspaper series. Marriages in the cave are no modern-day oddity. The custom dates back hundreds of years to the time Indians were encamped on the shores of the Niangua River and believed that a marriage in the cave was a contribution to future happiness.

In the same area of the state, Indian skeletons dating back over 1600 years are to be found in Ozark Caverns near Osage Beach. Legend and rumor indicate that prehistoric man used Stark Caverns near Eldon as a protective cover against marauders and rigors of weather, and by Indians of a later era.

Near Springfield, Fantastic Caverns has a natural and truly fantastic underground auditorium capable of accommodating ten thousand people. An unusual feature of this cave is that the visitor is transported on the tour of the subterranean passageway by jeep making the tour a pleasant and untiring experience. Deeper in the Ozark Mountains, near the town of Reeds Spring, is Fairy Cave. In this cave there is the natural harp of stalagtites which procedures beautiful musicial tones when tapped.

Marvel Cave, near Branson, and now internationally known at Marvel Cave Park and Silver Dollar City, offers tourists outstanding entertainment. The cave is the only one in the world with its own railroad system. The cave features such attractions as the greatest dripstone unit of all caves, the symmetrical "Liberty Bell." It is a solid onyx dome, 55 feet in total height, and almost 200 feet in circumference. The cave also has a Cathedral Room, the Spring Room and the Sentinel. One room in Marvel Cave would house a 20-story office building.

It would be impossible to adequately describe the many and varied attractions of the numerous and various Missouri caves. However, other commercially operated caves in the state offering the visitor unusual sights are: Bluff Dwellers Cave, Noel; Boone Cave, Rocheport; Cameron also at Hannibal; Civil War, Ozark; Fisher's, Sullivan; Honey Branch, Ozark; Indian Cave, Waynesville; Indian Burial, Linn Creek; Jacob's Cave, Versailles; Mystic, Camdenton; Old Spanish, Reeds Spring; Ozark at Linn Creek and Ozark Wonder at Noel; Rebel, Patterson; Round Spring Cave, Round Spring; Truitt's Cave, Lanagan and there is a Crystal Cave at both Springfield and Cassville, Missouri. Needless to say, man with his modern day methods of creating the beautiful, has never been able to equal nature's work through eons of time. Through the process of slow drippage of water, the fast flow of underground rivers, plus the natural contraction and expansion of the earth's formations, she has successfully created a veritable wonderland of color and beauty, far below the earth's surface. It is small wonder that the spelunker finds a most satisfying experience in his explorations.

In this era of man exploring the universe, in space vehicles made in Missouri, it is rather a paradox that beneath his feet lies some of the most mysterious and awe inspiring sights that could be conceived.

With the ever present thought that perhaps someday some belligerent power will see fit to bombard the United States with the hydrogen bomb, or with something more powerful yet undiscovered, it is well to note that the almost 5 million people in the State have what could be called a 'built-in bomb shelter.'

The caves that have been mapped and charted in Missouri will at this time offer shelter and haven to more than 2 million people. And, with future discoveries, proper planning and development, this number may be vastly expanded.

The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, P. O. Box 118, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101, may be contacted for further information about Missouri caves.

LA-Z-BOY CHAIR COMPANY PRESIDENT, E. M. Knabusch, center, and M. F. Brueckner, Vice President-Sales, present movie star, recording artist and TV personality, Bing Crosby, with a La-Z-Boy chair. Photograph was taken in the Crosby, Hillsborough, California home.

A "Lazy" Success Story

It has often been said that success is 1 per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration.

"Without a strong belief in that statement, we would have failed," states La-Z-Boy Chair Company President, E. M. Knabusch. "A million-dollar idea is worthless without hard work."

As a result of being an authority on hard work as well as the million-dollar idea, Knabusch heads a corporation that serves as an example to all who admire and yearn for success.

In 1925, Knabusch and his partner, Edwin Shoemaker, began with a part-time furniture repair business in a garage. Working 16 hours a day on a weekly salary of five dollars each, they perfected the world's first practical reclining chair. After a year of painstaking effort, they were able to manufacture a chair with a lifetime mechanism warranty.

Today, La-Z-Boy chairs are sold throughout the world. They are recommended by physicians and surgeons, sought after by business executives, housewives, athletes, and, in short, anyone who needs to relax or desires comfort.

"Yes, we worked hard, and we still work hard," continues Knabusch. "Once the reclining mechanism was perfected, we had to design an attractive chair to house the mechanism. Then, of course, there was the problem of production, marketing and advertising, all of which took and still take a lot of midnight oil to solve."

La-Z-Boy chairs are now handled throughout the world by over 5,000 carefully selected dealers, of which Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston is one.

U.S. manufacturing facilities, employing more than 1,400 people are located in Monroe, Michigan, Newton, Mississippi, Florence, South Carolina, and Redlands, California. Foreign countries in which La-Z-Boy chairs are manufactured under license include Canada, Mexico, South Africa, England, Australia, and Western Germany.

The La-Z-Boy chair is now the most extensively advertised chair in the furniture industry world-wise, using all media; Magazines, newspapers, television and radio.

A forthcoming sales campaign will feature Bing and Kathryn Crosby in a series of endorsement ads. Photography for the series of full-color ads will show Bing and Kathryn relaxing in various La-Z-Boy rockers and reclining chairs in their Hillsborough, California home.

Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston, Mo. will participate locally in this campaign to acquaint residents of the Sikeston area with the La-Z-Boy line of relaxing comfort.

"We want everyone in the area to come into our store and see why Bing and Kathryn Crosby are so excited about La-Z-Boy's style and comfort features," says Rudy Chittenden, owner, of Rudy's Furniture Co.

HONORED FOR TWENTY YEARS OF SERVICE W. U. Myers, right, receives a large plaque from Charles W. Kraemer, regional director of Continental Assurance Company in Chicago, Ill. The inscription reads: "As A Token of Appreciation for His Significant Contribution to the People of Southeast Missouri to the Life Insurance Industry."

Myers Honored for Service

W. U. Myers, who for the past 42 years had been in the insurance business and for 20 years served as a general agent for the Continental Assurance company, was honored at a testimonial dinner Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

He is retiring as general agent but continuing in the insurance business in Sikeston.

Charles W. Kraemer, Chicago, regional director of agencies of the company, was master of ceremonies.

He presented Myers with a large plaque for his 20 years service.

Kraemer said:

"Mr. Myers started thinking of his retirment with the company three years ago, but I can say to you he is not completely retiring, but will be available for guidance and counseling service. No man is an island unto himself, and W. U. Myers is such a man."

Alex Cantrell, formerly of East Prairie, has been named general agent, with headquarters at Cape Girardeau.

Myers in response to the testimonial remarked:

"My wife and I are not alone because of our business relationships made over the years. We consider the friendships valueless, and this honor today surprises me to no end. I am happy that I had a part in bringing several new high quality insurance representatives to this area. A great share of my success belongs to my wife, Lois."

Youth, Who Ignored Draft, Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A young man who failed to comply with an order of his draft board to serve 24 months hospital duty in lieu of active military service was sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary Monday by Judge Roy W. Harper in Federal District Court here.

Robert Lynn Smith, 20, Memphis, Tenn., was convicted of the charges by a jury of nine men and three women.

Judge Harper, in handing down the sentence advised the defendant and his friends in the courtroom, all of the Jehovah Witnesses religious sect.

Smith had been released from a 1-A classification by his draft board because of being a conscientious objector on religious grounds.

"You are fortunate to live in a country where you are able to believe in the God you wish, to worship anyway you please, where we recognize the Jehovah Witnesses as truly conscientious objectors.

"You have that right . . . We live in a great country . . .But no one - Jevoah Witnesses nor anyone - can criticize working in a hospital. No one can say it is not God's work, because you are helping humanity," the judge told Smith.

"Some may wonder why Iam giving you five years. If you served at the hospital, you would have two years to serve. In the Army you would have two years of duty. I don't know any reason you should serve less time. You will be eligible for parole in 20 months, so it is possible you will be out in two years," Judge Harper continued.

"It is no pleasure to me to pass sentence. We live in a country where if we are to keep it free and great, you can't just decide whether you want to defend it or not; it is everybody's duty," the judge added.

He pointed out to the youth that he had earlier tried to talk to him and make him see the seriousness of his attitude, but to no avail.

"I hope it will make some impression on your friends here," the judge said.

He also emphasized to Smith the stigma he was putting on his wife and child.

Smith was represented by his court - appointed attorney, James A. Cochrane Jr., of Cape Girardeau.

Irvin Ruzicak handled the government's case.

Only two witnesses were put on the stand, one by the plaintiff's attorney and the defendant.

Mrs. Velma Williams, for the government, said she was clerk of the Selective Service Board 118 at Bloomfield with which Smith was registered.

She told of Smith first being classified 1-A and of his then being reclassified to 1-0 when he notified the board he was a conscientious objector.

Mrs. Williams said the defendant was given three choices of employment in lieu of active duty--one at the University of Missouri Medical Center at Columbia, at another institution or agricultural work. He refused them all, she said.

It was brought out the Selective Service Appeal Board and a state representative then met with Smith to try to reach an agreement with him as to type of employment he would prefer.

He failed to obey the order, testimony of Mrs. Williams and Smith both showed.

However, Smith and his attorney both sought to establish that the defendant was of the opinion he did not have to obey the order, since he had signed a statement at the last meeting with the board refusing to take the job.

Members of the jury were: Frank C. Worley, 1917 Cape Rock Drive, investment broker and foreman of the jury; Wm. N. Burch, Piedmont, carpenter; Roy Edward Deneke, Gordonville Route 1, farmer; Mrs. Hazel M. Ford, 1901 William, real state saleswoman; Denny J. Merideth Jr., Caruthersville, farmer; Paul Price, Redford, farmer; Mrs. Rutha Sue Rogers, Scott City, secretary; Loel Lowes, 905 Melody lane, president of a paint and glass company; Lyman Shearrer, Patterson, retired merchant; Mrs. Robin Elizabeth Browning, Kennett, housewife; [illegible], teacher, and A. Keith Bess, Sikeston, wholesale beer distributor.

Civil cases on the docket were dispensed with before court convened.

Passed for settlement were these suits: O'Neal Wimberley vs. Gulf Oil Corp., and Jerry Franklin, et al, vs. Jones - Laughlin Steel Corp., et al.

Passed for term was the case of the United States vs. 84.70 acres land in New Madrid County.

The case of Warren Keesee vs. West Lake Quarry and Material was removed from the docket and dismissed for lack of jurisdiction was the suit of Etta Mae Walker vs. Doris Ann Larkin.

Explorer Post Goes On Outing

Agriculture Explorer Post 234, sponsored by Sikeston Production Credit Association went on an outing at Big Springs Friday and Saturday. Fishing, swimming, and boat riding concluded this year's activities for the post.

Phil Black, Skip Hambrick, Jimmy Lewis, Curtis Robb, Bill Sappenfield, James Klein, James Terrell, and Dave Childers made the trip. Charles Lewis accompanied them.

The Aggie explorers have gone on field trips during the school year. They have visited feeder cattle operation, an agricultural chemical processing plant, and have had a program on the state conservation commission.

The post is directed by Committee chairmen Fred Alexander, Scott Waters and Tom Love.

I have never given very deep thought to a philsophy of life, though I have a few ideas that I think are useful to me. One is that you do whatever comes your way to do as well as you can, and another is that you think as little as possible about yourself and as much as possible about other people and about things that are interesting. The third is that you get more joy out of giving joy to others and should put a good deal of thought into the happiness that you are able to give.

Senate Lets Up on Cuts

JEFFERSON CITY AP - The University of Missouri got back most of the buildings it wanted as the Senate worked into the wee hours today.

After the Senate knocked out the recommendations of its appropriations Committee time after time, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, resigned as vice chairman of the committee.

He said the actions of the Senate in restoring mental health and capital improvement cuts were ridiculous and he did not want to have any part in it.

The long weeks of work of the Appropriations Committee, he said, were merely an exercise in futility and in view of the Senate's actions he couldn't see that the committee had any valuable function.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D- Caruthersville, committee chairman, and several other members urged him to reconsider but Blackwell was adamant.

Sen. John E. Downs, D - St. Joseph, said he could understand Blackwell's reaction to the pressures to which the Senate had been submitted. He criticized what he called "the greedy, over-reaching and dishonest Board of Curators and the president of the University of Missouri."

Blackwell's action came after the Senate had restored a $7,650,000 multipurpose auditorium and a $2.5 million addition to the chemistry building on the Columbia campus.

Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, also sought to restore $350,000 for an addition to the university system building for which $770,000 was voted two years ago but withdrew his attempt in the face of rising opposition.

Altogether the university's capital improvement allotment was raised from $13,326,667 to $23,476,667.

The Senate declined to add about $3 million for buildings at mental institutions although it had restored a 4 per cent cut in mental health operations earlier in the day.

It also refused to cut out $200,000 for work at a new airport at Lake of the Ozarks State Park.

In the debate Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Cape Girardeau, charged Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, wanted to block construction of the jet landing strip before the Midwest governors' conference at the lake in August -- a charge Jones denied.

Jones said he just didn't want an airport in a state park and the legislature had no legal authority to make such an appropriation.

The Senate also turned down an effort to add $882,000 to the bill to improve Alley Springs, Round Spring and Big Spring state parks.

Downs was successful in adding $112,250 to eliminate fire hazards at the St. Joseph State Hospital but numerous other efforts to add buildings at state schools and hospitals were voted down.

The appropriation now goes back to the House and will be shunted into conference committee for final settlement.

TO ALL MOTHERS:
SWEETHEART

I thought you would like to know -

That someone's thoughts go where you go -

That someone never can forget the hours that we spent since we first met -

That likes is richer, sweeter far, for such a sweetheart as you are and now my constant prayer will be -

That God may keep you safe for me -

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

WHEREAS, by ordinance duly enacted by the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the 11th day of May, 1967, a franchise was granted to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, to construct, maintain and operate a natural gas distribution system in the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the approval of the majority of the qualified voters residing in the corporate limits of said City; and,

WHEREAS, the Mayor of said city was authorized and directed to issue a call and proclamation of such special election, to be held on the 13th day of June, 1967:

IT IS THEREFORE PROCLAIMED AND NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the voters of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, that a special election will be held in said City of Sikeston, Missouri, on the 13th day of June, 1967, for the approval of or disapproval of said franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, its successors and assigns, by Ordinance No. 3222, which Ordinance was duly enacted by the City Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said City, on the 11th day of May, 1967, and which Ordinance is, in words and figures, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 3222

"AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, GRANTING TO THE ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, A CORPORATION, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT AND FRANCHISE TO LAY GAS MAINS ALONG, UNDER AND THROUGH THE STREETS, AVENUES, ALLEYS, ROADS, AND HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES OF THE CITY, FOR THE PURPOSE OF DISTRIBUTING AND SELLING GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY AND TO OTHERS, AND ALSO THE RIGHT TO LAY PIPELINES IN, TO, THROUGH AND UNDER THE STREETS, ALLEYS, AVENUES, ROADS, HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES AND GROUNDS OF THE CITY FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONVEYING GAS THROUGH AND IN SAID CITY FOR DISTRIBUTION AND SALE OF GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY, AND TO OTHERS, FOR DOMESTIC, COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PURPOSES, SUBJECT TO THE ITEMS HEREINAFTER PROVIDED."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1: That the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the terms, conditions and stipulations mentioned in this Ordinance, hereby grants a franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation organized and existing pursuant to the laws of the State of Delaware, Grantee, and to its successors, lessees, and assigns the right to lay, construct, equip, operate, repair and maintain a system of gas mains, pipes, conduits, and feeders for the purpose of supplying and distributing natural and/or artificial gas for light, fuel, power, and heat and for any other purpose, to the residents or inhabitants of the said City, and further, the right to lay, construct, operate and maintain a system of works and comprising buildings, machinery, gas mains, pipelines, pipe conduits, manholes, underground conduits, appurtenances and appliances of every kind and character necessary and proper in the conduct of said gas business within the corporate limits of the City as they now exist, or may hereafter be extended, for the purpose of distributing and selling gas to said City and to the residents or inhabitants thereof, and to others, and for the purpose of conveying, conducting or distributing gas from such system to any point beyond said City Limits.

Section 2: The Grantee herein is expressly given the right and permit to use the streets, avenues, roads, highways, alleys, sidewalks and other public places, as now laid out, or hereafter to be established, for the purpose of laying gas mains, pipelines, conduits and feeders, and the necessary attachments, fixtures, connections, buildings, structures and appurtenances for the purpose of conveying or conducting gas from any point within the said City or to any point beyond the City Limits of the said City or to any point, through and beyond the City Limits of said City, and to operate and maintain a system of pipelines, pipes, conduits, feeders and the necessary attachments, connections, buildings, structures, fixtures and appurtenances for the distribution of gas within said City to serve the said City and the residents and inhabitants thereof, and others; provided, however, that where alleys are accessible for laying mains and pipes, the City shall have the right to require that the mains and pipes shall be laid in the alleys instead of the streets, and plans for laying mains must be submitted to the City Manager or specially, appointed representatives before final designation is made.

Section 3: In the opening and refilling of all openings made by the Grantee, it shall relay the pavement and do all other work necessary to complete restoration of the streets, sidewalks or grounds to the condition equally as good as when disturbed.

Section 4: No fees or charges of any kind shall be imposed upon the Grantee or upon any successors, or upon any consumer of gas for the breaking or opening of any highway, street, road, avenue, alley, or other public places, or for the laying of any main, service pipe or other connections therein.

Nothing in this franchise shall be construed in such manner as to in any manner abridge the right of the City to pass and enforce the necessary police regulations for the purpose of protecting the citizens of said City and their property and the property of the Grantee.

Grantee shall at all times keep and display the necessary danger signals and proper guards around all excavations and obstructions, and shall as soon as practicable restore all openings on the highway, road, street, avenue, alley and other public places to condition equally as good as before said openings or obstructions were made.

Section 5: The Grantee shall do no injury to any highway, road, street, avenue, alley, lane, bridge, stream or water course, park or public place, nor in any manner disturb or interfere unnecessarily with electric lines, nor with any public or private sewer or drainage system, or water lines, now or hereafter laid or constructed by said City or by any authorized person or corporation, but no electric conduits or sewer or water pipes shall be so laid as to interfere unnecessarily with any gas main or pipes which shall have been laid prior to the time of laying such electric conduits, sewer or water pipes. The Grantee shall fully indemnify and save harmless the City from any and all claims for damages for which said City shall or might be made or become liable by reason of the granting of this franchise, or any negligence or carelessness on the part of said Grantee, or because of any act or omission of the Grantee in the construction and operation of its system of mains and pipes.

Section 6: The Grantee shall supply gas under the terms and conditions herein specified to all applicants not in arrears for any bills for gas, service, pipes, appliances, or other things, owning or occupying premises on or abutting the streets, avenues, or other public places in which such gas mains or conduits are laid.

The Grantee shall have the right to require a written agreement with all applicants for natural gas. The rate or rates to be charged for gas, the minimum monthly bill, the meter connection, moving or other charge, the amount of the immediate deposit, the terms and conditions under which gas is to be served the individual applicant, and other things shall be determined by such agreement. Such agreements are to conform with the state laws and regulations governing same.

The Grantee shall have the right to make and enforce as a part of the conditions under which it will supply gas for heat, power, light, fuel or other purposes as herein provided, all needful rules and regulations not inconsistent with law and the provisions of this franchise.

The rates charged and the Rules and Regulations under which service is to be supplied, for domestic, commercial and industrial consumption of gas shall be reasonable and as may be approved by the Public Service Commission of Missouri or the Commission or Regulatory Body then having jurisdiction over the rates of Grantee.

Section 7: The Grantee shall make, own and maintain all necessary connections with its mains, lay pipe to curb line, or to point on or near property line where no curb line has been determined, and may at its option install a service cock and box. Grantee will also designate location of, set and own the meter, but all other piping, connections and appliances for the purpose of utilizing gas shall be furnished and installed by the house owner, or consumer, at his risk and expenses.

Section 8: The Grantee shall furnish promptly to the proper authorities any and all information which may be requested by them in regard to the size, location or depths of any of the pipes, mains, conduits or service pipes, in any form whatsoever and any other information in regard to its occupation of roads, highways, streets, avenues or public grounds of said City, which they may demand. Whenever the word "Grantee" occurs in this Ordinance, it shall mean and it shall be understood to be the ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, its successors, lessees, or assigns, and whenever the words "authorities" or "proper authorities" occur in this franchise they shall mean and shall be understood to mean the authorized officer or officers, committee or board representing the City of Sikeston, Missouri, or Grantor.

Section 9: All rights, privileges and authority granted by this Ordinance shall, upon its acceptance by Grantee in the manner hereinafter provided, be and remain in full force and effect for and during the term of ten years from and after its passage and approval; provided, this Franchise and all rights and privileges herein provided shall be extended for two (2) successive periods of five (5) years each, unless the municipality by notice given to the Company and by Ordinance duly enacted and approved at least six (6) months before the end of such term of ten (10) years, or before the end of the first extended term of five (5) years, as the case may be, shall declare such termination effective.

Section 10: Grantee shall file its written acceptance of this franchise Ordinance within sixty (60) days after its passage, and thereafter shall make proper application with the necessary and proper regulatory bodies for the necessary and proper permits to operate said gas system. Grantee shall, within twelve (12) months after procuring all of the necessary certificates of convenience and necessity and all other proper permits, both from the State of Missouri and the Federal Government, begin actual construction of laying gas lines for the distribution of gas in said City. All delays, however, occasioned by strikes, weather, riots, floods, war and acts of God shall be excepted from the performance period herein.

The City Council of Grantor may from time to time extend the periods provided in this Section.

Section 11: Grantee shall pay, and in consideration of the granting of this franchise agrees to pay, to the City as a franchise tax and compensation for the rights and privileges enjoyed hereunder, a sum equal to five (5%) per cent of its gross annual revenue from the sale of natural gas in said municipality, excluding any revenue derived from service to the municipality or any revenue from industrial consumers.

It is understood and agreed that the computations of the per cent of the revenue as above provided shall be computed on the basis of the revenue from January 1, through December 31, of each year prior to the year in which the payment shall be made.

The Company shall pay the City on or before the tenth day of each month the amount of the payments arrived at in the manner herein provided at the rate of 1/12 of such annual amount.

Such payments shall be in lieu of all other franchise, licenses or occupation taxes which may be levied or attempted to be levied by said City for said gas business. Upon request of the City, Grantee shall make available for examination by duly authorized representatives the necessary records to determine the payments made hereunder.

Section 12: Said Grantee shall have the full right and power to assign to any other person or persons, co-partnership, firm or corporation, any and all rights conferred upon it by the terms of this Ordinance, after it has installed, erected and built a gas distribution system; provided, that a mortgage or trust deed or judicial sales made thereunder or under tax sales or the transfer of this franchise to a subsidiary, shall not be deemed an assignment within the meaning of this Section. Any assignee of the rights of the Grantee herein, by accepting such assignment, shall thereby become subject to all of the terms, conditions and provisions of this Ordinance; and in the event of any assignment by said Grantee of the rights hereby conferred upon it, such assignment shall be in writing and a duly authenticated copy thereof shall be filed in the Office of the Clerk of said City of Sikeston, Missouri.

Section 13: The Grantee shall maintain sufficient, suitable and adequate pressure of gas in its mains, where the service line to consumer attaches to the Grantee's main or pipeline in a street or alley adjacent to such consumer's property line.

Section 14: If any Section, Paragraph, Subdivision, Clause, Phrase or Provision of this Ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or unconstitutional, the same shall not affect the validity of this Ordinance as a whole, or any part or provisions, other than the part so decided to be invalid or unconstitutional. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with any provision of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 15: The Grantor shall enact all needful Ordinances, rules and regulations for the protection of the property of the Grantee for the purpose of preserving and securing the Grantee all the rights, privileges, immunities and benefits granted herein.

Read three times and passed the 11th day of May, 1967.

JERRY LYNN YOUNG

Bank Robber, Joins FBI's Wanted List

WASHINGTON -- Jerry Lynn Young, a heavily armed convicted bank robber, who suffers from a serious skin disease, answers to the nickname "Bugs", rides a motorcycle, frequents, "hippie pads" and is charged with robbing banks in North Carolina and Mississippi, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Young, who reportedly has suicidal tendencies and has claimed he will never be taken alive, allegedly robbed the East Office Branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Asheville, North Carolina, of $13,671 on the early afternoon of March 2, 1967, at the point of a double - barreled shotgun.

The nervous bank robber, who was dressed in a long dark coat, rain hat, dark sun glasses, a face mask and high heeled boots, reportedly threatened to kill any bank employee pursuing him before escaping in a car stolen from a Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen, North Carolina. A bank customer, who briefly followed the escaping bandit in his car, was fired at with a pistol which the bank robber also carried.

Young then reportedly proceeded in another car to Fletcher, North Carolina, where it was recovered abandoned on March 5, 1967.

On the late afternoon of April 14, 1967, Young allegedly robbed the Bank of Olive Branch, Mississippi, of $14,919 at pistol point, fleeing in a car which was found abandoned a few hours after the holdup by police at Memphis, Tennessee. One day later, April 15, 1967, a motorcycle known to have been operated by Young was found abandoned near Newbern, Tennessee.

This fugitive, who is known to travel frequently about the country, especially in several southern states, reportedly resided in California between mid March and early April, 1967.

Federal warrants for Young's arrest were issued on March 27, 1967, at Asheville, North Carolina, charging him with bank robbery and crime on a government reservation --- larceny. Additional Federal Warrants were issued on March 21, 1967, at Greenville, South Carolina, charging him with interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, and on April 15, 1967, at Greenville, Mississippi, charging him with bank robbery.

Young served on active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps between February 1, 1961, and March 16, 1962, when he was given an undesirable discharge due to misconduct following conviction for robbing at gunpoint the Richlands, North Carolina, Branch of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company of $4,350. He was sentenced to a term of six years and one day's confinement in Federal custody for this offense and was paroled on August 14, 1963. He served his sentence in Federal reformatories at Petersburg, Virginia, and El Reno, Oklahoma. His parole for this offense expired on March 1, 1967, and shortly after noon the following day he allegedly robbed the Asheville, North Carolina, bank.

He is known to suffer severely from the skin disease "Psoriasis," which requires frequent treatment and medication, has a noticeable southern accent, plays the piano and organ, smokes cigarettes, drinks bourbon whiskey and imported beer or ale, spends freely and tips lavishly and often carries an expensive Japanese camera. He enjoys travel by air, often rides a motorcycle, associates with artists and musicians and reportedly frequents "hippie pads," bars and homosexual gathering places. He has occasionally worked as a drug store clerk, service station attendant, life guard and piano player with small bands.

Young was born at Russellville, Alabama, on October 2, 1942, is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes, light brown hair, a medium build and a medium complexion. He has a scar on the inside of his left thumb, one on the right side of his chest and an operation scar in the middle of his back.

He has been known to be armed with a shotgun, rifle and pistol, has reportedly stated he will never be taken alive, may have suicidal tendencies and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Anyone with information concerning Jerry Lynn Young is requested to immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of local telephone directories.

In a kindergarten class, one five-year-old asked the teacher for permission to go to the lavatory. Permission granted, he left the room only to return in a few minutes to tell the teacher he couldn't find it.

Carefully, she took him out into the hall and pointed to a door. Again the youngster was right back. "I still can't find it," he insisted.

This time the teacher asked another boy to go along with the first. When they finally returned, the boy sent as a guide reported success. "We finally found it," he told the teacher, "He had his pants on backwards." Jerry Record.

Pill Vendor Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A Kentucky man convicted by a jury May 8 on five counts of passing counterfeit amphetamine tablets to a government agent was sentenced Wednesday to serve 30 month federal penitentiary.

Judge Roy W. Harper, presiding in federal district court here, passed the sentence on Carl F. McCubbin, 49, of Horse Cave, Ky.

McCubbin was in court with his attorney, Robert Schneider of Horse Cave.

Schneider, after the defendant's motion for acquittal or for a new trial in the alternative was denied, asked the court for probation for his client.

He based his request in part on the fact that McCubbin is a diabetic, has an artificial leg and faces the possibility of having the other foot removed.

Schneider and McCubbin said the defendant thought he was operating a legitmate business when he sold the pills.

Judge Harper reminded them that testimony showed McCubbin had done a substantial business in selling the tablets and apparently had been in the business for at least five years.

He pointed out McCubbin had also made some sales in the dark of the night at the side of the road so that those parties involved could not be recognized.

"That's not my idea of a legitimate business," the judge said.

Judge Harper pointed out one but needs to read the newspaper to know the problems the pills are causing.

The judge said he would make arrangements for McCubbin to be sent to the Medical Center at Springfield for examination upon reporting to the marshal on June 20.

The Board of Aldermen met May 15th with all members present except Poindexter. The result of the election favoring changing this city to a third class city was 120 in favor and 175 against, defeating the proposition by 55 votes.

The Boy Scouts went on a short hike Monday evening to Applegate Grove, where they cooked their own supper. Two new members were admitted. Scoutmasters Denman and Burnham were in charge.

After a 10-day siege of vaccination against small pox the editor's family is almost of a mind that the genuine small pox could be little worse. Sore arms, sore glands, headaches, backaches, bellyaches, disordered livers, grouches, and everything going wrong is the complaint from morning until night.

Beginning with the first of June, the mechanical end of The Standard will be under the direct charge of the proprietor with Chas. L. Blanton, jr., to assist. Miss Clessen Edmondson, assisted by Catherine Blanton, will be the straight compositors until our new linotype is installed. Mrs. Blanton will be in charge of the front office while Miss Lill Parsons will do the locals and soliciting.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the wife who felt "left out" because her husband refused to remove his partial plate in her presence. Please tell her to count her blessings.

My husband has a bridge --- three front teeth, right in the middle. Clyde will remove his teeth any place, any time, in front of anybody. It doesn't matter if we are in a restaurant, at his boss' home or at the speaker's table honoring a distinguished member of the community. Whenever Clyde's teeth get uncomfortable he pops out his bridge, removes particles of food --and the rest of the world can go hang.

I've told him he presents a most unappetizing sight and to please cut it out. His response is, "If people don't like it they can look at something else." Will you kindly publish my letter. Maybe if my husband sees himself in the paper he will change his ways. --- WIFE OF A PERFORMER

Dear Wife: Don't expect miracles. If Clyde refuses to keep his teeth in his head for his wife, he surely won't pay any attention to me. An orchid to you, my dear, for your ability to tolerate his abdominable manners. And a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Clyde for his boorishness.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22 years old, and have two small children. The problem is my lack of self-control. I crave the attention of every man who treats me halfway decently. Three were men I work with and two were husbands of my close friends.

I am married to a wonderful guy who really does love me. We married young (I was only 17), which may be part of my problem. He would never stand for it if he knew what I was doing. Please help me before I end up out on the street, with no husband, no children and no marriage. --- AFRAID

Dear Afraid: Yours is a pathetic story and one which I have heard many times before. It may be that you did not receive the parental love you needed as a child and these shabby love - substitutes are desperate attempts to be close to someone.

You are a sick girl and I hope you will get professional help at once. Don't delay. The stakes are mighty high.

Dear Ann Landers: This is one letter I am going to mail. You have no idea how many others I have written in my mind, enumerating all the real and imagined injustices and indignities committed against me. These masterpieces to Ann Landers are usually composed during some exhausting or unsettling activity such as washing a sink full of dirty dishes, bathing a herd of screaming kids, or preparing a feast for a pack of ungrateful in-laws.

All that adrenalin surging through my veins could be very damaging. But the therapeutic value of my mental letters to Ann Landers is incalculable.

Then, of course, when I read your column and see the tragic and heartbreaking problems other people are having, my problems seem insignificant by comparison, and I feel ashamed. So, thank you, Ann Landers. My heart is grateful. -- MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Thank you. So is mine. Readers such as you give me a real lift.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect from Marriage," enclosing with your request 20¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

From The Upper Room

Quench not the Spirit. (I Thessalonians 5:19)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee for the gift of the Holy Spirit. We pray that we may have always an open mind and heart to receive His word and wisdom, grace to obey, and Thy guidance and blessing in all phases of our lives. Help us to manifest the fruits of the Spirit. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SIKESTON STANDARD:

Dear Editor, I, along with many of the Citizens of Sun Set Addition, to the City of Sikeston - were elated yesterday, May 15th., when we saw the mosquito control truck spraying again along the streets in our community.

I was also, relieved; and I am shure that the appearance of the truck brought relief to the minds of many of the taxpayers of the community. We are glad to know that our fine, and efficient City Manager was not influenced by what "Poor Charlie" said in the Sikeston Standard, on May 11,

We are very glad that Mr. Raymert Miller is City Manager, and not Poor Charlie. Poor Charlie's attitude toward the Citizens of Sun Set is too murch in different to that of the Sun Rise community. This in it self would prohibit him from being a good city manager. The city need a manager who understands that the taxpaying human citizecs who live in the Sun Set community can feel the mosquito bites just like those who live in the Sun Rise community. Farther, in as murch as many of the Sun Rise citizens do not share Poor Charlie's opinion about desegregation being the cause of the race problem "for there has been one since 1619" there are hundreds of citizens of Sun Set, who do not agree with, naw are conducive to the interference not only with the musquito control truck, but with any one who are doing their jobs in the community.

We commend our City manager for his broad vishion, and his deep insite. Most of all, for being manager of all of the city.

My view of the "leave them alone with their stones and mosquitos", is that; because of sticks and stones, we have been left alone too long. For hundreds of years, the schools and collages have left us alone. For this cause, the parents have left their children alone, just like for hundreds of years, the Fedal Government has left the States alone. But, when God created man, he said, it is not good that the man should be alone (Genesis 2:18). Man need a companion, wheather it be of opposiet sex or opposite race.

Rev. J. W. Gwin
President of the S.C.L.A.

May 15, 1967

To the Editor:
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri
Dear Sir:

The picture of the Rev. Tom K. Simms of Galveston, Texas, (which appeared in Friday's issue April 28, 1967) accompanied with one of his paintings, reminded me of the wonderful revival services he conducted in the Baptist Church at Boekerton, Missouri.

It must have been during his early years in evangelism, because it has been more than 15 years ago. (Our pastor at that time was Rev. Moore from Cape Girardeau, Missouri. He also, was a former pastor of the Red Star Baptist Church of the same city).

Each night during the song service, Bro. Simms completed a painting. He used these to illustrate a certain truth or person from the Bible. One such picture I especially remember was a painting of the "Hill of Three Crosses."

The Rev. Moore also, was an artist. His paintings were in oil color. He enjoyed painting, but, it was more a hobby for him.

After admiring some of Bro. Moore's handiwork, I suggested that he might paint a picture for me.

"What kind of picture?" He asked. "You know I can paint landscapes best."

Instantly, I remembered the Hill of Three Crosses. "Could you make a picture similar to this one that Bro. Simms painted for us during the revival meeting?" I asked, most hopefully.

When the picture was finished he presented it to me, complete with glass and frame. His kind face beamed with the satisfied smile of an artist who had been master of his own creation. He said:

"This will be with you long after I am gone, and for many, many years to come."

Today, the picture still hangs on our living room wall. It remains as beautiful as ever. It means even more to me each passing year. Bro. Moore now, has gone on to his final reward. And he left a reward for me. It is much more than "just a keepsake."

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Marie Spoor

From Willie Dixon President of the N.A.A.C.P. to anonymous of New Madrid county.

I recieve your letter with pleasure and also with regret. i regret that you are remaining an anonymous. I recieved it with pleasure because it is a fact. i can judge from your letter that you are a well educated and civil minded person. i sincerely appreciate all the information concerning the problem in New Madrid county. but i also want you to no as an official of the N.A.A.C.P. i am not seeking publicity but i am deeply concern about human rights. An it is my opinion that all civilized Americans should be concern about the same. You speak concern the ignorant Negroes in New Madrid county. but it is not only a job for the N.A.A.C.P. an it is not job only for Willie Dixon, but it is a job for all Americans citizens. and that include you - you are aware of the situation i need your support to solve the problem. remaining an anonymous don't build democracy. but being able to stand bold against lawless and stand firm on justic an equality and are willing to fight against ignorance and injustic and work faithful to educate all Americans then you or empruving the image of American you are also helping to eliminate the problem in which we have and if we solve the problems we have we are solving the problem in American. every individual have the right to take a stand agianst ignorance, and injustic and prejudice and segregation, and when these things are eliminated America will be better for all Americans. And remaining anonymous will not solve the problem. You said that Negroes are loaded up like cattle an haul to the voting poll on election day by the crooked politician. and the Negroes you say or to ignorant to know the differance between freedom an equal opportunity. I beleive when ever or where-ever that you see a person wrong and they don't know any better it is your responsibility to try to correct them so it is every other American responsibility to correct them that don't know. To work with faith to end the incredible situation that not only taken place in New Madrid but through out America since you are aware of the Problem I am asking you for your support to work with me and we will see if we together can stop the situation. The only way we can stop the crooked politicians is to teach the people how to use a ballot. and that is not only my job but it is a job for the American people. We don't only work for the rights of the Negroes we work to protect the rights and opportunity of all American people and you the anonymous have a share in helping all americans to acheive equality an equal opportunity an freedom. And ignorance do not only exist among the Negroes but among American people. And you and I have a share in fighting against that ignorance. We will not be able to stop all that exist but we can do our share. The constitution of Missouri say all person are created equal an are intitle to equal rights an opportunity under the law. But I say God created all person equal and they are intitle to equal opportunity throughout the world. and all American citizens must work together to protect the rights and opportunities of each other. and if we fail to protect the rights of each other we will fail Americia and americian democracy will fail us. So we must stand against all ignorance and against prejudice an injustic. an if we accomplish in our mission then we want have to worry about the crooked politician. but i do agree with you if what you say are true about New Madrid county it is a disgrace. but i all so want you to know we need your support along with many other who are willing to help solve the problem and teach them the difference between an insult an freedom an equal opportunity. You said you would send me some names but i also want you to give me your support, and we will do our best to eliminate the situation. You said answer your letter through daily standard. so i hope that you will agree with my letter as i have agreed with yours, and i am not anonymous like you are because i dont have anything to hide i am Willie Dixon president of the N.A.A.C.P.

Yours truely,
Willie Dixon

ON THE MOVE

The odds are one in five that you will move to a different home next year. If you are between 22 and 24, it's even money that you will change your residence in the next year. Marriage or your first permanent job are influencing factors. A college graduate is almost twice as likely to move as a man with a high school education or less.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE

By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF INDIGNANT THIEF

In managing a large company, George was torn between honor and booty. The latter, however, won out. During the years 1957, 1958 and 1959, he embezzled over $100,000 from his company. In fact, pickings couldn't have been easier had he been a banjo player. But then, the government intervened and nastily charged him with wilfully evading the payment of income taxes on his ill - gotten gains.

"The charge is absurd," George protested indignantly in court. "I took the money tax free! During 1957, 1958 and 1959, there was a United States Supreme Court decision that held that embezzled funds were not taxable."

"But, ah!" glowered the prosecuting attorney. "We didn't catch you in 1957, 1958 and 1959. We caught you now. And the United States Supreme Court has since ruled that embezzled funds are taxable. Therefore, my friend, you're guilty."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail George for failing to pay taxes on the tainted money?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that George had not "wilfully" evaded the payment of taxes in 1957, 1958 and 1959 since he had a right to rely upon the then United States Supreme Court decision that embezzled funds were not taxable.

(Based upon a 1965 U.S. District Court Decision)

TODAYS LEGAL POINTER:

To report that a woman is married when she is in fact single is not normally considered to be defamatory since marriage is looked upon by the law as an honorable, wholesome and necessary institution. That, consequently, such a report cannot reasonably subject her to public scorn, ridicule and/or contempt.

THE MARVEL OF SEED

What marvelous power is the tiny seed
It matters not whether they be flower or weed.
Locked within walls of each small shell
Is strength unknown, inside the hearts cell.
No matter what ever may be the name
The process of life is much the same.
Until the cycle of growth is more complete
'Tis hard to define the tares with wheat.
The weeds will grow without any care
They need no planting -- they are everywhere.
But beautiful flowers or the prize rose
Must be cultivated and planted in rows.
'Twould be so easy to let tares and weeds go
But the flowers and wheat would cease to grow.
For weeds grow wild and the tares grow tall
With no pretty flowers and wheat harvest small.
Our life is so like the flowers and weeds
Each heart bears both good and evil seeds.
Without cultivation a crop of bad seeds
Soon would choke out life's golden deeds.

HIGHER EDUCATION..... VIA A NEWSPAPER ROUTE

Why do educators frequently encourage youngsters to apply for a newspaper route? And why are more and more schools giving "credit" for newspaper route experience?

Because the attitude of a boy towards higher education frequently changes, when, as a Little Merchant newspaperboy, in business for himself, he begins to understand the value of book learning combined with practical experience.

He buys at wholesale—sells at retail—makes his own deliveries and collections—learns simple bookkeeping—and often develops into a surprisingly good salesman.

And the money he banks while a newspaperboy frequently makes it possible for him to attend the college of his choice.

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit from newspaperboy experience, have him come in and talk to us.

The Daily Standard

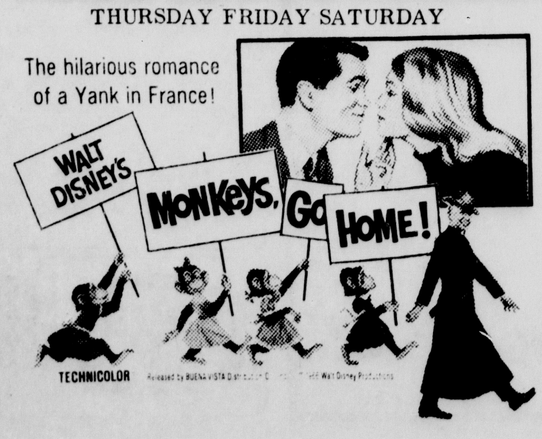

Note to Subscribers: Please have your money ready when your Newspaperboy makes his collections. It will save him time and will also help him maintain his profits.

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 18, the 138th day of 1967. There are 227 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, Napoleon Bonaparte was proclaimed emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1863, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant began the siege of Vicksburg, Miss.

In 1899, 26 nations convened an international peace conference at the Hague in the Netherlands.

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson signed a military conscription bill.

In 1933, the Tennessee Valley Authority was created.

In 1940, German troops captured the Belgian city of Antwerp.

In 1941, Italian forces surrendered in Ethiopia.

Ten years ago—King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Faisal of Iraq rebuked Egypt's President Gambal Abdel Nasser for meddling in the affairs of other Arab nations.

Five years ago - Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned that the dispatch of U.S. troops to Thailand to protect the independence of Laos could lead to a conflict like the Korean war.

One year ago — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara proposed that every young man give two years of service to his country.

Mrs. Spane, 76, Dies in Hospital

PERKINS -- Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Milem Spane, 76, a longtime Perkins resident who died Tuesday in a Cape Girardeau hospital.

The Rev. Troy T. Haupt, Cape Girardeau, will officiate in the Baptist church. Burial will be in William Cemetery.

Mrs. Spane, the former Miss Essie Sitze, was born Dec. 2, 1890 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sitze of Marquand. On June 1, 1910, she married Spane, who survives.

Other survivors are five sons, Eugene Spane, Chaffee; Freeman Spane, Dexter; Lyman Spane, Painton; Truman Spane, Flat River; and Lowell Spane, Chaffee. One other son, Willis Spane, died in 1965.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Marie Hill, Rochelle, Ill., and Mrs. Ed Wagoner, and Kathryn Spane, both of Perkins; 19 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Spane was a member of the Perkins Baptist Church. Morgan Funeral Home of Advance is in charge.

Senate Bill Extends Bank Boundaries

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)— A bill to allow banks to have separate facilities within 5,000 yards of the main bank was passed by the Missouri Senate Wednesday, 25-8.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville and former banker, criticized it as "a creeping thing that will eventually lead to branch banking."

In cities under 75,000 the extra facility could be anywhere within the city limits.

Also passed and sent to the House were 18 other bills including one to require that all bonds be sold at public sale on bids — including any revenue bonds issued to build toll roads.

Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, said many general obligation bond issues have been sold privately by negotiation at considerably higher interest rates than result from public bidding.

Other measures passed included ones to:

Require uniform equipment on motor vehicles, a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation.

Raise maximum damages in wrongful death cases from $25,000 to $50,000.

Allow any municipality to join a central retirement system for its employes or set up its own system, implementing a new constitutional provision.

Let school boards provide education for five-year-olds and thus qualify for state aid under an earlier kindergarten aid bill.

Put the state health director under a seven-member board of health.

Increase state aid to junior colleges from $240 to $320 per pupil.

Extend the life of the State Tax Study Commission two more years.

Increase the pay of the state commissioner of agriculture from $12,000 to $16,000 a year.

Given final approval, too, was a bill to provide workmen's compensation for National Guardsmen called to active duty in the state. Because of minor amendments it must return to the Senate.

Search on For Assailant

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo.(AP) — An intensive manhunt was under way today for an itinerant construction worker suspected of shooting a Fredericktown high school student.

Charged in a warrant in assault with intent to kill was James Childers, 21, whose last address was in Kansas City, Mo.

He was last seen driving the car of Myron Powell, 17, who was found Wednesday shot six times with his hands tied behind his back on a county road near Fredericktown.

The Powell youth was listed in fair condition at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

New Park Bill Moves Forward

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill clearing the way for construction of state parks around federal reservoirs was advanced by the Missouri Senate today.

Under a new federal law, states must record their intent to develop recreational facilities before a new reservoir can be built to include enough water for recreational purposes.

The federal government then advances to the state enough money to build a park, a marina or additional access facilities. The money is paid back from user fees over a 50-year period.

But before a specific project could be built, the legislature would have to be assured it was economically feasible and would have to approve each individual project.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. John J. Johnson, D-Sappington, who was especially interested in the three Meramec Basin reservoirs which have been approved — Irondale, Pine Ford and I-38.

Also affected would be the Smithville Reservoir in the Platte River Basin north of Kansas City, the Long Branch in the Chariton Basin and five reservoirs in the North Grand River Basin — Pattonsburg, Trenton, Baymer, Brookfield and Mercer.

Another water bill tied in with federal law also was advanced.

It would allow the state to grant funds to local government units, including sewer districts, to help pay for water pollution control projects.

Under the law, the federal government would provide 50 per cent of the cost of such projects, the state 25 per cent and the local unit 25 per cent.

Sen. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, said Missouri now has about $10 million in federal funds available for such use.

Police Report Seven Arrests

Robert A. Jones, 614 William, was charged by police Wednesday with driving while intoxicated, peace disturbance by loud and profane language and operating a vehicle without a city license. He was arrested on West Malone, police said.

Other persons arrested Wednesday are:

Nicholas E. Haley, Morehouse, charged with public intoxication.

Adolph C. Miller, 138 Sixth St., charged with careless and imprudent driving on East Malone.

Jose L. Copeland, Miner, charged with driving without an operator's license.

Charles Fate Cantrell, Essex, arrested on a warrant from New Madrid county charging non support.

Thomas J. Flippo, 314 Kendall, charged with assault and battery on Front Street.

Ancell C. Gross, Sikeston, charged with public intoxication on North Kingshighway.

Mrs. McDougal Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Lee McDougal, 904 North Kingshighway, died Wednesday night in Rochester, Minn.

Survivors include her husband, Lee McDougal, and a brother, J. B. Jeffries, of Poplar Bluff.

The body will be at the Welsh Funeral Home.

Homemaker Program Is Successful

NEW MADRID -- The homemakers advisory committee for the University of Missouri Extension Division, OEO Homemaker Development Project, met May 12 at the New Madrid training center in the basement of the court house.

Representative homemakers from the areas serviced by the educational aides were selected to function as an advisory group to assist in evaluating the clothing unit ending May 8.

The clothing program given to individual homemakers in their homes and to group meetings of homemakers was judged to be successful. The women were pleased with clothing information given and skills taught as a way of helping low-income families.

The social and personal needs of individuals within the family group and how these needs can be met by low-income families were stressed.

Garments made by the women present were displayed.

The committee reported that the clothing unit had been helpful to participants. They judged it to be a successful program and asked that it be continued.

Lunch using commodity foods was prepared and served by the educational aides.

The Clarkton area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Joyce Hays; Mrs. Roberta Gardner, Malden, and Mrs. Emma White, Clarkton.

The Holcomb area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Ethel Wilhite; Mrs. Audie McWhirter, Holcomb, and Mrs. Louise Cooper, Campbell.

The Portageville area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Dorothy Sikes; Mrs. Margaret Gray; Mrs. Callie Trawick; educational aide, Mrs. Sybil Hurley; Mrs. Florence Birdwell, and Mrs. Mary Lou Edgar.

The Kewanee, Matthews, Morehouse areas were represented by educational aide, Mrs. Willie Hornback; Mrs. Jonie Lee Suggs, Matthews, and Mrs. Willa Mae Perry; Mrs. Rosie Lee Jones, Howardville, and Mrs. Juanita Taylor Portageville Route.

The New Madrid area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Carrie B. Sims; Mrs. Geneva Hunt and Mrs. Genevieve Sims, New Madrid Route.

The Hayti area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Mary Alice Quertermous, and Mrs. Vera Mae Ricks.

The Parma Risco area was represented by educational aide Mrs. Virtrue L. Hill.

Car Rolls Over, Kills Baby Girl

POPLAR BLUFF - A two-year girl was killed when she was run over by the car she fell out of one mile north of Hillard at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The highway patrol said Virginia Lynn Magill was sitting in the parked car while her mother, Mrs. Margaret Magill, was talking to her husband.

The girl apparently opened the door and fell out of the car, parked on a hill. The car rolled over the girl.

The body was taken to Greer, Croy and Fitch Funeral Home.

Former Girl Scout President Dies

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Anne Hyde Clarke Choate, a former president of the Girl Scouts of America, died here Wednesday. She was 80.

Mrs. Choate, the widow of Arthur Osgood Choate, an investment banker, was the group's second president, taking office in 1920. She later served twice as its vice president.

Computer-Printer Speeds News To Pages of Daily Standard

Amid flashing and blinking of recorded electrical impulses lighting up a glass enclosed panel, the Daily Standard crossed the threshold today into one of the newest and fastest and most modern forms of putting the printed word before the readers' eyes.

The latest addition to the Standard's newsroom is the Associated Press offsetter, a combination computer and printer, which delivers news from around the world in the form that readers see them in the newspaper in a single operation.

Installation of the machine was completed Wednesday, making the Standard the first newspaper in the state and among the first in the nation to use the new offsetter.

The first model entered service Jan. 19 at the Winchester, Va., Evening Star.

The offsetter is especially designed for newspapers printed by the offset process. It was perfected by the Compugraphic Corporation for use by the Associated Press and its member newspapers.

The purpose of the machine is speed and by eliminating mechanical steps an AP story can appear in the newspaper within 15 minutes after it is received. Unlike the teletype service, which it replaced the Offsetter produces copy ready to be pasted on the page and photographed without further handling.

Previously, the Standard's AP copy has had to be reproduced either mechanically or manually to obtain the proper column width and letter spacing. Paper tapes perforated by the same electrical impulses received by the Offsetter were mechanically reproduced by a two - step process.

The tape first was fed through a Friden Justowriter recorder to produce another perforated tape. The second tape was then fed through a Justowriter reproducer to obtain the final paste - up copy.

Copy from the teletype machine also could be reproduced manually by Justowriter operators, who punched new tapes, which in turn went through the second reproduction process.

The offsetter does this in a single operation.

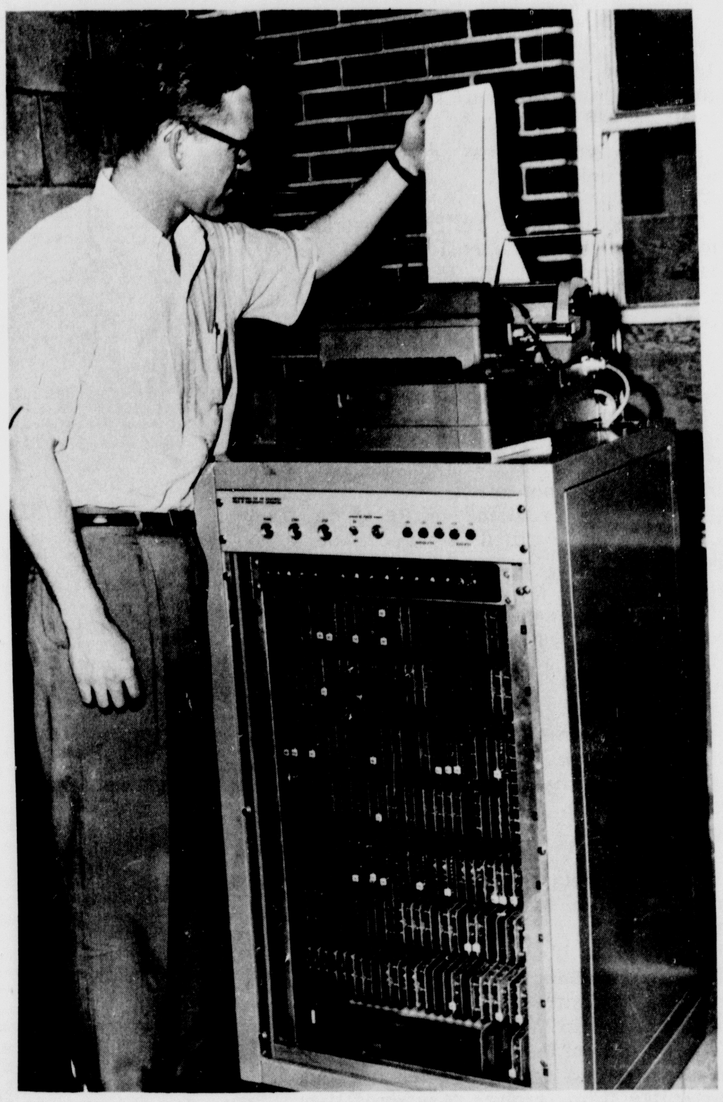

There are no tapes or additional Justowriter procedures. Copy from the offsetter goes directly onto the past-up page. At the Standard's request the new machine has been equipped with the same type face used on machines, which set Sikeston area stories, so all type appearing in print will match.

The Offsetter is a unit consisting of a compact computer that drives the printing unit mounted on top. The computer is housed in a cabinet about two feet wide and two feet deep. Instead of reacting to each impulse as it is received as a teletype machine, the Offsetter waits until it has received a complete line and computed the proper letter spacing before it begins printing.

Tommy Thompson Convicted of Thefts

BLOOMFIELD - Tommy Lee Thompson, 18, Sikeston, was convicted on charges of burglary and stealing by a jury in circuit court Wednesday afternoon.

Thompson had been charged in connection with the Feb. 17, 1965, burglary of the Daris Burgess residence, 842 Ruth, in Sikeston. A billfold and clothing were taken in the burglary.

The jury recommended that Thompson be sentenced to four years on the burglary charge and two years on the stealing charge.

Thompson is scheduled to be sentenced June 5 by Judge William Billings.

Thompson's attorney, James E. Moore III of Sikeston, said today that he would file a motion for a new trial.

Judge Billings will rule on this motion June 5. If the motion is denied, an appeal will be filed and the case probably will go to the Missouri Supreme court, Moore said.

The trial originally had been set for circuit court at Benton but a change of venue was granted to the Stoddard court.

Thompson was acquitted of a first degree murder charge Dec. 9 in circuit court at Jackson. He had been charged with the rifle slaying of Mrs. W. R. Lewis of Sikeston at her home Feb. 1, 1965.

Cotton Growers Ask Honor for A. Pierce

PORTAGEVILLE -- A. R. Pierce, Clarkton, was nominated for a life honorary membership in the Missouri Cotton Producers Association at a meeting Tuesday in Kennett. Dunklin County directors of the organization made the nomination.

Directors from seven Bootheel cotton growing counties will vote on the nomination at the 18th annual MCPA meeting June 9 in Sikeston.

If Pierce is granted the membership, it will be the first in the 20 -year history of the association, James Conner, executive vice president of the MCPA, said.

Jack Rollins, Holcomb, was elected a Dunklin county MCPA director to replace Pierce. Board members re - elected were Rudie Slaughter, Senath; A. B. Boyd Jr., Campbell; Pat Burlison, Hollywood; Warren Karsten, Kennett; R.K. Swindle, Senath, and Wes Sutton, Kennett.

Joe Janes, Qulin, was the only new director elected to the Butler county MCPA at a meeting Wednesday at Poplar Bluff. Members re - elected were W. J. Clarkson, Poplar Bluff; T. A. Forbes, Broseley; John Garver, Qulin, Orville Clark, Qulin, and Frank Nentrup, Broseley.

All New Madrid county directors were re - elected at the Tuesday MCPA meeting in Portageville. They are, David Barton, Catron; Harry Campbell, Lilbourn; Norman Crumpecker, Morehouse; Wayne DeLisle, Portageville; John Bailey, Portageville; Charles Pikey Jr., Conran, and Roger F. Rhodes, Gideon.

Two new directors were elected to the Stoddard county board Wednesday at Essex. They were, James Kelley, Essex, and Kenneth Minton, Dexter. Other members re - elected were Floyd Gale, Parma; W. P. Hunter, Sikeston; Albert Kruse, Dexter; James Ross, Essex, and Howard Taylor, Essex.

A meeting will be held for election of directors to the Mississippi county board at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Knight of Columbus hall in Charleston.

Pemiscot county's board will meet at 1:30 p.m. today in Hayti.

Scott county's meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the First Natonal Bank meeting room in Sikeston.

Reporter's Nightmare

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Thomas Bain and Joyce Ann Bain are getting married here Saturday. The wedding party and guest list promises to be a society reporter's nightmare.

Not only is a Bain marrying a Bain, but the preacher's name is Bain. Bain is also the name of the organist, best man, maid of honor, two bridesmaids and the flower girl. To make matters worse, 50 Bains from each family are invited for the trothplighting.

Both Bain families are from southside Virginia, but they haven't been able to trace any connecting relationship.

House Reverses Billboard Decision

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House reversed itself again today by reviving and passing the controversial billboard regulation bill after defeating it earlier this week.

When the measure was taken up for final passage Monday it was four short of the necessary 82.

Today the House voted to reconsider, then passed it 83-61.

Rep. Herbert Akers, R-Bridgeton, who fought the bill Monday, again attacked it today. He said "This bill will make it possible to put up 2,400,000 billboards in the state if they want to."

The measure provides that billboards must be 150 feet apart.

Rep. Earl Sponsler, D-Cabool, said "I'm utterly confused on this bill and when I'm confused I vote 'No.'"

The bill provides that all rural areas adjacent to highways would be zoned as commercial—to allow construction of billboards.

A billboard law passed by the last legislature gave the zoning power to county courts but the federal government suggested that it didn't meet requirements of the national highway beautification act.

If a state does not have an acceptable billboard law the federal act calls for withholding of federal highway funds—estimated at $10 million a year for Missouri.

Rep. Boyd Sanders, R-Forsyth, said in support of the bill that a couple which has invested life savings in a motel or roadside place needs the use of roadside advertising.

Tuesday the House resurrected and passed a bill that would allow liquor by the drink at plush resorts and restaurants. That bill also was defeated Monday.

Labor lost its first round Wednesday in the Senate in attempting to pass a bill to boost unemployment compensation payments.

The bill has been bitterly opposed by business interests because it contains an "escalator clause" tying benefits to the average state weekly wage.

As passed by the House, benefits would have been set at 50 per cent of the average wage, which is now $111 a week. That would have boosted payments from $45 to $55.50 a week.

The House also passed a bill lowering employers' unemployment compensation tax payments from 7½ to 6 per cent.

Sen. T. D. McNeal, D-St.Louis referred to the bills as a package deal. He said if the benefit increase bill fails to pass, he would strike the tax reduction bill from the calendar.

In an attempt at compromise, McNeal sought to lower the benefit increase to 47 per cent but that was voted down, 12-20. The Senate also defeated his proposal to cut benefits to 45 per cent and that was rejected, too, on an 11-21 vote.

Opponents made it clear in heated debate they would accept a flat dollar increase in benefit payments, but not the escalator provision. Some said that was just a blank check, others predicted it would drive industry out of the state and keep new industries out.

Highway 25 Association Renews Plea

MALDEN -- Another hearing before the state highway commission to secure improvements on Missouri 25 in Dunklin, Stoddard and Cape Girardeau counties has been scheduled for June 15 at Jefferson City.

The request for the hearing was made by State Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin of Hornersville on behalf of the Highway 25 Association.

Tinnin said that two stretches of the highway need modernization. These include the section from Malden south to White Oak and from Malden north to Dexter.

The Highway 25 Association was formed last year to raise funds necessary to prepare a publicity campaign to seek improvements for the road, which runs from Jackson to the Arkansas state line.

The association presented grievances to the commission last spring.

Deputy Waives Hearing

CHARLESTON -- R. David White, Mississippi county deputy collector, waived preliminary hearing this morning in magistrate court and was bound over to circuit court.

White, charged with stealing county funds, will appear in circuit court June 5. He has been released on $5,000 bond.

He is charged with taking $188.26 from the office of the county collector. An audit will be made to determine the exact amount of any shortage.

Five Gun Blasts Kill Dog

A white mongrel dog, sought by the humane officer three months, was killed Wednesday after police received two reports that the dog had bitten children in the Clayton Park area last week.

The dog's head was sent to a state health department laboratory in Poplar Bluff to be tested for rabies.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell shot the dog Wednesday near the railroad tracks south of Murray Lane. He then tracked the dog three miles and shot him again when it crawled under a fence south of Clayton Park.

Before the dog was stopped he had been hit three times in the back and neck with .38 caliber pistol bullets and twice with 12 gauge shotgun blasts.

HUMANE OFFICER JAMES GAMMONS and Police Sgt. Leonard Campbell hold the carcass of a white mongrel dog that was shot five times and tracked three miles before he was killed Wednesday.

Car Rolls Over, Kills Baby Girl

POPLAR BLUFF - A two-year girl was killed when she was run over by the car she fell out of one mile north of Hillard at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The highway patrol said Virginia Lynn Magill was sitting in the parked car while her mother, Mrs. Margaret Magill, was talking to her husband.

The girl apparently opened the door and fell out of the car, parked on a hill. The car rolled over the girl.

The body was taken to Greer, Croy and Fitch Funeral Home.

Former Girl Scout President Dies

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Anne Hyde Clarke Choate, a former president of the Girl Scouts of America, died here Wednesday. She was 80.

Mrs. Choate, the widow of Arthur Osgood Choate, an investment banker, was the group's second president, taking office in 1920. She later served twice as its vice president.

Computer-Printer Speeds News To Pages of Daily Standard

Amid flashing and blinking of recorded electrical impulses lighting up a glass enclosed panel, the Daily Standard crossed the threshold today into one of the newest and fastest and most modern forms of putting the printed word before the readers' eyes.

The latest addition to the Standard's newsroom is the Associated Press offsetter, a combination computer and printer, which delivers news from around the world in the form that readers see them in the newspaper in a single operation.

Installation of the machine was completed Wednesday, making the Standard the first newspaper in the state and among the first in the nation to use the new offsetter.

The first model entered service Jan. 19 at the Winchester, Va., Evening Star.

The offsetter is especially designed for newspapers printed by the offset process. It was perfected by the Compugraphic Corporation for use by the Associated Press and its member newspapers.

The purpose of the machine is speed and by eliminating mechanical steps an AP story can appear in the newspaper within 15 minutes after it is received. Unlike the teletype service, which it replaced the Offsetter produces copy ready to be pasted on the page and photographed without further handling.

Previously, the Standard's AP copy has had to be reproduced either mechanically or manually to obtain the proper column width and letter spacing. Paper tapes perforated by the same electrical impulses received by the Offsetter were mechanically reproduced by a two - step process.

The tape first was fed through a Friden Justowriter recorder to produce another perforated tape. The second tape was then fed through a Justowriter reproducer to obtain the final paste - up copy.

Copy from the teletype machine also could be reproduced manually by Justowriter operators, who punched new tapes, which in turn went through the second reproduction process.

The offsetter does this in a single operation.

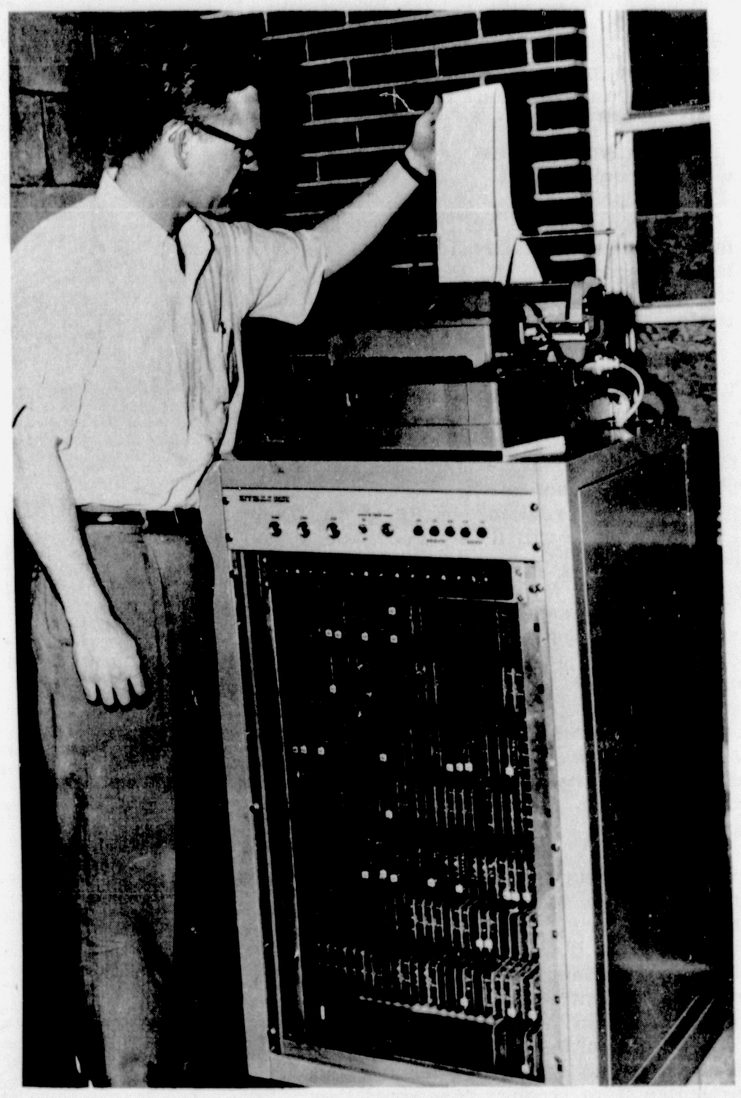

There are no tapes or additional Justowriter procedures. Copy from the offsetter goes directly onto the past-up page. At the Standard's request the new machine has been equipped with the same type face used on machines, which set Sikeston area stories, so all type appearing in print will match.

The Offsetter is a unit consisting of a compact computer that drives the printing unit mounted on top. The computer is housed in a cabinet about two feet wide and two feet deep. Instead of reacting to each impulse as it is received as a teletype machine, the Offsetter waits until it has received a complete line and computed the proper letter spacing before it begins printing.

Although appearing to run slightly behind the teletype machine while it is storing up information, the Offsetter reproduces faster when in operation. It maintains the same rate of 66 words per minute in turning out finished copy.

The Offsetter permits the use of news received an hour later without affecting press time.

The Standard switched from letterpress or hot metal process to offset printing in 1964.

THE DAILY STANDARD has joined the computer age. Frank Burrell, the newspaper's wire editor, examines the stream of news, flowing from the new Associated Press Offsetter. The copy is ready for publication. The machine eliminates two production processes formerly required.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society is currently conducting its annual MS Hope Chest campaign. And your support is urgently needed.

During the twenty years in which the Society has been in operation, more has been learned about the disease than ever before in history. Since its founding in 1946, the Society has expended approximately seven million dollars in research grants and research fellowships.

During the same period, sister MS Societies were being formed throughout the world and in October of 1966, a world-wide Federation of Multiple Sclerosis Societies was formed. Its purpose is to coordinate and accelerate medical research seeking the cause and cure of MS and to develop services to individuals who are disabled by MS and related diseases. The International Federation will collect and disseminate scientific and educational information relating to multiple sclerosis.

It is hoped that through this world-wide effort the cause and cure for MS will be found. Not knowing where it will be discovered, the Society will continue to support research to investigate all hopeful direct approaches to uncover the reasons for MS and related diseases, and to find an effective treatment. To this end the National Society's Board of Directors budgeted one million dollars for 1967. The Society needs your help to carry forward its research program. Please give generously when the MS volunteer calls.

"Repeat exposure value" is a term used to indicate the impact gained by an advertisement when seen more than once.

Research has shown that the second or third glance at an advertisement may be almost as effective as the first reading. Repeated exposure to one advertisement has almost the same effect on a reader as reading a new and different advertisement.

This means that advertising in some printed media gives the advertiser double or triple his money's worth. More than any other advertiser, the retailer who uses his local newspaper gets a surplus of "repeat exposure value."

The reader of a small newspaper turns through his newspaper several times. And even during the first reading, the reader's eye unconsciously moves from news matter to advertising on a particular page numerous times.

Multiple exposure does not take place in other forms of local advertising. After the first glance, mail advertising is put aside. Circulars may be scanned and discarded; there is nothing to cause the reader to return to such matter. And, of course, repeat exposure is impossible in broadcast advertising.

The hometown newspaper has high repeat exposure value. It is read thoroughly. It is kept in the home longer than comparative publications. All reading matter is pointed toward the local reader. The newspaper page is large and varied in content; thus, it holds more readers longer than small and specialized pages.

"Repeat exposure value," in practical terms, is a special bonus which is gained by advertisers who use community newspapers.

AN UNUSUAL BUSINESS

Next May 21, an unusual nationwide celebration will take place. It will mark the 26th anniversary of the Tree Farm Movement. This was one of the more important achievements of our time. Trees are an essential part of our economy, of our living standards, of just about everything that makes for an advanced civilization. One could hardly conceive of a nation such as ours without forest resources.

Yet, not so very long ago, that danger appeared. It had once seemed that our forests were limitless. All that had to be done was to cut and move on to new stands. Then, finally, it was seen that the forests were going, and there would be a time when they would be entirely gone unless something unprecedented in this country was done.

The answer was the tree farm. Its purpose is to assure a perpetual supply of timber. That purpose has been realized. The growth of new trees, planted and nurtured and protected on the farms, now actually exceeds the cut.

It is, in many ways, a unique business. The tree farmer must constantly fight the natural enemies of forests - fire, disease, and insects. He must build roads and employ labor. He must pay taxes. Yet, depending on varieties and areas, the crop may not be ready for market for a great many years - more than a century in some cases.

Fortunately, government has recognized this unique situation as a general rule. It has established tax systems for the tree farmer which encourage him to continue his work and give him a reasonable chance for a fair profit when the far-off marketing time arrives. And the nation benefits from such wise and foresighted taxing policies.

"Potential retail sales which are not made on a particular day, or week, are not regained at a later date. . ."

This was the observation of an executive of Macy's concerning the loss in trade resulting from the transit strike which paralyzed downtown business in New York City.

The official of the world's largest department store indicated that consumer demand for a particular item is often very short lived. Few people were interested in buying Christmas gifts a week after Christmas.

It is a unique service of consistent advertising that it provides information which leads to buying action at a time when consumer demand is at its peak. When such information is not available, consumer need will cool and pass.

When timely advertising fails to present news about products, the retailer is likely to lose more than the consumer. He is left with excess and dated goods. He is forced to sell at a loss.

Out-of-season "bargains" are actually a threat rather than a boon to the retailer. Bargain sales too often are simply a sign that a retailer lacks in foresight.

The ideal relationship between retailer and consumer is established when selling is done at a fair profit. The establishment of this relationship on the local level is made effective through constant use of newspaper advertising.

NEW YORK (AP) — What is a wife worth?

"She is priceless," many a happily married man might respond.

A survey released Tuesday, attempts to be a bit more exact. If your wife is an average American housewife she is worth $8,300 a year, based on a wage survey of 12 occupational roles she fulfills.

An awesome thing for her to keep in mind when she asks for a new fur coat.

However, if her husband is an ambassador she is worth more —not because she works longer hours or fulfills more roles, but because the extra job she does assume pays more.

These conclusions are drawn in an article appearing in the first edition of Envoy, a new monthly magazine published in New York for the diplomatic and consular community.

Envoy enlisted the aid of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. economists, the Chase Manhattan Bank, and the Restaurant & Hotelmen's Agency to compile a table of hours worked in different tasks and wages which would be paid for these tasks.

The average American housewife served 44.5 hours a week as a nursemaid, 13.1 hours a week as a cook, 17.5 hours as a housekeeper and longer periods as a dietitian, food buyer, dishwasher, laundress, seamstress, practical nurse, maintenance man, gardener and chaufer, the study said.

Her highest salaried roles are dietitian, seamstress and cook at $2.50 an hour each. But she works only 15.6 hours a week at these tasks. Her major role is nursemaid, 44.5 hours out of a 99.6-hour work week, pays only $1.25 an hour.

The survey concluded that a housewive does not serve as a compensable hostess.

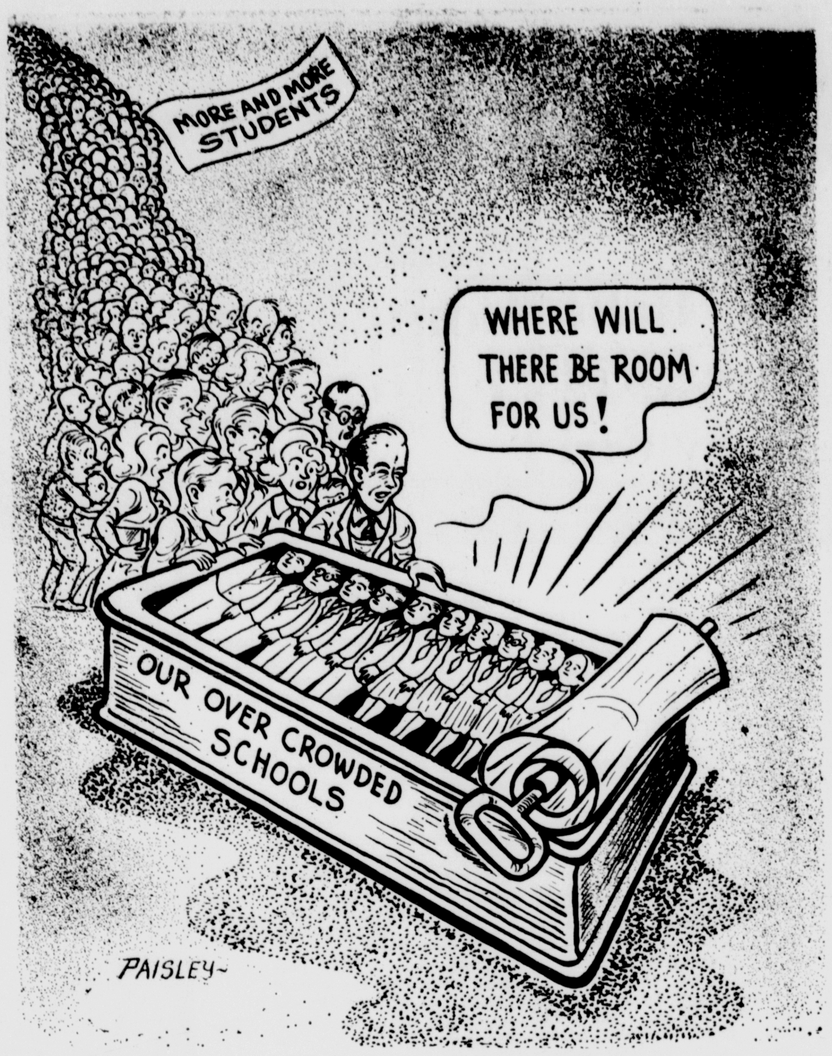

Turning to the ambassador's wife, the survey deleted the roles of dishwasher, laundress, seamstress, maintenance man, gardener and chauffeur—on the theory the ambassador's wife would have domestic help. It was assumed she would do a substantial amount of entertaining—rated at 12 hours a week at $3.57 an hour for a hostess.

The survey concluded that the ambassador's wife worked only 92.2 hours a week, but earned $8,700 a year, thanks largely to her hostess role.

The least-valued woman in the survey was the diplomatic attache's wife. Assigned a hostess salary of only $2.15 an hour and deprived of the payrolls of dishwasher, laundress and seamstress, she would earn only $8,000 a year for 94.5 hours a week.

The survey noted that education, common sense, and discretion were among the less financially measureable, but vital attributes of any wife.

Hal Boyle is ill.

POOR GOOSE

(There was once a farmer who had a goose. One day he found that the goose had laid a golden egg, and every day thereafter the goose laid an egg of purest gold. But in time the farmer became greedy, and he decided that if he killed the goose he could have her entire treasure at once. So he cut her open to find nothing at all.

Moral: Don't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.)

Everyone is familiar with this story, probably the most famous of Aesop's fables. Unfortunately, many of us seem to have forgotten the moral.

Certainly it has been forgotten by those politicians and professors who urge us to do away with free enterprise--our wealth-producing goose--in favor of hare-brained schemes with no more productive capacity than the dead goose of the fable.

It has obviously been forgotten by labor potentates and minor poobahs constantly calling for "authorized work stoppages" and wildcat strikes, with the result that our poor goose of an economy grows weak and groggy from their repeated assaults.

It seems to have been forgotten even by some businessmen who appear to be blissfully unaware that their gold-producing goose is threatened from many quarters. Not the least of the threats comes from abroad, from a conniving enemy as greedy for the goose's gold as was Aesop's farmer. But make no mistake, that enemy would like nothing better than to carve up the long-suffering critter.

Maybe what we ought to do is make the goose our national bird and then post stiff penalties against anyone who makes any kind of pass at it.

DISTRICT OR DISTRICT VOTING

Need for Reform of the archaic system by which the United States names its President is generally admitted. Some advocates of Reform favor a constitutional amendment abolishing the Electoral College and providing for the election of the President and Vice President by a majority of the total popular vote. Other students of the problem see much greater merit in CONDIRP, the Congressional District Reform Plan.

Direct voting would do little to reduce the power of the political machines in mid-city sections of large metropolitan areas. It would promote the growth of small splinter political parties, causing frequent run-off elections. And with direct elections, the states would no longer be "Electoral entities" in choosing the President. This would be a serious blow to our Republic, striking down one of the basic tenets of the Founders of Freedom in our Republic.

CONDIRP offers none of these disadvantages. This is the plan under which every voter would vote for an elector from his Congressional District and two electors from the state at large. No longer would a candidate for President get all the electoral votes of a state simply by virtue of having some votes - and it could conceivably be just one vote - more than his nearest rival. The voting power of every American would be equal to that of every other voter.

Congress at this session can approve for submission to the states, a constitutional amendment that would put this fair and equitable method of electing our President and Vice President into effect as soon as enough states ratified it. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- No one is likely to admit it officially, but American special forces are now venturing into Laos and even North Vietnam itself to spy upon the Communist infiltration routes.

The Americans are Guerrilla specialists who speak the Vietnamese language and are at home in the jungle. Their chief function is to radio information about enemy movements to command posts, which in turn direct our planes where to strike.

Sometimes jets, already in the air over Vietnam, will hit a target within minutes after special forces have spotted it.

The chief object of this secret surveillance is the famous Ho Chi Minh trail, which is actually a network of jungles trails running from North Vietnam, through Laos, into South Vietnam. Some trails are footpaths; others are wide enough to handle trucks and tanks.

The American infiltrators have reported eveything from elephants to bicycles hauling weapons through the jungle. Thousands of coolies, carrying packs on their backs or balancing bundles on the ends of bamboo poles, move like ants down the trails.

Heavier equipment is dismantled and hauled in parts on bicycles, which have been converted into one - man cargo carriers. Rockets and heavy artillery are lashed to the backs of animals or loaded upon trucks. The Viet Cong have learned to space their trucks a mile apart, so the planes can never catch a convoy lined up like ducks.

UNRELIABLE SPIES

At first, the Central Intelligence Agency hired Laotians and Vietnamese to spy upon the Ho Chi Minh trail. All too often, they took the CIA's money, then disappeared, presumably to spend it. What radio reports were received from inside Laos and North Vietnam weren't always accurate.

As a result, the army and CIA started putting Americans in charge of the reconnaissance teams. Sometimes they are hopped into North Vietnam by helicopter; sometimes they parachute into enemy territory.

They have been called the "Gray Ghosts," because some have worn gray uniforms, or the "Black Paratroopers" because of their black parachutes.

They are most active at night when the infiltration traffic is also heaviest. Vice President Hubert Humphrey has argued inside the policy councils that the United States should send Guerrilla teams into North Vietnam on commando raids, thus giving them a taste of their own Viet Cong medicine. Up to now, however, the special forces teams are sent into enemy territory to spy; they engage in virtually no sabotage operations.

The Communists are fully aware of their presence, of course, so there is no military reason for all the secrecy.

ALIENATING NEGRO VOTE

At a time when Adam Clayton Powell and the Rev. Martin Luther King are calling upon Negroes to leave the Democratic party, Rep. Mike Kirwan, the grizzled and grumpy chairman of the committee for re-election of Democratic congressman, gave them added reason to defect by excluding them from recognition at the sumptuous fund - raising dinner last week.

Negroes were permitted to buy tickets to the dinner and listen to President Johnson orate. But that was about all. The long list of planners printed on the dinner program didn't contain a single Negro name.

Rep. William Dawson, D-Ill., the venerable Negro leader, happens to be vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Secretary of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. Yet he wasn't so much as consulted about the dinner.

Dawson paid his $250 and took his seat with the Illinois delegation. But he was completely ignored at the dinner. Other Negroes in congress got the same brush - off.

It was a different story in 1948 when the party was flat broke and needed money for Harry Truman's Presidential campaign. Dawson raised hundreds of thousands of dollars among Negroes to keep Truman in the White House.

Again, in the 1960 Presidential election, Dawson delivered enough Negro votes in Chicago to nose out Richard Nixon in Illinois and clinch the victory for John Kennedy.

The reason Kirwan squeezed Dawson out of the dinner arrangements, according to insiders, is that Kirwan doesn't like to dilute his power in the party. The proceeds from these fund - raising affairs are poured each year into his Democratic campaign committee to reelect Democratic congressmen. If Kirwan likes them, he gives them generous campaign funds. If he doesn't like them, or if they vote against the $3 million "Kirwan Ditch" to connect Youngstown with Pittsburgh via canal, then they get meager funds.

It's one - man committee rule in its most flagrant form, illustrating one of the greatest defects of the present congressional system. You can understand why Kirwan doesn't want to share his power with any other congressman, white or Negro.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Waterfront Union Chief Whipping Up Friendship For Peking, China.

Portland, Ore.: -- Not many bearded hippies, from the houseboats of Sausalito to the sands of the Mexican border, could look at a neatly tailored, tense thin man of 65 called Harry Bridges and recognize him for the revolutionist he was on the Pacific waterfronts. The generations are passing him by. But he's still American labor's toughest champion of the Communist world.

For 30 years now he has been reelected president of the Pacific dockwallopers, the International Longshoremen's and Warehouseman's Union. And he's still doing business at the old political stand -- but with startlingly respectable customers.

He has strong friends in Congress these days though he is pressuring the State Dept. to permit him to fly to Peking, China, dispatch union delegations to the Chinese mainland and send union groups to North Korea and to Hanoi.

He wants recognition of Communist China, now. He wants trade with Mao's land, now. He wants Peking and not Taipei in the United Nations and its Security Council, now.

'Arry, as his neediers love to call him, does not trumpet across the nation nor whip up waterfronts, as he used to in bloodier days. So he might have escaped a traveler's notice if, in the course of political discussions, Bridges' ties to a bloc of congressmen had not come up.

Especially his friendship and political intimacy with the brand new Republican senator from Oregon, Mark Hatfield. In the East the political aviary is so filled with doves and hawks that only an occasional screech of fluttering feather is noted. Certainly it did not come to the public attention that Sen. Mark Hatfield had spoken as he did at the 17th biennial convention of Bridges' union which has been backing the Oregonian for years.

At this convention of 316 delegates representing 68 locals in all our strategic Pacific states, Mark Hatfield was cheered again and again. At the end there was a long standing ovation.

To the Eastern observer, this is remarkable news, for in the allegedly sophisticated saloons of New York and Washington the gentleman from Oregon is mentioned as a possible Republican national candidate.

This union which Mark Hatfield addressed recently was ousted from the labor movement in 1950 after the presentation of a brief to a board of its peers by the now Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. It was voted out on charges that it followed the Soviet line.

The roster of its leaders discloses it has changed mighty little. To this gathering came Sen. Hatfield. His appearance marks a changing time. Few politicos would have chanced it a generation ago.

Hatfield hurled verbal mortars on Lyndon Johnson, and the American position in Southeast Asia. He hit hard. He was cheered lustily. So ardent were the delegates, they voted to reprint his speech and publish it in The Dispatcher, the union newspaper, so that the tens of thousands of members could read it. This was done in the April 14th edition about a week after the convention closed.

The senator spoke the delegates' language. He reminded them that his father-in-law is a retired member of Portland Local 8. The senator was cheered when he said that his father - in - law had marched in the bloody period -- presumably the '30s when they really bloodied the San Francisco Embarcadero. Hatfield also spoke of his father's membership in the Railway Brotherhood.

The senator's feeling of kinship for the longshoremen's union is his privilege. Certainly there is no remote denial of his right to appear on any platform he chooses. But the news is that he did choose a convention at which this country and its leaders, and the labor movement and its leaders except for Jimmy Hoffa, were bitterly attacked again and again.

This does mark the changing scene. Perhaps only in Vermont's Sen. Aiken could Sen. Hatfield find a kindred soul who would, and has ventured to a union convention of this philosophical type. This speech and the presence of a Republican senator at this recent convention proves that there are no ideological political parties in the U. S.

It also proves that not all doves, wherever they are, are birds of a feather inside a single political party.

Some just come in out of the cold for a while.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society is currently conducting its annual MS Hope Chest campaign. And your support is urgently needed.

During the twenty years in which the Society has been in operation, more has been learned about the disease than ever before in history. Since its founding in 1946, the Society has expended approximately seven million dollars in research grants and research fellowships.

During the same period, sister MS Societies were being formed throughout the world and in October of 1966, a world-wide Federation of Multiple Sclerosis Societies was formed. Its purpose is to coordinate and accelerate medical research seeking the cause and cure of MS and to develop services to individuals who are disabled by MS and related diseases. The International Federation will collect and disseminate scientific and educational information relating to multiple sclerosis.

It is hoped that through this world-wide effort the cause and cure for MS will be found. Not knowing where it will be discovered, the Society will continue to support research to investigate all hopeful direct approaches to uncover the reasons for MS and related diseases, and to find an effective treatment. To this end the National Society's Board of Directors budgeted one million dollars for 1967. The Society needs your help to carry forward its research program. Please give generously when the MS volunteer calls.

Her highest salaried roles are dietitian, seamstress and cook at $2.50 an hour each. But she works only 15.6 hours a week at these tasks. Her major role is nursemaid, 44.5 hours out of a 99.6-hour work week, pays only $1.25 an hour.

The survey concluded that a housewive does not serve as a compensable hostess.

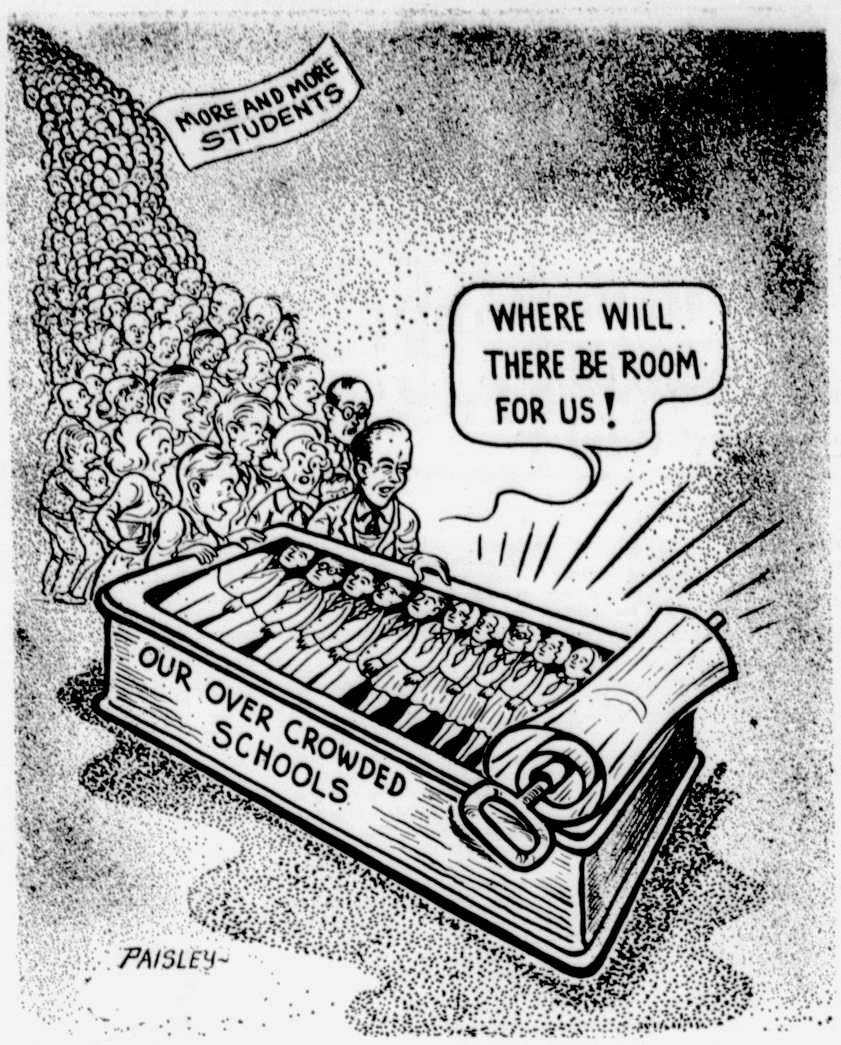

Turning to the ambassador's wife, the survey deleted the roles of dishwasher, laundress, seamstress, maintenance man, gardener and chauffeur—on the theory the ambassador's wife would have domestic help. It was assumed she would do a substantial amount of entertaining—rated at 12 hours a week at $3.57 an hour for a hostess.

The survey concluded that the ambassador's wife worked only 92.2 hours a week, but earned $8,700 a year, thanks largely to her hostess role.

The least-valued woman in the survey was the diplomatic attache's wife. Assigned a hostess salary of only $2.15 an hour and deprived of the payrolls of dishwasher, laundress and seamstress, she would earn only $8,000 a year for 94.5 hours a week.

The survey noted that education, common sense, and discretion were among the less financially measureable, but vital attributes of any wife.

Hal Boyle is ill.

POOR GOOSE

(There was once a farmer who had a goose. One day he found that the goose had laid a golden egg, and every day thereafter the goose laid an egg of purest gold. But in time the farmer became greedy, and he decided that if he killed the goose he could have her entire treasure at once. So he cut her open to find nothing at all.

Moral; Don't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.)

Everyone is familiar with this story, probably the most famous of Aesop's fables. Unfortunately, many of us seem to have forgotten the moral.

Certainly it has been forgotten by those politicians and professors who urge us to do away with free enterprise--our wealth-producing goose--in favor of hare-brained schemes with no more productive capacity than the dead goose of the fable.

It has obviously been forgotten by labor potentates and minor poobahs constantly calling for "authorized work stoppages" and wildcat strikes, with the result that our poor goose of an economy grows weak and groggy from their repeated assaults.

It seems to have been forgotten even by some businessmen who appear to be blissfully unaware that their gold-producing goose is threatened from many quarters. Not the least of the threats comes from abroad, from a conniving enemy as greedy for the goose's gold as was Aesop's farmer. But make no mistake, that enemy would like nothing better than to carve up the long-suffering critter.

Maybe what we ought to do is make the goose our national bird and then post stiff penalties against anyone who makes any kind of pass at it.

Repent your sins, prepare to die,
For you must come and sleep with I.
After a reasonable length of time the bereaved husband went to the stonecutter, requesting this addition to his wife's message:

For I have got another wife.
I cannot come and sleep with thee,
For I must go and sleep with she.

H. L. Hunt Says

DISTRICT OR DISTRICT VOTING

Need for Reform of the archaic system by which the United States names its President is generally admitted. Some advocates of Reform favor a constitutional amendment abolishing the Electoral College and providing for the election of the President and Vice President by a majority of the total popular vote. Other students of the problem see much greater merit in CONDIRP, the Congressional District Reform Plan.

Direct voting would do little to reduce the power of the political machines in mid-city sections of large metropolitan areas. It would promote the growth of small splinter political parties, causing frequent run-off elections. And with direct elections, the states would no longer be "Electoral entities" in choosing the President. This would be a serious blow to our Republic, striking down one of the basic tenets of the Founders of Freedom in our Republic.

CONDIRP offers none of these disadvantages. This is the plan under which every voter would vote for an elector from his Congressional District and two electors from the state at large. No longer would a candidate for President get all the electoral votes of a state simply by virtue of having some votes - and it could conceivably be just one vote - more than his nearest rival. The voting power of every American would be equal to that of every other voter.

Congress at this session can approve for submission to the states, a constitutional amendment that would put this fair and equitable method of electing our President and Vice President into effect as soon as enough states ratified it. HLH.

Doc. Duncan Says

Gramp what's you ida on them anti constitution, anti-gun boys?

My guess is they aint concerned bout keepin guns out of the hands of hoods. They know that can't be done. Besides that's where they git their big vote from sometimes. Most folks thinks they is more concerned bout putting their brand of dictatorship on the people by force of law. They got cooked up and waitin - all of it contrary to all our nation has stood fur since our forefathers left it in our hans for protection. Then too, they want to fix it so's extortionist can do their stuff widout molestation.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- No one is likely to admit it officially, but American special forces are now venturing into Laos and even North Vietnam itself to spy upon the Communist infiltration routes.

The Americans are Guerrilla specialists who speak the Vietnamese language and are at home in the jungle. Their chief function is to radio information about enemy movements to command posts, which in turn direct our planes where to strike.

Sometimes jets, already in the air over Vietnam, will hit a target within minutes after special forces have spotted it.

The chief object of this secret surveillance is the famous Ho Chi Minh trail, which is actually a network of jungles trails running from North Vietnam, through Laos, into South Vietnam. Some trails are footpaths; others are wide enough to handle trucks and tanks.

The American infiltrators have reported eveything from elephants to bicycles hauling weapons through the jungle. Thousands of coolies, carrying packs on their backs or balancing bundles on the ends of bamboo poles, move like ants down the trails.

Heavier equipment is dismantled and hauled in parts on bicycles, which have been converted into one - man cargo carriers. Rockets and heavy artillery are lashed to the backs of animals or loaded upon trucks. The Viet Cong have learned to space their trucks a mile apart, so the planes can never catch a convoy lined up like ducks.

UNRELIABLE SPIES

At first, the Central Intelligence Agency hired Laotians and Vietnamese to spy upon the Ho Chi Minh trail. All too often, they took the CIA's money, then disappeared, presumably to spend it. What radio reports were received from inside Laos and North Vietnam weren't always accurate.

As a result, the army and CIA started putting Americans in charge of the reconnaissance teams. Sometimes they are hopped into North Vietnam by helicopter; sometimes they parachute into enemy territory.

They have been called the "Gray Ghosts," because some have worn gray uniforms, or the "Black Paratroopers" because of their black parachutes.

They are most active at night when the infiltration traffic is also heaviest. Vice President Hubert Humphrey has argued inside the policy councils that the United States should send Guerrilla teams into North Vietnam on commando raids, thus giving them a taste of their own Viet Cong medicine. Up to now, however, the special forces teams are sent into enemy territory to spy; they engage in virtually no sabotage operations.

The Communists are fully aware of their presence, of course, so there is no military reason for all the secrecy.

ALIENATING NEGRO VOTE

At a time when Adam Clayton Powell and the Rev. Martin Luther King are calling upon Negroes to leave the Democratic party, Rep. Mike Kirwan, the grizzled and grumpy chairman of the committee for re-election of Democratic congressman, gave them added reason to defect by excluding them from recognition at the sumptuous fund - raising dinner last week.

Negroes were permitted to buy tickets to the dinner and listen to President Johnson orate. But that was about all. The long list of planners printed on the dinner program didn't contain a single Negro name.

Rep. William Dawson, D-Ill., the venerable Negro leader, happens to be vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Secretary of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. Yet he wasn't so much as consulted about the dinner.

Dawson paid his $250 and took his seat with the Illinois delegation. But he was completely ignored at the dinner. Other Negroes in congress got the same brush - off.

It was a different story in 1948 when the party was flat broke and needed money for Harry Truman's Presidential campaign. Dawson raised hundreds of thousands of dollars among Negroes to keep Truman in the White House.

Again, in the 1960 Presidential election, Dawson delivered enough Negro votes in Chicago to nose out Richard Nixon in Illinois and clinch the victory for John Kennedy.

The reason Kirwan squeezed Dawson out of the dinner arrangements, according to insiders, is that Kirwan doesn't like to dilute his power in the party. The proceeds from these fund - raising affairs are poured each year into his Democratic campaign committee to reelect Democratic congressmen. If Kirwan likes them, he gives them generous campaign funds. If he doesn't like them, or if they vote against the $3 million "Kirwan Ditch" to connect Youngstown with Pittsburgh via canal, then they get meager funds.

It's one - man committee rule in its most flagrant form, illustrating one of the greatest defects of the present congressional system. You can understand why Kirwan doesn't want to share his power with any other congressman, white or Negro.

LITERARY WASHINGTON

Bill Douglas, the most prolific member of the supreme court both in books and opinions, has just written a volume which should bring some nostalgic memories to LBJ. It's called "Farewell to Texas -- A Vanishing Wilderness." Bill doesn't say so, but some people think that the Texas wilderness has not entirely vanished, merely been transplanted to Washington. . . Dan Tyler Moore, wartime super spy, has turned out an opus, "Wolves, Windows and Orphans," aimed at protecting widows and orphans from the wolves both on Wall Street and elsewhere. Moore exposes more ways to cheat than some congressmen ever dreamed of.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Waterfront Union Chief Whipping Up Friendship For Peking, China.

Portland, Ore.: -- Not many bearded hippies, from the houseboats of Sausalito to the sands of the Mexican border, could look at a neatly tailored, tense thin man of 65 called Harry Bridges and recognize him for the revolutionist he was on the Pacific waterfronts. The generations are passing him by. But he's still American labor's toughest champion of the Communist world.

For 30 years now he has been reelected president of the Pacific dockwallopers, the International Longshoremen's and Warehouseman's Union. And he's still doing business at the old political stand -- but with startlingly respectable customers.

He has strong friends in Congress these days though he is pressuring the State Dept. to permit him to fly to Peking, China, dispatch union delegations to the Chinese mainland and send union groups to North Korea and to Hanoi.

He wants recognition of Communist China, now. He wants trade with Mao's land, now. He wants Peking and not Taipei in the United Nations and its Security Council, now.

'Arry, as his needlers love to call him, does not trumpet across the nation nor whip up waterfronts, as he used to in bloodier days. So he might have escaped a traveler's notice if, in the course of political discussions, Bridges' ties to a bloc of congressmen had not come up.

Especially his friendship and political intimacy with the brand new Republican senator from Oregon, Mark Hatfield. In the East the political aviary is so filled with doves and hawks that only an occasional screech of fluttering feather is noted. Certainly it did not come to the public attention that Sen. Mark Hatfield had spoken as he did at the 17th biennial convention of Bridges' union which has been backing the Oregonian for years.

At this convention of 316 delegates representing 68 locals in all our strategic Pacific states, Mark Hatfield was cheered again and again. At the end there was a long standing ovation.

To the Eastern observer, this is remarkable news, for in the allegedly sophisticated saloons of New York and Washington the gentleman from Oregon is mentioned as a possible Republican national candidate.

This union which Mark Hatfield addressed recently was ousted from the labor movement in 1950 after the presentation of a brief to a board of its peers by the now Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. It was voted out on charges that it followed the Soviet line.

The roster of its leaders discloses it has changed mighty little. To this gathering came Sen. Hatfield. His appearance marks a changing time. Few politicos would have chanced it a generation ago.

Hatfield hurled verbal mortars on Lyndon Johnson, and the American position in Southeast Asia. He hit hard. He was cheered lustily. So ardent were the delegates, they voted to reprint his speech and publish it in The Dispatcher, the union newspaper, so that the tens of thousands of members could read it. This was done in the April 14th edition about a week after the convention closed.

The senator spoke the delegates' language. He reminded them that his father-in-law is a retired member of Portland Local 8. The senator was cheered when he said that his father - in - law had marched in the bloody period -- presumably the '30s when they really bloodied the San Francisco Embarcadero. Hatfield also spoke of his father's membership in the Railway Brotherhood.

The senator's feeling of kinship for the longshoremen's union is his privilege. Certainly there is no remote denial of his right to appear on any platform he chooses. But the news is that he did choose a convention at which this country and its leaders, and the labor movement and its leaders except for Jimmy Hoffa, were bitterly attacked again and again.

This does mark the changing scene. Perhaps only in Vermont's Sen. Aiken could Sen. Hatfield find a kindred soul who would, and has ventured to a union convention of this philosophical type. This speech and the presence of a Republican senator at this recent convention proves that there are no ideological political parties in the U.S.

It also proves that not all doves, wherever they are, are birds of a feather inside a single political party.

Some just come in out of the cold for a while.

Play's Final Performance Friday Night

Between 50 and 60 Sikeston people will go to Caruthersville Friday to stage the Little Theatre production. "South Pacific," in the new high school auditorium there at 8 p.m.

A chartered bus and a 40-foot trailer will take the cast, crew and sets for the final performance of the season.

The play will be sponsored by the Caruthersville Community Betterment committee. Wayne Bond of Caruthersville is in charge of arrangements. The Caruthersville city council approved the presentation.

Mrs. James Terrell, director, said today that it takes one day to set up for the performance. She said that the Little Theatre will take its own sound equipment. She said that profits from the performance will go into a fund to build an auditorium for Sikeston.

Lynda Johnson Dating Banker

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, who frequently is escorted by actor George Hamilton, also is dating a 37-year-old investment banker, the New York Post reported Wednesday.

He is John L. Loeb Jr., son of the senior partner in Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co., an investment banking firm.

Lynda and Loeb were first seen together last February, the Post said, when Lynda was hostess at a party for Princess Irene of Greece. They were together at the theater here in April, and at a ball.

The newspaper quotes Loeb as saying he and Lynda are "very good friends" and that their parents have been friends for years. His mother, Frances Lehman Loeb, is a niece of the late New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and has been active in Republican politics.

"I think they're very charming together," Mrs. Loeb said. "She's a lovely girl and obviously she needs an escort when she's in town."

Loeb was married in 1960 and divorced three years later. He has a 5-year-old daughter.

Miss Judy Nunnelee

Miss Nunnelee Gives Recital

CHARLESTON - Miss Judy Nunnelee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nunnelee and a senior at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, gave her senior voice recital May 11 at 8 p.m. in the University's Raley chapel.

Miss Nunnelee studied with William James Brown and Ted Harris. Her recital partially fulfills the requirements for a bachelor of music degree in voice. She will graduate May 28.

For her recital, Miss Nunnelee chose two arias by Mozart, "Ridente La Calma" and "Non Mi Dir;" a series of eight lieder from "Frauenliebe and Leben" by Robert Schumann; "Extase" by Henri Duparc; "J'ai Pleure en Rene" by Goerge Hue; Mascagni's "Val Lo Sapeti;" and three contemporary pieces, "Rain Has Fallen" by Samuel Barber, "Music I Heard With You" by Conrad Aiken, and "Under the Greenwood Tree" by Douglas Moore.

Man Charged In Slaying

CHESTER, Ill. -- Jerome Miller has been charged with the last Thursday night armed robbery and slaying of a Chester bridge tollkeeper.

The 25 - year - old factory worker appeared in circuit court, Monday.

Miller was given until Monday to hire an attorney in lieu of the court appointing one. Miller will then appear before a grand jury which on the basis of evidence will decide whether to indict him.

Miller, who worked in a St. Louis automobile plant and commuted from his home in Chester, was arrested about 28 hours after Joseph Gagnepain, 52 years old, was fatally wounded during a holdup.

Chester police reported Gagnepain was shot through the head with a .38 caliber pistol and robbed of about $50 just before 11 p.m.

Miller was apprehended Saturday after officers got a description of Miller's car which police said was parked near the tollhouse at the time of the slaying.

Officers reported part of the stolen money and a .38 caliber revolver were found in the trunk of Miller's car when they searched it.

Miller remained in Randolph County jail. He will not be released on bond, Sheriff Vernon Uffelmann said.

PRAYER OF GROWING OLD

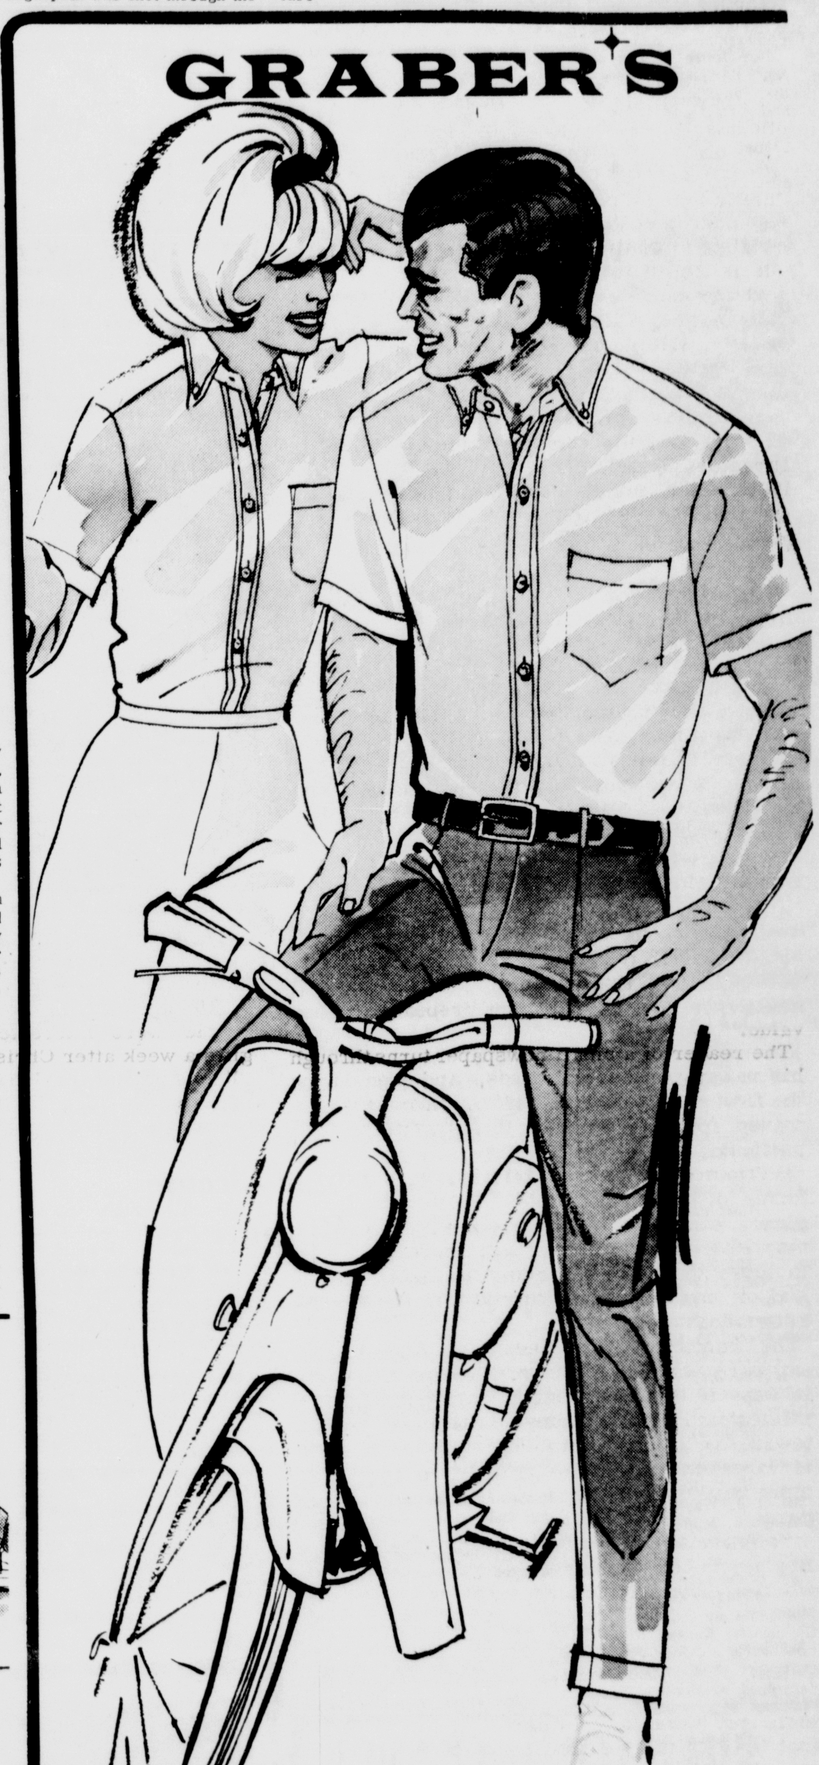

Dearest Lord, in bounteous grace,
Help us accept our wrinkled face---
Knowing that your watchful care
Made smiles, not frowns, entrenched them there.
May we, in calm, when old bones creak
Accept the cause, nor try to seek
A youthful life, but learn to rest,
When aches and pains say "This is best."

Help us express our gratitude
For loving care and daily food,
But, Lord, please watch too constant talk,
Guard our tongues where e'er we walk,

Help us pursue a hobby where

Marilyn Kaye Russell Weds William Helms III

EAST PRAIRIE -- Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Russell announce the marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Kaye, to William Helms III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Helms, Jr., of Sikeston.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Robert Carrow May 5 at 5 p.m. in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Lester Farrenburg, in Morley.

Mrs. Alvin Farrenburg was matron of honor. Alvin Farrenburg, the bride's cousin, attended Helms.

After a wedding trip, the couple will live in Sikeston, where the groom is employed.

Services Will End Sunday

Revival services at the First Church of the Nazarene will continue through Sunday night. The Rev. George P. Woodward of Monongalela, Penn., chalk artist, is evangelist.

The Rev. Mr. Woodward draws as he preaches. Sunday at 9:45 a.m. during Sunday School, he will do trick chalk talk pictures. In the morning service Sunday at 10:45 a.m., he will illustrate his message, "His Gracious Spirit."

At 7 p.m. Sunday he will illustrate a song, "Your Roses May Have Thorns," and his message, "His Peculiar Riddle," with two trick pictures and eight changes of scenery.

Week day services begin at 7:30 p.m.

Allen Kinsey celebrated his 10th birthday in the afternoon. Cake and ice cream was served.

In our parish in Kansas the Altar and Rosary society was discussing the changes in the Church brought about by Pope John and the Vatican Council. Some of the older members didn't like the new ways of doing things, and were being very outspoken in their criticism. But one little old lady of about 80 topped them all. She raised her hand and said, "All I can say is that I am thankful that Pope John died while he was still a Catholic."

Play's Final Performance Friday Night

Between 50 and 60 Sikeston people will go to Caruthersville Friday to stage the Little Theatre production. "South Pacific," in the new high school auditorium there at 8 p.m.

A chartered bus and a 40-foot trailer will take the cast, crew and sets for the final performance of the season.

The play will be sponsored by the Caruthersville Community Betterment committee. Wayne Bond of Caruthersville is in charge of arrangements. The Caruthersville city council approved the presentation.

Mrs. James Terrell, director, said today that it takes one day to set up for the performance. She said that the Little Theatre will take its own sound equipment. She said that profits from the performance will go into a fund to build an auditorium for Sikeston.

Lynda Johnson Dating Banker

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, who frequently is escorted by actor George Hamilton, also is dating a 37-year-old investment banker, the New York Post reported Wednesday.

He is John L. Loeb Jr., son of the senior partner in Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co., an investment banking firm.

Lynda and Loeb were first seen together last February, the Post said, when Lynda was hostess at a party for Princess Irene of Greece. They were together at the theater here in April, and at a ball.

The newspaper quotes Loeb as saying he and Lynda are "very good friends" and that their parents have been friends for years. His mother, Frances Lehman Loeb, is a niece of the late New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and has been active in Republican politics.

"I think they're very charming together," Mrs. Loeb said. "She's a lovely girl and obviously she needs an escort when she's in town."

Loeb was married in 1960 and divorced three years later. He has a 5-year-old daughter.

Miss Judy Nunnelee

Miss Nunnelee Gives Recital

CHARLESTON - Miss Judy Nunnelee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nunnelee and a senior at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, gave her senior voice recital May 11 at 8 p.m. in the University's Raley chapel.

Miss Nunnelee studied with William James Brown and Ted Harris. Her recital partially fulfills the requirements for a bachelor of music degree in voice. She will graduate May 28.

For her recital, Miss Nunnelee chose two arias by Mozart, "Ridente La Calma" and "Non Mi Dir;" a series of eight lieder from "Frauenliebe and Leben" by Robert Schumann; "Extase" by Henri Duparc; "J'ai Pleure en Rene" by Goerge Hue; Mascagni's "Val Lo Sapeti;" and three contemporary pieces, "Rain Has Fallen" by Samuel Barber, "Music I Heard With You" by Conrad Aiken, and "Under the Greenwood Tree" by Douglas Moore.

Man Charged In Slaying

CHESTER, Ill. -- Jerome Miller has been charged with the last Thursday night armed robbery and slaying of a Chester bridge tollkeeper.

The 25 - year - old factory worker appeared in circuit court, Monday.

Miller was given until Monday to hire an attorney in lieu of the court appointing one. Miller will then appear before a grand jury which on the basis of evidence will decide whether to indict him.

Miller, who worked in a St. Louis automobile plant and commuted from his home in Chester, was arrested about 28 hours after Joseph Gagnepain, 52 years old, was fatally wounded during a holdup.

Chester police reported Gagnepain was shot through the head with a .38 caliber pistol and robbed of about $50 just before 11 p.m.

Miller was apprehended Saturday after officers got a description of Miller's car which police said was parked near the tollhouse at the time of the slaying.

Officers reported part of the stolen money and a .38 caliber revolver were found in the trunk of Miller's car when they searched it.

Miller remained in Randolph County jail. He will not be released on bond, Sheriff Vernon Uffelmann said.

PRAYER OF GROWING OLD

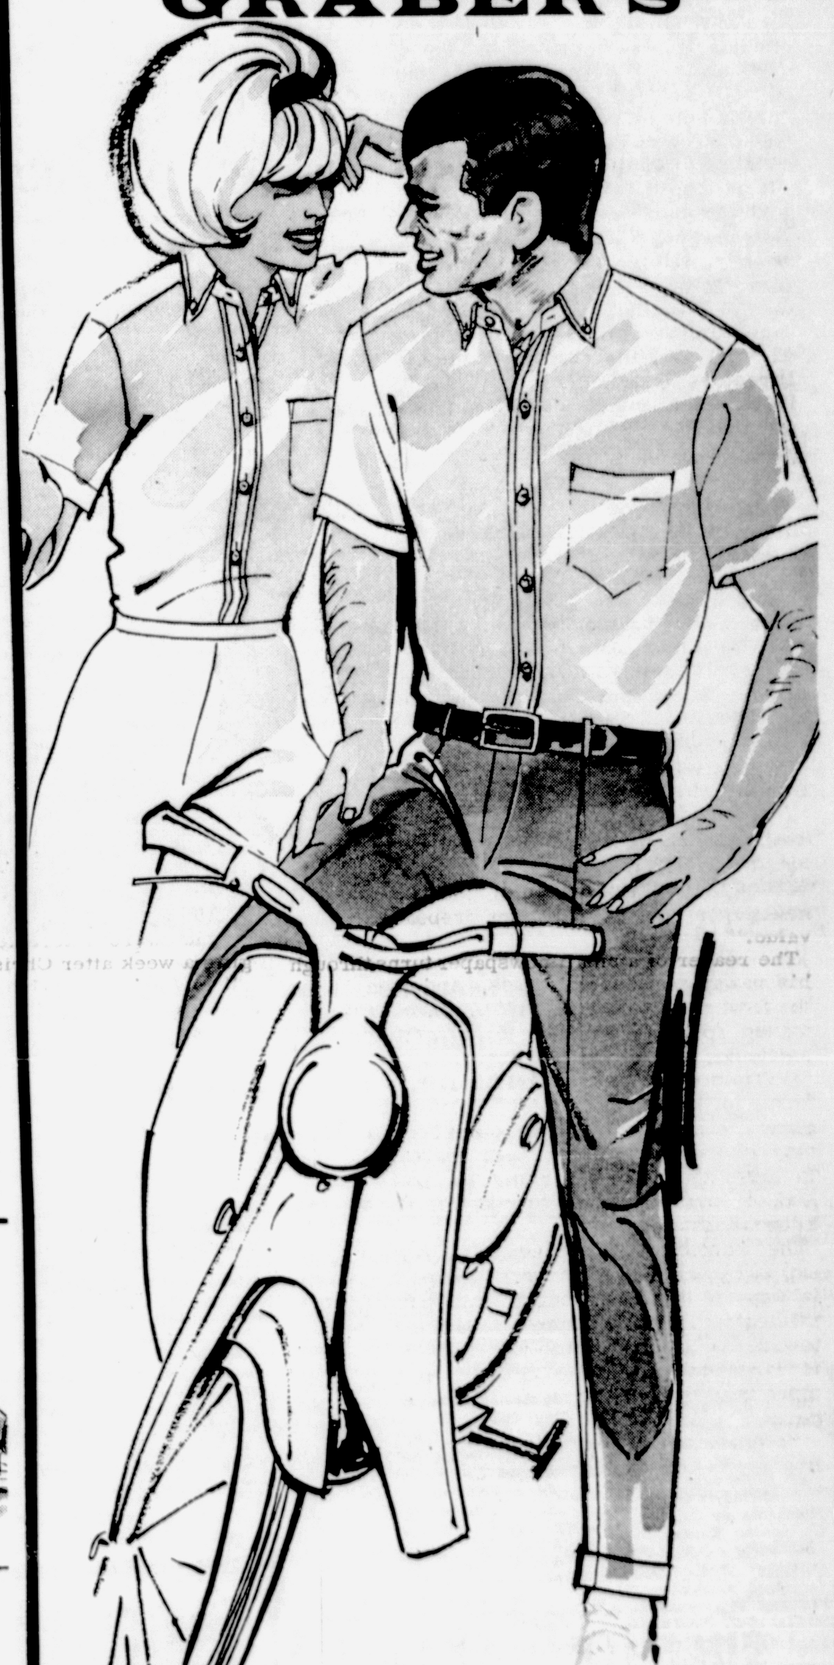

Dearest Lord, in bounteous grace,
Help us accept our wrinkled face---
Knowing that your watchful care
Made smiles, not frowns, entrenched them there.
May we, in calm, when old bones creak
Accept the cause, nor try to seek
A youthful life, but learn to rest,
When aches and pains say "This is best."

Help us express our gratitude
For loving care and daily food,
But, Lord, please watch too constant talk,
Guard our tongues where e'er we walk,

Help us pursue a hobby where
We'll keep for hours out of others' hair,
And may our nearest never be
Victims of our senility.
Amen.

McCarver's Pinch Homer Sinks Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Probably the guy on whom an extra-inning baseball game is toughest is the poor catcher going up and down behind the plate, wearing all that heavy gear.

So Joe Torre and Tim McCarver, a couple of receivers, decided they'd rather not stick around for more than the regulation nine innings.

Torre, Atlanta's All-Star catcher, cracked a leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, lifting the Braves to a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night and McCarver came off the St. Louis bench and socked a leadoff homer in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

For Torre it was home run No. 9 this season, tying him for the major league lead with teammate Hank Aaron, who had a two-run shot against the Mets earlier.

McCarver's pinch-hit shot was his third of the year and raised his batting average to .318.

In other games Wednesday, San Francisco topped Chicago 4-2, Cincinnati took Pittsburgh 3-1 and Los Angeles rapped Houston 7-0.

Aaron's two-run shot in the sixth inning had tied it for the Braves against young Tom Seaver, who helped his own cause by driving two New York runs with three straight hits.

Then Torre's leadoff shot in the ninth ended it.

Left-handed hitting McCarver was on the bench against southpaw Chris Short, who cruised through the first five innings, retiring 15 straight batters. But when right-hander Dick Farrell came on in relief, McCarver batted for John Romano opening the bottom of the ninth.

His shot into the right-field seats gave the Cards their victory.

Tito Fuentes ripped a two-out two-run double in the sixth inning that carried the Giants past the Cubs. Fuentes connected against loser Curt Simmons following two walks.

Mike McCormick won his fourth for the Giants with late-inning help from Frank Linzy. It was San Francisco's sixth victory in the last seven games.

The first-place Reds won their fifth straight with Tony Perez driving in two runs and Sammy Ellis going all the way for his fourth victory.

Ellis gave up nine scattered hits and was nicked for a run in the second but held the Pirates off the rest of the way.

The Dodgers ran up a quick seven-run lead against Houston and it was more than enough for Don Sutton, who won his first game after four straight losses.

Wes Parker homered for Los Angeles and three Dodger runs crossed the plate in the third on a bases-loaded throwing error by Sonny Jackson. Mike Cuellar was the loser.

Orioles Head AL Homer Barrage

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell is building up a following as a philosopher.

"Just swing, that's my philosophy," the Baltimore first baseman said Wednesday night. "But swing hard in case you hit it."

Well, the boys were swinging hard in the Oriole-Boston game, and they were hitting it.

Ten home runs sailed out of Fenway Park — seven by Baltimore and three by the home-town Red Sox — in the game won 12-8 by the Orioles.

The 10 homers were one shy of the major league record for two teams in a game; Baltimore's four blasts in the seventh were one short of the mark for homers by a team in one inning and the total of five in the seventh tied the record for homers by two teams in an inning.

In all, there were 21 homers hit in the American League Wednesday night, with five coming in Cleveland's 8-7 victory over the New York Yankees.

Detroit crushed Washington 8-1, California topped Kansas City 7-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 5-4 in other AL action.

There was a stiff wind blowing out generally from home plate in Fenway, but hitters on both clubs thought the homers were hit well enough to be homers there regardless of the wind.

However, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson thought the wind did affect the pitchers psychologically.

"With the wind blowing out like that," he said, "a pitcher can't make any mistakes."

The trouble started in the very first inning when Paul Blair of the Orioles hit a solo homer and Boston's Don Demeter connected with two on.

Brooks Robinson homered with none on in the second and teammate Frank Robinson did the same in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski belted a two-run blast in the Boston fifth.

Then came the wild seventh. Andy Etchebarren hit a three-run shot and pinch hitter Sam Bowens followed with a solo belt. After another run scored on a pair of doubles, Powell connected with two aboard and Dave Johnson followed with another solo shot.

Yastrzemski concluded the barrage by homering with one on in the bottom of the inning.

Cleveland built up an 8-2 lead behind Leon Wagner's grand slam and Fred Whitfield's three-run homer and then held off the Yankees, who fought back with five runs in the seventh, including a three-run homer by Tom Tresh and a bases-empty wallop by Mickey Mantle, his 501st.

Joe Pepitone earlier hit a two-run shot for New York.

Willie Horton drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Jim Northrup hit a grand slam in leading Detroit past Washington. Fred Valentine homered for Washington.

California snapped a six-game losing streak with its victory over Kansas City. Rick Reichardt and Don Mincher each drove in two runs for the winners. Reichardt's RBI came on a home run.

The White Sox broke a jinx in beating Minnesota. It was their first victory over Jim Kaat in 10 decisions dating back to Sept. 10, 1964. Joel Horlen ran his record to 5-0 although he needed relief help.

Chicago wrapped up the game with three runs in the fourth. Harmon Killebrew drove in two Minnesota runs with a double and homer.

Hunting, Fishing License Sales Up in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Hunting, fishing and related sports are on the increase in Missouri, but may be declining in many states.

Figures just released by the Missouri Department of Conservation show increases in sales of all hunting and fishing permits in 1966. The increase averages 7.4 per cent for all kinds of permits.

The largest increases were in the numbers of resident hunting, fishing and deer hunting permits issued in 1966. Resident hunting permit sales increased 7.3 per cent from 191,201 in 1976 to 205,306 last year. The department issued 474,368 resident fishing permits last year, compared with 449,515 the previous year, for an increase of 5.5 per cent.

While sales of all Missouri permits were on the rise, those in other states were declining. The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has announced a nationwide decrease of 807,486 hunting permits and 1,436,897 fishing permits. The Missouri figures are based on the calendar year, and the nationwide figures are on the fiscal year.

Missouri last year ranked fourth nationally in the sale of fishing permits, following only California, Minnesota and Michigan, and topping fifth-ranked Wisconsin by nearly 40,000 permits.

Soccer Imports Adjust To U.S. Leisure Time

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While professional soccer is struggling for recognition as a major sport in the United States, the imported players of the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association are struggling with the often confusing customs that Americans have come to take for granted.

Take, for example, Geoffrey Sidebottom, goalkeeper for the New York Generals in the National Professional circuit.

"At home," says Sidebottom, "I spent a great deal of time fishing. But now that I live on Long Island I don't know where to go. I now use all my extra time watching television and building a model boat."

"Home" for Sidebottom, who became a professional at 17, was Wolverhampton, England, where the articulate athlete was a standout in the nets for the Wolverhampton Wolves. "I've always been a goaltender," Sidebottom says, "but it can be a bit dull at times. When your own team is on the attack you tend to lose your concentration. There's nothing worse than just standing about."

So far, Sidebottom hasn't had the opportunity to lose his concentration with the Generals.

Although he looks healthy enough, Sidebottom says eating was his major problem when he first arrived in the United States. "No offense intended," he notes, "but I found it rather hard to get used to the way people cook here. But we solved that problem quite nicely. I now live with three other players —Barry Wright, Barry Mahy and Mick Ash. Wright and Ash are married and their wives do the cooking. It's just like being home."

Television, a vast wasteland to many Americans, is more of a wonderland to Sidebottom and his friends. "I think it's quite good," he says with a firmness of tone that would make Newton Minow blink. "Especially the movies. I do feel there are too many breaks for messages and the like but on several occasions we've stayed up to 3 or 3:30 in the morning watching the movies. Barry Wright never had much of an opportunity takes his eyes off the set."

Sidebottom has no illusions about soccer replacing baseball as the national sport, but he thinks there's plenty of room for the European game on this side of the Atlantic.

"The average American doesn't know much about soccer," Sidebottom says, "but people do seem interested in the game and I think they're willing to learn what it's all about."

For his part, Sidebottom would like to learn more about professional football but would just as soon ignore baseball.

"I watched the Yankees play Cincinnati in Florida this spring," Sidebottom recalls, "and it seemed like a very dull sport. I suppose if you know the game well, there are certain things you can look for, but it's not a very interesting game for someone unfamiliar with the finer points of the sport."

Simmons' 400th Win Near But Tiger Title Hopes Dim

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hi Simmons of Missouri has a good chance to get his 400th career coaching victory this weekend. His chances of overtaking Oklahoma State for a 12th Big Eight baseball championship aren't so good, but Simmons still has hope.

"Oklahoma State has played only five innings of baseball since April 29 and could be rusty," Simmons said. "Also, we've been playing under pressure lately and now perhaps it's their turn to feel a little pressure."

OSU has a 10-3 won-lost record and can clinch it all by winning two of three from Iowa State at Stillwater Friday and Saturday. Missouri stands 12-6 after seven straight victories, but the best Mizzou can do is .714 with a sweep over Colorado at Columbia.

OSU could finish .733 with a 1-1 split and one rainout. A title tie at either .714 or .667 is possible. In that event OSU would be the Big Eight representative again in the NCAA playoffs, because the Cowboys beat Missouri twice in their three-game series.

Colorado may not be an easy sweep victim for Missouri. One reason is Taylor Toomey, tall and talkative left-hander a 1.50 earned runaverage.

Another reason is Colorado's recent success against Missouri. CU won two of three from the Tigers last season at Boulder and stunned them with two of three in 1965 at Columbia, almost knocking them out of a title.

Missouri is well in front with 111 runs and a .290 team average but this has been true all season. The big reason for the Tiger surge is vastly improved pitching and defense with a revamped lineup. The leader is Jerry Hurt with a 5-0 league record and 1.57 earned run mark, but Mike McFarland, a big right-hander, is also a big factor.

Missouri ranks 1-2-3 in hitting with Gary Lear at .395, Gene Stephenson .377 and Ray Thorpe .377. Nebraska's Al Furby is still the ERA leaderat 0.65 with OSU ranking 2-3-4 with Larry Patterson at 1.20, Bill Maxwell and Larry Burchart 1.44.

In the scramble for the other positions in the standings, Kansas, 6-11, is at K-State, 8-7:

Outdoorsmen Ready for New Season

JEFFERSON CITY -- The end of May is the beginning of the outdoors season for many sportsmen, although most of Missouri's fishing seasons and a few hunting seasons are open in the winter and early spring.

Aside from trout park fishing, Missouri only has one closed fishing season and that will open May 30. Although the season on black bass is open throughout the year in most areas, it is closed briefly after Feb. 28, and then only in the streams south of the Missouri River and north and west of the southeast lowlands, or bootheel, region.

The rabbit season, closed since March 1, and the squirrel season, closed since Jan. 1, will also reopen on May 30. Although many hunters needlessly fear summer rabbits and hesitate to brave Missouri's woods during the tick and chigger season, the young rabbits and squirrels available early in the season make excellent eating.

7 Bulldogs In State Meet

Seven Sikeston high school track and field performers are scheduled to leave tomorrow for Columbia and Saturday's appearance in the class L state meet at Memorial stadium.

The seven Bulldogs qualified for state meet competition in last week's district meet on the Sikeston field. First, second and third place winners in the district event qualified for the state meeting.

John Childress, Riley Cross, Arthur Jackson and Roger Blackman qualified as members of the district meet's second place 880-yard relay team. Blackman and Childress also teamed with Bruce Killian and Jim Hailey for a third place finish in the mile relay and berth in the state meet. Allen Craig rounded out the list of Bulldog qualifiers with a third place pole vault finish.

Accompanied by Coach Norman Lambert, the Sikeston delegation will join more than 400 other qualifiers in Saturday's 65th annual state meet. Preliminaries are scheduled at 10 a.m. and the finals will start at noon.

Kansas City Central, the defending champion, will seek its third title in a row.

Big Records Face Test

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)— Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world's best middle distance runner, and Nebraska's Charlie Greene, king of the sprinters, are expected to lead an assault on the record book comparable to the 1959 and 1966 meets in the 39th Big Eight outdoor track meet starting here Friday.

Ten meet records were smashed and one equalled in the 1959 meet— last one held on Oklahoma's fast nine-lane red clay track at Jacobs Field. Three of those marks are still on the books, but two— the 220 low hurdles and 2-mile— are no longer run in the conference meet.

Seven marks were broken and one equalled in the 1966 meet at Missouri, the swiftest Big Eight meet ever run with a great 45.9 quarter, 1.47.7 half and Greene's dazzling 9.3 and 20.8 double in the 100 and 220.

The 20-year-old Ryun has run a 3:51.3 mile and 1:44.9 half-mile, but the events are only 40 minutes apart Saturday. He'll be running for points, not records. Ryun may be forced to run under four minutes by a strong mile field which includes Kansas State's Conrad Nightingale, meet record holder at 4:00.9.

If that happens, Ryun could be upset in the half by Jim Metcalf of Oklahoma State, who was second last year in 1:47.8. Ryun's only collegiate 880 defeat came in the NCAA indoor, 90 minutes after he ran a 4:08 mile prelim.

A lot of sprinters have talked about beating Greene and the latest is Oklahoma's George Aldredge, primed to upset him in the 220.

But the fast-talking little Seattle native is unbeaten in his college career except for a dual meet in freezing weather at Wisconsin, when Charlie refused to take his warmups off, to protect his legs.

Greene is always ready for the outdoor meet and he's picked here for another 100 and 220 double, plus a 46.5 mile relay quarter if needed. Unless Ryun sets two marks, Greene may get a third straight Schulte Award.

Ryun, the incredible sophomore, has a 3:54.7 mile and 1:48.1 this season, but not on the same day. Six others have exceeded meet marks. They are Chris McCubbins, Oklahoma State, 13:38.7 three-mile; Steve Herndon, Missouri; Larry Curts, OSU, 16-5 pole vault; Mike Gregory, Oklahoma, 25-1 long jump; George Byers, Kansas, 13.8 high hurdles and Gary Ard, Kansas, 50-4½ triple jump.

Oklahoma also has run a 40.3 and 3:08.4, both under the 440 and mile relay marks. OU is relying on its great quarter-miler, Bill Calhoun, plus deep talent in the high jump, sprints, long jump and triple jump.

Ard is one of five injured Kansas men who could score 50 to 60 points if well. Assuming he can place high in only one jump, OU could get a 34-8 lick in the long jump and triple jump. The form chart then would show Oklahoma 123, defending champ Nebraska 97, Kansas 85, Colorado 61, OSU 60, Missouri 53, K-State 25 and Iowa State 23.

Derby Winner Gets Sub Trainer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Training race horses is nothing new for 53-year-old Jim Mahoney. He's been around thoroughbreds just about as long as he can remember. But he admits he's nervous. The reason is, he is filling in for the ailing Loyd (Boo) Gentry as trainer of Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion.

Proud Clarion, who paid $62.20, for $2 after his one-length triumph in the Derby, is one of nine 3-year-olds pointing for Saturday's 92nd running of the $150,000-added Preakness, second and richest of the Triple Crown series which also includes the Derby and Belmont Stakes.

Gentry, who brought the Darby Dan Farm colt up to the Derby in perfect condition while struggling to keep on his own feet, is in a New York hospital recovering from hepatitis. He won't be here for the 1 3-16 mile race which could mean $139,500 for a horse that Gentry rates second string to one in his barn who never made it to the spring classics. His name is Cup Race, unbeaten in two career starts.

"I talk with Mr. Gentry every day and he tells me what he wants done with Proud Clarion," said Mahoney. "But I'll have to admit it's a bit nerve wracking to be personally responsible for such a good horse. I'm at the barn every morning by 5:30 — just to be sure that everything is in order."

Despite his Derby victory, Proud Clarion was made the 3-1 co-second choice in the first betting line made by the track handicapper. He also quoted Damascus, the beaten Kentucky Derby favorite, at 3-1.

At the top of his list at 5-2, Pimlico's Blair Wilkinson placed Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality trained by popular Sunshine Calvert, former jockey.

Some eyebrows were raised when Wilkinson released his figures for In Reality has not raced since winning the Florida Derby April 1. Calvert had intended to give the speedy son of Intentionally a prep race here last Saturday but the event failed to draw enough entries so In Reality worked 1 1-16 miles in 1:47 3-5.

In Reality will go into the Preakness backed by the finest of credentials. He was worse then second only in the Garden State Stakes last year while chalking up four victories in seven races. This year he has won three times and finished second twice in five Florida outings.

With the names of Barbs Delight, runner-up in the Derby; Great Power, Reason to Hail, Ask The Fare, Favorable Turn and Misty Cloud slated to be entered today, the Preakness will have a record gross value of $192,000.

Post time Saturday will be 5:30 EDT with the race carried on national television from 5-5:45 p.m. by CBS.

McCarver's Pinch Homer Sinks Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Probably the guy on whom an extra-inning baseball game is toughest is the poor catcher going up and down behind the plate, wearing all that heavy gear.

So Joe Torre and Tim McCarver, a couple of receivers, decided they'd rather not stick around for more than the regulation nine innings.

Torre, Atlanta's All-Star catcher, cracked a leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth, lifting the Braves to a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night and McCarver came off the St. Louis bench and socked a leadoff homer in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

For Torre it was home run No. 9 this season, tying him for the major league lead with teammate Hank Aaron, who had a two-run shot against the Mets earlier.

McCarver's pinch-hit shot was his third of the year and raised his batting average to .318.

In other games Wednesday, San Francisco topped Chicago 4-2, Cincinnati took Pittsburgh 3-1 and Los Angeles rapped Houston 7-0.

Aaron's two-run shot in the sixth inning had tied it for the Braves against young Tom Seaver, who helped his own cause by driving two New York runs with three straight hits.

Then Torre's leadoff shot in the ninth ended it.

Left-handed hitting McCarver was on the bench against southpaw Chris Short, who cruised through the first five innings, retiring 15 straight batters. But when right-hander Dick Farrell came on in relief, McCarver batted for John Romano opening the bottom of the ninth.

His shot into the right-field seats gave the Cards their victory.

Tito Fuentes ripped a two-out two-run double in the sixth inning that carried the Giants past the Cubs. Fuentes connected against loser Curt Simmons following two walks.

Mike McCormick won his fourth for the Giants with late-inning help from Frank Linzy. It was San Francisco's sixth victory in the last seven games.

The first-place Reds won their fifth straight with Tony Perez driving in two runs and Sammy Ellis going all the way for his fourth victory.

Ellis gave up nine scattered hits and was nicked for a run in the second but held the Pirates off the rest of the way.

The Dodgers ran up a quick seven-run lead against Houston and it was more than enough for Don Sutton, who won his first game after four straight losses.

Wes Parker homered for Los Angeles and three Dodger runs crossed the plate in the third on a bases-loaded throwing error by Sonny Jackson. Mike Cuellar was the loser.

Orioles Head AL Homer Barrage

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell is building up a following as a philosopher.

"Just swing, that's my philosophy," the Baltimore first baseman said Wednesday night. "But swing hard in case you hit it."

Well, the boys were swinging hard in the Oriole-Boston game, and they were hitting it.

Ten home runs sailed out of Fenway Park — seven by Baltimore and three by the hometown Red Sox — in the game won 12-8 by the Orioles.

The 10 homers were one shy of the major league record for two teams in a game; Baltimore's four blasts in the seventh were one short of the mark for homers by a team in one inning and the total of five in the seventh tied the record for homers by two teams in an inning.

In all, there were 21 homers hit in the American League Wednesday night, with five coming in Cleveland's 8-7 victory over the New York Yankees.

Detroit crushed Washington 8-1, California topped Kansas City 7-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 5-4 in other AL action.

There was a stiff wind blowing out generally from home plate in Fenway, but hitters on both clubs thought the homers were hit well enough to be homers there regardless of the wind.

However, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson thought the wind did affect the pitchers psychologically.

"With the wind blowing out like that," he said, "a pitcher can't make any mistakes."

The trouble started in the very first inning when Paul Blair of the Orioles hit a solo homer and Boston's Don Demeter connected with two on.

Brooks Robinson homered with none on in the second and teammate Frank Robinson did the same in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski belted a two-run blast in the Boston fifth.

Then came the wild seventh. Andy Etchebarren hit a three-run shot and pinch hitter Sam Bowens followed with a solo belt. After another run scored on a pair of doubles, Powell connected with two aboard and Dave Johnson followed with another solo shot.

Yastrzemski concluded the barrage by homering with one on in the bottom of the inning.

Cleveland built up an 8-2 lead behind Leon Wagner's grand slam and Fred Whitfield's three-run homer and then held off the Yankees, who fought back with five runs in the seventh, including a three-run homer by Tom Tresh and a bases-empty wallop by Mickey Mantle, his 501st.

Joe Pepitone earlier hit a two-run shot for New York.

Willie Horton drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Jim Northrup hit a grand slam in leading Detroit past Washington. Fred Valentine homered for Washington.

California snapped a six-game losing streak with its victory over Kansas City. Rick Reichardt and Don Mincher each drove in two runs for the winners. Reichardt's RBI came on a home run.

The White Sox broke a jinx in beating Minnesota. It was their first victory over Jim Kaat in 10 decisions dating back to Sept. 10, 1964. Joel Horlen ran his record to 5-0 although he needed relief help.

Chicago wrapped up the game with three runs in the fourth. Harmon Killebrew drove in two Minnesota runs with a double and homer.

Hunting, Fishing License Sales Up in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Hunting, fishing and related sports are on the increase in Missouri, but may be declining in many states.

Figures just released by the Missouri Department of Conservation show increases in sales of all hunting and fishing permits in 1966. The increase averages 7.4 per cent for all kinds of permits.

The largest increases were in the numbers of resident hunting, fishing and deer hunting permits issued in 1966. Resident hunting permit sales increased 7.3 per cent from 191,201 in 1976 to 205,306 last year. The department issued 474,368 resident fishing permits last year, compared with 449,515 the previous year, for an increase of 5.5 per cent.

While sales of all Missouri permits were on the rise, those in other states were declining. The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has announced a nationwide decrease of 807,486 hunting permits and 1,436,897 fishing permits. The Missouri figures are based on the calendar year, and the nationwide figures are on the fiscal year.

Missouri last year ranked fourth nationally in the sale of fishing permits, following only California, Minnesota and Michigan, and topping fifth-ranked Wisconsin by nearly 40,000 permits.

Soccer Imports Adjust To U.S. Leisure Time

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While professional soccer is struggling for recognition as a major sport in the United States, the imported players of the National Professional Soccer League and the United Soccer Association are struggling with the often confusing customs that Americans have come to take for granted.

Take, for example, Geoffrey Sidebottom, goalkeeper for the New York Generals in the National Professional circuit.

"At home," says Sidebottom, "I spent a great deal of time fishing. But now that I live on Long Island I don't know where to go. I now use all my extra time watching television and building a model boat."

"Home" for Sidebottom, who became a professional at 17, was Wolverhampton, England, where the articulate athlete was a standout in the nets for the Wolverhampton Wolves. "I've always been a goaltender," Sidebottom says, "but it can be a bit dull at times. When your own team is on the attack you tend to lose your concentration. There's nothing worse than just standing about."

So far, Sidebottom hasn't had the opportunity to lose his concentration with the Generals.

Although he looks healthy enough, Sidebottom says eating was his major problem when he first arrived in the United States. "No offense intended," he notes, "but I found it rather hard to get used to the way people cook here. But we solved that problem quite nicely. I now live with three other players —Barry Wright, Barry Mahy and Mick Ash. Wright and Ash are married and their wives do the cooking. It's just like being home."

Television, a vast wasteland to many Americans, is more of a wonderland to Sidebottom and his friends. "I think it's quite good," he says with a firmness of tone that would make Newton Minow blink. "Especially the movies. I do feel there are too many breaks for messages and the like but on several occasions we've stayed up to 3 or 3:30 in the morning watching the movies. Barry Wright never had much of an opportunity takes his eyes off the set."

Sidebottom has no illusions about soccer replacing baseball as the national sport, but he thinks there's plenty of room for the European game on this side of the Atlantic.

"The average American doesn't know much about soccer," Sidebottom says, "but people do seem interested in the game and I think they're willing to learn what it's all about."

For his part, Sidebottom would like to learn more about professional football but would just as soon ignore baseball.

"I watched the Yankees play Cincinnati in Florida this spring," Sidebottom recalls. "and it seemed like a very dull sport. I suppose if you know the game well, there are certain things you can look for, but it's not a very interesting game for someone unfamiliar with the finer points of the sport."

Simmons' 400th Win Near But Tiger Title Hopes Dim

Greene is always ready for the outdoor meet and he's picked here for another 100 and 220 double, plus a 46.5 mile relay quarter if needed. Unless Ryun sets two marks, Greene may get a third straight Schulte Award.

Ryun, the incredible sophomore, has a 3:54.7 mile and 1:48.1 this season, but not on the same day. Six others have exceeded meet marks. They are Chris McCubbins, Oklahoma State, 13:38.7 three-mile; Steve Herndon, Missouri; Larry Curts, OSU, 16-5 pole vault; Mike Gregory, Oklahoma, 25-1 long jump; George Byers, Kansas, 13.8 high hurdles and Gary Ard, Kansas, 50-4½ triple jump.

Oklahoma also has run a 40.3 and 3:08.4, both under the 440 and mile relay marks. OU is relying on its great quarter-miler, Bill Calhoun, plus deep talent in the high jump, sprints, long jump and triple jump.

Ard is one of five injured Kansas men who could score 50 to 60 points if well. Assuming he can place high in only one jump, OU could get a 34-8 lick in the long jump and triple jump. The form chart then would show Oklahoma 123, defending champ Nebraska 97, Kansas 85, Colorado 61, OSU 60, Missouri 53, K-State 25 and Iowa State 23.

Derby Winner Gets Sub Trainer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Training race horses is nothing new for 53-year-old Jim Mahoney. He's been around thoroughbreds just about as long as he can remember. But he admits he's nervous. The reason is, he is filling in for the ailing Loyd (Boo) Gentry as trainer of Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion.

Proud Clarion, who paid $62.20, for $2 after his one-length triumph in the Derby, is one of nine 3-year-olds pointing for Saturday's 92nd running of the $150,000-added Preakness, second and richest of the Triple Crown series which also includes the Derby and Belmont Stakes.

Gentry, who brought the Darby Dan Farm colt up to the Derby in perfect condition while struggling to keep on his own feet, is in a New York hospital recovering from hepatitis. He won't be here for the 1 3-16 mile race which could mean $139,500 for a horse that Gentry rates second string to one in his barn who never made it to the spring classics. His name is Cup Race, unbeaten in two career starts.

"I talk with Mr. Gentry every day and he tells me what he wants done with Proud Clarion," said Mahoney. "But I'll have to admit it's a bit nerve wracking to be personally responsible for such a good horse. I'm at the barn every morning by 5:30 — just to be sure that everything is in order."

Despite his Derby victory, Proud Clarion was made the 3-1 co-second choice in the first betting line made by the track handicapper. He also quoted Damascus, the beaten Kentucky Derby favorite, at 3-1.

At the top of his list at 5-2, Pimlico's Blair Wilkinson placed Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality trained by popular Sunshine Calvert, former jockey.

Some eyebrows were raised when Wilkinson released his figures for In Reality has not raced since winning the Florida Derby April 1. Calvert had intended to give the speedy son of Intentionally a prep race here last Saturday but the event failed to draw enough entries so In Reality worked 1 1-16 miles in 1:47 3-5.

In Reality will go into the Preakness backed by the finest of credentials. He was worse then second only in the Garden State Stakes last year while chalking up four victories in seven races. This year he has won three times and finished second twice in five Florida outings.

With the names of Barbs Delight, runner-up in the Derby; Great Power, Reason to Hail, Ask The Fare, Favorable Turn and Misty Cloud slated to be entered today, the Preakness will have a record gross value of $192,000.

Post time Saturday will be 5:30 EDT with the race carried on national television from 5:5:45 p.m. by CBS.

ANN LANDERS TO TOUR VIETNAM FOR TALKS WITH SERVICEMEN

Thousands of servicemen in Vietnam will be seeing a familiar face this week. It is that of Ann Landers, Sun-Times columnist, who will tour Vietnam for 10 days.

During her stay, through May 25, she will meet informally and talk with servicemen. In preparation for her tour, the USO alerted the GIs to "have your questions ready -- if anyone can answer them, she can."

Ann Landers, in private life Mrs. Jules Lederer, wife of a Chicago businessman, has written the Sun-Times column for 11 years. The column is syndicated in 688 newspapers in the United States and abroad and will continue to appear during her tour. Her readership is estimated at 54,000,000.

As her Vietnam trip indicates, the columnist is never too busy to undertake a worthy cause.

In 1963, she was national honorary chairman of the Christmas Seal Campaign. She has been honored by the Family Service Assn. of America, the National Council on Alcoholism, the National Epilepsy League, the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children and many other organizations. In 1966, the Gallup Poll reported that she is one of the 20 most admired women in the world.

During the past year she has made more than 100 speeches before some 150,000 persons. She is the author of two best-selling books, "Since You Asked Me" and Ann Landers Talks to Teen - Agers About Sex."

Some 30,000 letters addressed to Ann Landers pour into The Sun - Times each month. She consults lawyers, physicians, psychiatrists and clergymen to give the best possible answers to her readers' problems.

1968 Fiscal Year Interstate, Primary and Urban Systems Highway Program Is Approved

The Missouri State Highway Commission has approved a tentative right of way and construction program for the 1968 fiscal year, which begins July 1, on the Interstate, Primary and Urban systems.

The approved program totals $149,034,000 and extends over 551.6 miles of new construction and improvements. A breakdown shows that $118,029,000 is planned for construction and improvements and $31,005,000 for the purchase of right of way.

By systems, the program includes $57,595,000 for construction and improvements on 78.4 miles of the Interstate system and for right of way purchases totaling $13,163,000.

Primary system work programmed is on 442.4 miles with $49,488,000 for construction and improvements and $5,367,000 for right of way purchases.

On the Urban system planning calls for construction and improvements of $10,946,000 on about 30.8 miles with right of way purchases totaling $12,475,000.

The Commission also gave its approval to the 1968 fiscal year Supplementary system program. The Supplementary program planned is for $30,632,000, boosting the total 1968 fiscal year highway programs to $179,666,000. (A detailed listing of this program will be covered in a subsequent news release within the near future.)

The Department hopes that it can put under contract all of the projects that are planned for the fiscal year. However, uncertainties that may develop, such as right of way difficulties, bridge designs, utility adjustments and urban agreements may prevent complete carrying out of the program.

A detailed listing of the construction, improvements and right of way purchases for the 1968 fiscal year by district, system, county, route, mileage, work to be done and location includes:

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

"Education must be our top domestic priority. We must pay for it out of predictable future economic growth," so said Representative James Scheuer, a member of the House Education Committee in the Federal Congress.

Mr. Scheuer said there are 16 million children in the nation "For whom our educational system is part of the prison of poverty, joblessness, dependence and despair instead of the gateway to a full, rich life of comfort, independence and self - esteem that we can make it if we will."

He went on to say that we must make a national commitment of approximately $80 billion for education over the next four years. The kind of education which these times demand will cost approximately $1200 per child per year. Currently, we are spending only in the neighborhood of $550 per child on the average and much below this in the poorer schools.

We would imagine that with the dollar demand of the war in Vietnam, little will happen toward meeting Representative Scheuer's recommendations. This is unfortunate, as, in the long run, our nation is only as strong or as great as is the quality of education which we are willing to support for our children.

In the last decade, Driver Education in the high schools and colleges has steadily increased and during last school year, more than 1.5 million students completed courses in this subject. However, we are still reaching only half of the students who reach driving age each year.

There is some question as to the value of Driver Education, yet most studies indicate that Drivers Education courses generally have better safety records than do those not getting this training. Many insurance companies allow a ten to fifteen per cent reduction in premiums for school-trained drivers.

Presently, like the national average, about half of our Sikeston schools student body who reach driving age take the course. It is given after school, on Saturdays and during the summer vacation. The fee of $10 per student, doubtless prevents some from taking the course. However, this fee covers only from one - fourth to one - third of the costs to the school. Here again, the availability of money and time is a factor. If the courses were taught during the regular school day and if it were free to the student, we are sure that most students would take Driver Education. But to include it as a class during the day would prevent the student from taking some other course.

This must be a matter of establishing values. Is it better to give a student a vocational course that will enable him to get a job where he can later make the money whereby he can afford to buy a car, or to eliminate the vocational course, teach him to drive a car which he may never be able to afford? This may be a rather far fetched analogy but at least it presents some of the problems which we must face in making decisions in what is important to our children and youth.

We suspect that most youngsters who want to take Driver Education could, if they wish, devote after school, Saturday or summer vacation time to the training program which is available.

We further doubt that the mechanics of merely learning to physically drive a car is half as important as the mental attitude which must be instilled in the driver. This can be learned not only in Driver Education courses, but in many other ways. Most of us do not drive nearly as well, in relation to safety and good judgment, as we know how to do.

Information from the school Fund Service Department indicates that exactly 55,000 lunches were served during the 20 days of April. Of these only 4971 were not Type A lunches. The Type A lunch is approved as having the nutritive elements making up a balanced diet for growing children. Free lunches for the month totaled 4980. These lunches are served to economically deprived children.

Tentative plans are to conduct a Head Start Program for the district to include 150 eligible children who will be first graders next fall. Final plans will depend upon, as far as we can find out, the reconciliation of some of the problems which the Delta Area Office of Economic Opportunity Corporation has not resolved. Head Start and other Office of Economic Opportunity programs, more commonly referred to as "War on Poverty Programs" are locally under the administration of the Delta Area Office of Economic Opportunity Corporation, headquartered at Portageville.

If we get the "go ahead", enrollment dates and other details will be provided.

We hope that the obstacles which now seem to cast some doubt as to whether or not Head Start will be operated are removed. We believe that Head Start is one of the good programs possible under OEO. We have our doubts about some of the others. We further believe that all of them having to do with any aspect of education could be better operated by the regularly organized public or private schools. We don't think it would make much sense to go to a television repairman to have our tonsils removed nor to take our television set to the doctor for repairs. It makes just about as much sense to put a school program in the hands of those people who have had no training in education.

Seven Wonders of The World

THE COLOSSUS OF RHODES

Legend peopled ancient Rhodes -- the easternmost island in the Aegean Sea -- with skillful workers in metal who passed their ever - developing technical proficiency down from generation to generation. Their skills culminated in the Sixth Wonder of the World.

The colossal bronze statue of Apollo (Helios, the Sun God) -- about the size of our Statue of Liberty -- was the work of a native sculptor, Chares, who reportedly labored for 12 years before completing it in 280 B.C. It was erected at the northern end of the island, at the entrance to the main harbor. Unfortunately, it stood for only 56 years.

Earlier, it was believed the Colossus was located astride the entrance to Rhodes' harbor, with a beacon light in its hand and with ships passing between its legs. Most archaelogists now believe it stood on the shore close to the harbor entrance -- until an earthquake knocked it down in 224 B.C.

Lying unmolested for almost 900 years, its enormous fragments are mentioned by Pliny (100 A. D.) as exciting wonder to all who visited the island.

The giant pieces were not removed until 565 A. D., when Rhodes was conquered by the Saracens. The Muslims sold the remains for old metal to a Levantine dealer, who used 900 camels to carry them away. The pieces were probably reconverted into instruments of war.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

"Education must be our top domestic priority. We must pay for it out of predictable future economic growth," so said Representative James Scheuer, a member of the House Education Committee in the Federal Congress.

Mr. Scheuer said there are 16 million children in the nation "For whom our educational system is part of the prison of poverty, joblessness, dependence and despair instead of the gateway to a full, rich life of comfort, independence and self - esteem that we can make it if we will."

He went on to say that we must make a national commitment of approximately $80 billion for education over the next four years. The kind of education which these times demand will cost approximately $1200 per child per year. Currently, we are spending only in the neighborhood of $550 per child on the average and much below this in the poorer schools.

We would imagine that with the dollar demand of the war in Vietnam, little will happen toward meeting Representative Scheuer's recommendations. This is unfortunate, as, in the long run, our nation is only as strong or as great as is the quality of education which we are willing to support for our children.

In the last decade, Driver Education in the high schools and colleges has steadily increased and during last school year, more than 1.5 million students completed courses in this subject. However, we are still reaching only half of the students who reach driving age each year.

There is some question as to the value of Driver Education, yet most studies indicate that Drivers Education courses generally have better safety records than do those not getting this training. Many insurance companies allow a ten to fifteen per cent reduction in premiums for school-trained drivers.

Presently, like the national average, about half of our Sikeston schools student body who reach driving age take the course. It is given after school, on Saturdays and during the summer vacation. The fee of $10 per student, doubtless prevents some from taking the course. However, this fee covers only from one - fourth to one - third of the costs to the school. Here again, the availability of money and time is a factor. If the courses were taught during the regular school day and if it were free to the student, we are sure that most students would take Driver Education. But to include it as a class during the day would prevent the student from taking some other course.

This must be a matter of establishing values. Is it better to give a student a vocational course that will enable him to get a job where he can later make the money whereby he can afford to buy a car, or to eliminate the vocational course, teach him to drive a car which he may never be able to afford? This may be a rather far fetched analogy but at least it presents some of the problems which we must face in making decisions in what is important to our children and youth.

We suspect that most youngsters who want to take Driver Education could, if they wish, devote after school, Saturday or summer vacation time to the training program which is available.

We further doubt that the mechanics of merely learning to physically drive a car is half as important as the mental attitude which must be instilled in the driver. This can be learned not only in Driver Education courses, but in many other ways. Most of us do not drive nearly as well, in relation to safety and good judgment, as we know how to do.

Information from the school Fund Service Department indicates that exactly 55,000 lunches were served during the 20 days of April. Of these only 4971 were not Type A lunches. The Type A lunch is approved as having the nutritive elements making up a balanced diet for growing children. Free lunches for the month totaled 4980. These lunches are served to economically deprived children.

Tentative plans are to conduct a Head Start Program for the district to include 150 eligible children who will be first graders next fall. Final plans will depend upon, as far as we can find out, the reconciliation of some of the problems which the Delta Area Office of Economic Opportunity Corporation has not resolved. Head Start and other Office of Economic Opportunity programs, more commonly referred to as "War on Poverty Programs" are locally under the administration of the Delta AreaOffice of Economic Opportunity Corporation, headquartered at Portageville.

If we get the "go ahead", enrollment dates and other details will be provided.

We hope that the obstacles which now seem to cast some doubt as to whether or not Head Start will be operated are removed. We believe that Head Start is one of the good programs possible under OEO. We have our doubts about some of the others. We further believe that all of them having to do with any aspect of education could be better operated by the regularly organized public or private schools. We don't think it would make much sense to go to a television repairman to have our tonsils removed nor to take our television set to the doctor for repairs. It makes just about as much sense to put a school program in the hands of those people who have had no training in education.

Seven Wonders of The World

THE COLOSSUS OF RHODES

Legend peopled ancient Rhodes -- the easternmost island in the Aegean Sea -- with skillful workers in metal who passed their ever - developing technical proficiency down from generation to generation. Their skills culminated in the Sixth Wonder of the World.

The colossal bronze statue of Apollo (Helios, the Sun God) -- about the size of our Statue of Liberty -- was the work of a native sculptor, Chares, who reportedly labored for 12 years before completing it in 280 B.C. It was erected at the northern end of the island, at the entrance to the main harbor. Unfortunately, it stood for only 56 years.

Earlier, it was believed the Colossus was located astride the entrance to Rhodes' harbor, with a beacon light in its hand and with ships passing between its legs. Most archaelogists now believe it stood on the shore close to the harbor entrance -- until an earthquake knocked it down in 224 B.C.

Lying unmolested for almost 900 years, its enormous fragments are mentioned by Pliny (100 A. D.) as exciting wonder to all who visited the island.

The giant pieces were not removed until 565 A. D., when Rhodes was conquered by the Saracens. The Muslims sold the remains for old metal to a Levantine dealer, who used 900 camels to carry them away. The pieces were probably reconverted into instruments of war.

LA-Z-BOY CHAIR COMPANY PRESIDENT, E. M. Knabusch, center, and M. F. Brueckner, Vice President-Sales, present movie star, recording artist and TV personality, Bing Crosby, with a La-Z-Boy chair. Photograph was taken in the Crosby, Hillsborough, California home.

A "Lazy" Success Story

It has often been said that success is 1 per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration.

"Without a strong belief in that statement, we would have failed," states La-Z-Boy Chair Company President, E. M. Knabusch. "A million-dollar idea is worthless without hard work."

As a result of being an authority on hard work as well as the million-dollar idea, Knabusch heads a corporation that serves as an example to all who admire and yearn for success.

In 1925, Knabusch and his partner, Edwin Shoemaker, began with a part-time furniture repair business in a garage. Working 16 hours a day on a weekly salary of five dollars each, they perfected the world's first practical reclining chair. After a year of painstaking effort, they were able to manufacture a chair with a lifetime mechanism warranty.

Today, La-Z-Boy chairs are sold throughout the world. They are recommended by physicians and surgeons, sought after by business executives, housewives, athletes, and, in short, anyone who needs to relax or desires comfort.

"Yes, we worked hard, and we still work hard," continues Knabusch. "Once the reclining mechanism was perfected, we had to design an attractive chair to house the mechanism. Then, of course, there was the problem of production, marketing and advertising, all of which took and still take a lot of midnight oil to solve."

La-Z-Boy chairs are now handled throughout the world by over 5,000 carefully selected dealers, of which Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston is one.

U.S. manufacturing facilities, employing more than 1,400 people are located in Monroe, Michigan, Newton, Mississippi, Florence, South Carolina, and Redlands, California. Foreign countries in which La-Z-Boy chairs are manufactured under license include Canada, Mexico, South Africa, England, Australia, and Western Germany.

The La-Z-Boy chair is now the most extensively advertised chair in the furniture industry world-wise, using all media: Magazines, newspapers, television and radio.

A forthcoming sales campaign will feature Bing and Kathryn Crosby in a series of endorsement ads. Photography for the series of full-color ads will show Bing and Kathryn relaxing in various La-Z-Boy rockers and reclining chairs in their Hillsborough, California home.

Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston, Mo. will participate locally in this campaign to acquaint residents of the Sikeston area with the La-Z-Boy line of relaxing comfort.

"We want everyone in the area to come into our store and see why Bing and Kathryn Crosby are so excited about La-Z-Boy's style and comfort features," says Rudy Chittenden, owner, of Rudy's Furniture Co.

More Than 2,000 Caves in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Millions of years before man made his appearance on earth in fact, before the time the gigantic pre-historic dinosaurs roamed the world, nature in her methodical, ceaseless manner was carving underground caverns in Missouri. They were destined to become numbered among the world's most beautiful wonders.

To many people, Missouri is known as the Cave State of the nation. There is evidence of truth in the statement as more than 2,000 caves are now mapped and more are being recorded each year. Authorities in cave lore say that new caverns will be found in the state into the 21st century, and the entire number may never be discovered.

Visiting caves has become one of the traveling public's most outstanding adventures. Last year, Missouri commercial cave operators entertained more than 2 - million visitors and that recorded is expected to be broken in 1967, as the operators have extended themselves in improving their attractions. At one cave, as an example, more than $20,-000 has been spent to build a welcome center and gift shop.

The vast network of underground caverns to be found in Missouri fall into two categories, the "wild cave" and the "commercial cave." The name "wild cave" is applied to those that have been explored to some extent, if not entirely. They have no lights, walkways, elaborate entrances or guided tours and are not inspected for safety nor advertised or operated commercially.

In recent years a new name, "Spelunkers," has come into common use in the American (English) language. The spelunker, derived from speleology or the science of caves, is a cave explorer. He or she enjoys exploring dark and forbidden subterranean passages, miles of which exist in Missouri to beckon the daring. However, the exploits of the spelunker have contributed much to the fact that Missouri now has the largest number of commercial caves in the nation. The spelunker is a strange breed of man. He neither seeks, nor seemingly wants, publicity. His greatest thrill comes from the fact that often he may find a lost underground passageway never before entered or seen by man.

Operators of the 26 commercial caves in Missouri contribute much to the State's reputation of being the "Family Vacationland of the Nation." Caves attract families, school class groups, honeymooning couples and regardless of age, a cave visit offers a thrilling experience to even the most seasoned traveler.

All commercial caves in Missouri are inspected once each year by the Bureau of Mine Inspectors, as required by law. They are lighted, have walkways, some have transportation systems, and each features some unique attraction giving myth to the statement "once you have seen one cave, you have seen them all."

Most of the state's caves, both commercial and wild, are found in the southern half, which is generally referred to as the Ozark plateau or dome. However, the entire state is underlain by limestone and dolomite formations in which ground water dissolves out caves. So, the area north of the Missouri River which is generally covered by materials deposited by the great glaciers contains a vast number of caverns. This lends proof to the belief that some of them will never be discovered or explored.

One of the most popular caves to be found anywhere in the world, and one made famous by the world renowned writer, Mark Twain, lies in the northern part of the state near Hannibal. Millions have read the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and thrilled at his experiences in the cave along with Indian Joe, Becky Thatcher and Huck Finn. The cave today attracts thousands of visitors each year and is open to the public and operated on a commercial basis.

Visitation of travelers to caves came into prominence during the year of the opening the St. Louis World's Fair, in 1904, when Onondaga first opened to the public commercially. Onondaga, located about 70 miles west of St. Louis, off Interstate Highway 44, enjoys a vivid history. Visitors may follow in the footsteps of one of the nation's most renowned explorers and colonizers, Daniel Boone, who discovered the cave in 1798. As mentioned, each Missouri cave is famous for its individual attractions. Onondaga features the Stagalmite Xylophone, Onyx Hall, the Honeymoon Room and Lost River which flows over 7 million gallons of water daily. It is said some of the cave's formations are more than 400 million years old.

Meramec Caverns, also located on Highways 66 and Interstate 44, near Leasburg, Missouri, offers a variety of natural wonders to delight the eye. The cave has entertained more than 10 - million visitors and was first discovered by Jacques Renault in 1716. In olden days it was used by early miners for storage and shelter. During the Civil War, the manufacture of gun powder was at its height at the cave. It is noted too, as a hideout for the infamous gangs of the past including Jesse James and his henchmen. The cave features such attractions as the Grape Vineyard, Loot Rock, Submarine Garden and the Stage Curtain, said to be the largest single cave formation in the world.

Over 400 couples contemplating marriage have traveled to Bridal Cave, near Camdenton, Missouri, on Lake of the Ozarks, which was discovered in 1827. Here, in this underground wonderland, the marriage ceremony is performed by clergy from the nearby city. The vows are taken in the huge Onyx Bridal Chamber, with appropriate music and incidentals furnished by the management. Married couples often make a ritual of returning to the caverns on wedding anniversary dates and the cave often attracts more than 2,-000 people in one day to view its huge onyx formations. It has been featured in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" newspaper series. Marriages in the cave are no modern - day oddity. The custom dates back hundreds of years to the time Indians were encamped on the shores of the Niangua River and believed that a marriage in the cave was a contribution to future happiness.

In the same area of the state, Indian skeletons dating back over 1600 years are to be found in Ozark Caverns near Osage Beach. Legend and rumor indicate that prehistoric man used Stark Caverns near Eldon as a protective cover against marauders and rigors of weather, and by Indians of a later era.

Near Springfield, Fantastic Caverns has a natural and truly fantastic underground auditorium capable of accommodating ten thousand people. An unusual feature of this cave is that the visitor is transported on the tour of the subterranean passageway by jeep making the tour a pleasant and untiring experience. Deeper in the Ozark Mountains, near the town of Reeds Spring, is Fairy Cave. In this cave there is the natural harp of stalagtites which procedures beautiful musicial tones when tapped.

Marvel Cave, near Branson, and now internationally known at Marvel Cave Park and Silver Dollar City, offers tourists outstanding entertainment. The cave is the only one in the world with its own railroad system. The cave features such attractions as the greatest dripstone unit of all caves, the symmetrical "Liberty Bell." It is a solid onyx dome, 55 feet in total height, and almost 200 feet in circumference. The cave also has a Cathedral Room, the Spring Room and the Sentinel. One room in Marvel Cave would house a 20 - story office building.

It would be impossible to adequately describe the many and varied attractions of the numerous and various Missouri caves. However, other commercially operated caves in the state offering the visitor unusual sights are: Bluff Dwellers Cave, Noel; Boone Cave, Rocheport; Cameron also at Hannibal; Civil War, Ozark; Fisher's, Sullivan; Honey Branch, Ozark; Indian Cave, Waynesville; Indian Burial, Linn Creek; Jacob's Cave, Versailles; Mystic, Camdenton; Old Spanish, Reeds Spring; Ozark at Linn Creek and Ozark Wonder at Noel; Rebel, Patterson; Round Spring Cave, Round Spring; Truitt's Cave, Lanagan and there is a Crystal Cave at both Springfield and Cassville, Missouri. Needless to say, man with his modern day methods of creating the beautiful, has never been able to equal nature's work through eons of time. Through the process of slow drippage of water, the fast flow of underground rivers, plus the natural contraction and expansion of the earth's formations, she has successfully created a veritable wonderland of color and beauty, far below the earth's surface. It is small wonder that the spelunker finds a most satisfying experience in his explorations.

In this era of man exploring the universe, in space vehicles made in Missouri, it is rather a paradox that beneath his feet lies some of the most mysterious and awe inspiring sights that could be conceived.

With the ever present thought that perhaps someday some belligerent power will see fit to bombard the United States with the hydrogen bomb, or with something more powerful yet undiscovered, it is well to note that the almost 5 million people in the State have what could be called a 'built - in bomb shelter.'

The caves that have been mapped and charted in Missouri will at this time offer shelter and haven to more than 2 million people. And, with future discoveries, proper planning and development, this number may be vastly expanded.

The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, P. O. Box 118, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101, may be contacted for further information about Missouri caves.

LA-Z-BOY CHAIR COMPANY PRESIDENT, E. M. Knabusch, center, and M. F. Brueckner, Vice President-Sales, present movie star, recording artist and TV personality, Bing Crosby, with a La-Z-Boy chair. Photograph was taken in the Crosby, Hillsborough, California home.

A "Lazy" Success Story

It has often been said that success is 1 per cent inspiration and 99 per cent perspiration.

"Without a strong belief in that statement, we would have failed," states La-Z-Boy Chair Company President, E. M. Knabusch. "A million-dollar idea is worthless without hard work."

As a result of being an authority on hard work as well as the million-dollar idea, Knabusch heads a corporation that serves as an example to all who admire and yearn for success.

In 1925, Knabusch and his partner, Edwin Shoemaker, began with a part-time furniture repair business in a garage. Working 16 hours a day on a weekly salary of five dollars each, they perfected the world's first practical reclining chair. After a year of painstaking effort, they were able to manufacture a chair with a lifetime mechanism warranty.

Today, La-Z-Boy chairs are sold throughout the world. They are recommended by physicians and surgeons, sought after by business executives, housewives, athletes, and, in short, anyone who needs to relax or desires comfort.

"Yes, we worked hard, and we still work hard," continues Knabusch. "Once the reclining mechanism was perfected, we had to design an attractive chair to house the mechanism. Then, of course, there was the problem of production, marketing and advertising, all of which took and still take a lot of midnight oil to solve."

La-Z-Boy chairs are now handled throughout the world by over 5,000 carefully selected dealers, of which Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston is one.

U.S. manufacturing facilities, employing more than 1,400 people are located in Monroe, Michigan, Newton, Mississippi, Florence, South Carolina, and Redlands, California. Foreign countries in which La-Z-Boy chairs are manufactured under license include Canada, Mexico, South Africa, England, Australia, and Western Germany.

The La-Z-Boy chair is now the most extensively advertised chair in the furniture industry world-wise, using all media: Magazines, newspapers, television and radio.

A forthcoming sales campaign will feature Bing and Kathryn Crosby in a series of endorsement ads. Photography for the series of full-color ads will show Bing and Kathryn relaxing in various La-Z-Boy rockers and reclining chairs in their Hillsborough, California home.

Rudy's Furniture Co., Sikeston, Mo. will participate locally in this campaign to acquaint residents of the Sikeston area with the La-Z-Boy line of relaxing comfort.

"We want everyone in the area to come into our store and see why Bing and Kathryn Crosby are so excited about La-Z-Boy's style and comfort features," says Rudy Chittenden, owner, of Rudy's Furniture Co.

More Than 2,000 Caves in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY -- Millions of years before man made his appearance on earth in fact, before the time the gigantic pre-historic dinosaurs roamed the world, nature in her methodical, ceaseless manner was carving underground caverns in Missouri. They were destined to become numbered among the world's most beautiful wonders.

To many people, Missouri is known as the Cave State of the nation. There is evidence of truth in the statement as more than 2,000 caves are now mapped and more are being recorded each year. Authorities in cave lore say that new caverns will be found in the state into the 21st century, and the entire number may never be discovered.

Visiting caves has become one of the traveling public's most outstanding adventures. Last year, Missouri commercial cave operators entertained more than 2-million visitors and that recorded is expected to be broken in 1967, as the operators have extended themselves in improving their attractions. At one cave, as an example, more than $20,000 has been spent to build a welcome center and gift shop.

The vast network of underground caverns to be found in Missouri fall into two categories, the "wild cave" and the "commercial cave." The name "wild cave" is applied to those that have been explored to some extent, if not entirely. They have no lights, walkways, elaborate entrances or guided tours and are not inspected for safety nor advertised or operated commercially.

In recent years a new name, "Spelunkers," has come into common use in the American (English) language. The spelunker, derived from speleology or the science of caves, is a cave explorer. He or she enjoys exploring dark and forbidden subterranean passages, miles of which exist in Missouri to beckon the daring. However, the exploits of the spelunker have contributed much to the fact that Missouri now has the largest number of commercial caves in the nation. The spelunker is a strange breed of man. He neither seeks, nor seemingly wants, publicity. His greatest thrill comes from the fact that often he may find a lost underground passageway never before entered or seen by man.

Operators of the 26 commercial caves in Missouri contribute much to the State's reputation of being the "Family Vacationland of the Nation." Caves attract families, school class groups, honeymooning couples and regardless of age, a cave visit offers a thrilling experience to even the most seasoned traveler.

All commercial caves in Missouri are inspected once each year by the Bureau of Mine Inspectors, as required by law. They are lighted, have walkways, some have transportation systems, and each features some unique attraction giving myth to the statement "once you have seen one cave, you have seen them all."

Most of the state's caves, both commercial and wild, are found in the southern half, which is generally referred to as the Ozark plateau or dome. However, the entire state is underlain by limestone and dolomite formations in which ground water dissolves out caves. So, the area north of the Missouri River which is generally covered by materials deposited by the great glaciers contains a vast number of caverns. This lends proof to the belief that some of them will never be discovered or explored.

One of the most popular caves to be found anywhere in the world, and one made famous by the world renowned writer, Mark Twain, lies in the northern part of the state near Hannibal. Millions have read the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and thrilled at his experiences in the cave along with Indian Joe, Becky Thatcher and Huck Finn. The cave today attracts thousands of visitors each year and is open to the public and operated on a commercial basis.

Visitation of travelers to caves came into prominence during the year of the opening the St. Louis World's Fair, in 1904, when Onondaga first opened to the public commercially. Onondaga, located about 70 miles west of St. Louis, off Interstate Highway 44, enjoys a vivid history. Visitors may follow in the footsteps of one of the nation's most renowned explorers and colonizers, Daniel Boone, who discovered the cave in 1798. As mentioned, each Missouri cave is famous for its individual attractions. Onondaga features the Stagalmite Xylophone, Onyx Hall, the Honeymoon Room and Lost River which flows over 7 million gallons of water daily. It is said some of the cave's formations are more than 400 million years old.

Meramec Caverns, also located on Highways 66 and Interstate 44, near Leasburg, Missouri, offers a variety of natural wonders to delight the eye. The cave has entertained more than 10-million visitors and was first discovered by Jacques Renault in 1716. In olden days it was used by early miners for storage and shelter. During the Civil War, the manufacture of gun powder was at its height at the cave. It is noted too, as a hideout for the infamous gangs of the past including Jesse James and his henchmen. The cave features such attractions as the Grape Vineyard, Loot Rock, Submarine Garden and the Stage Curtain, said to be the largest single cave formation in the world.

Over 400 couples contemplating marriage have traveled to Bridal Cave, near Camdenton, Missouri, on Lake of the Ozarks, which was discovered in 1827. Here, in this underground wonderland, the marriage ceremony is performed by clergy from the nearby city. The vows are taken in the huge Onyx Bridal Chamber, with appropriate music and incidentals furnished by the management. Married couples often make a ritual of returning to the caverns on wedding anniversary dates and the cave often attracts more than 2,000 people in one day to view its huge onyx formations. It has been featured in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" newspaper series. Marriages in the cave are no modern-day oddity. The custom dates back hundreds of years to the time Indians were encamped on the shores of the Niangua River and believed that a marriage in the cave was a contribution to future happiness.

In the same area of the state, Indian skeletons dating back over 1600 years are to be found in Ozark Caverns near Osage Beach. Legend and rumor indicate that prehistoric man used Stark Caverns near Eldon as a protective cover against marauders and rigors of weather, and by Indians of a later era.

Near Springfield, Fantastic Caverns has a natural and truly fantastic underground auditorium capable of accommodating ten thousand people. An unusual feature of this cave is that the visitor is transported on the tour of the subterranean passageway by jeep making the tour a pleasant and untiring experience. Deeper in the Ozark Mountains, near the town of Reeds Spring, is Fairy Cave. In this cave there is the natural harp of stalagtites which procedures beautiful musicial tones when tapped.

Marvel Cave, near Branson, and now internationally known at Marvel Cave Park and Silver Dollar City, offers tourists outstanding entertainment. The cave is the only one in the world with its own railroad system. The cave features such attractions as the greatest dripstone unit of all caves, the symmetrical "Liberty Bell." It is a solid onyx dome, 55 feet in total height, and almost 200 feet in circumference. The cave also has a Cathedral Room, the Spring Room and the Sentinel. One room in Marvel Cave would house a 20-story office building.

It would be impossible to adequately describe the many and varied attractions of the numerous and various Missouri caves. However, other commercially operated caves in the state offering the visitor unusual sights are: Bluff Dwellers Cave, Noel; Boone Cave, Rocheport; Cameron also at Hannibal; Civil War, Ozark; Fisher's, Sullivan; Honey Branch, Ozark; Indian Cave, Waynesville; Indian Burial, Linn Creek; Jacob's Cave, Versailles; Mystic, Camdenton; Old Spanish, Reeds Spring; Ozark at Linn Creek and Ozark Wonder at Noel; Rebel, Patterson; Round Spring Cave, Round Spring; Truitt's Cave, Lanagan and there is a Crystal Cave at both Springfield and Cassville, Missouri. Needless to say, man with his modern day methods of creating the beautiful, has never been able to equal nature's work through eons of time. Through the process of slow drippage of water, the fast flow of underground rivers, plus the natural contraction and expansion of the earth's formations, she has successfully created a veritable wonderland of color and beauty, far below the earth's surface. It is small wonder that the spelunker finds a most satisfying experience in his explorations.

In this era of man exploring the universe, in space vehicles made in Missouri, it is rather a paradox that beneath his feet lies some of the most mysterious and awe inspiring sights that could be conceived.

With the ever present thought that perhaps someday some belligerent power will see fit to bombard the United States with the hydrogen bomb, or with something more powerful yet undiscovered, it is well to note that the almost 5 million people in the State have what could be called a 'built-in bomb shelter.'

The caves that have been mapped and charted in Missouri will at this time offer shelter and haven to more than 2 million people. And, with future discoveries, proper planning and development, this number may be vastly expanded.

The Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, P. O. Box 118, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101, may be contacted for further information about Missouri caves.

HONORED FOR TWENTY YEARS OF SERVICE W. U. Myers, right, receives a large plaque from Charles W. Kraemer, regional director of Continental Assurance Company in Chicago, Ill. The inscription reads: "As A Token of Appreciation for His Significant Contribution to the People of Southeast Missouri to the Life Insurance Industry."

Myers Honored for Service

W. U. Myers, who for the past 42 years had been in the insurance business and for 20 years served as a general agent for the Continental Assurance company, was honored at a testimonial dinner Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

He is retiring as general agent but continuing in the insurance business in Sikeston.

Charles W. Kraemer, Chicago, regional director of agencies of the company, was master of ceremonies.

He presented Myers with a large plaque for his 20 years service.

Kraemer said:

"Mr. Myers started thinking of his retirment with the company three years ago, but I can say to you he is not completely retiring, but will be available for guidance and counseling service. No man is an island unto himself, and W. U. Myers is such a man."

Alex Cantrell, formerly of East Prairie, has been named general agent, with headquarters at Cape Girardeau.

Myers in response to the testimonial remarked:

"My wife and I are not alone because of our business relationships made over the years. We consider the friendships valueless, and this honor today surprises me to no end. I am happy that I had a part in bringing several new high quality insurance representatives to this area. A great share of my success belongs to my wife, Lois."

Senate Lets Up on Cuts

JEFFERSON CITY AP - The University of Missouri got back most of the buildings it wanted as the Senate worked into the wee hours today.

After the Senate knocked out the recommendations of its appropriations Committee time after time, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, resigned as vice chairman of the committee.

He said the actions of the Senate in restoring mental health and capital improvement cuts were ridiculous and he did not want to have any part in it.

The long weeks of work of the Appropriations Committee, he said, were merely an exercise in futility and in view of the Senate's actions he couldn't see that the committee had any valuable function.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, committee chairman, and several other members urged him to reconsider but Blackwell was adamant.

Sen. John E. Downs, D - St. Joseph, said he could understand Blackwell's reaction to the pressures to which the Senate had been submitted. He criticized what he called "the greedy, over-reaching and dishonest Board of Curators and the president of the University of Missouri."

Blackwell's action came after the Senate had restored a $7,650,000 multipurpose auditorium and a $2.5 million addition to the chemistry building on the Columbia campus.

Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, also sought to restore $350,000 for an addition to the university system building for which $770,000 was voted two years ago but withdrew his attempt in the face of rising opposition.

Altogether the university's capital improvement allotment was raised from $13,326,667 to $23,476,667.

The Senate declined to add about $3 million for buildings at mental institutions although it had restored a 4 per cent cut in mental health operations earlier in the day.

It also refused to cut out $200,000 for work at a new airport at Lake of the Ozarks State Park.

In the debate Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Cape Girardeau, charged Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, wanted to block construction of the jet landing strip before the Midwest governors' conference at the lake in August -- a charge Jones denied.

Jones said he just didn't want an airport in a state park and the legislature had no legal authority to make such an appropriation.

The Senate also turned down an effort to add $882,000 to the bill to improve Alley Springs, Round Spring and Big Spring state parks.

Downs was successful in adding $112,250 to eliminate fire hazards at the St. Joseph State Hospital but numerous other efforts to add buildings at state schools and hospitals were voted down.

The appropriation now goes back to the House and will be shunted into conference committee for final settlement.

New Madrid Man Wins Trip

John A. Hunter, Jr., of New Madrid won a $100 weekend trip in Pepsi - Cola's "Win a Missouri Vacation" contest.

Ruth King of Morehouse won second prize, a camera. James E. Wilson, route two, Senath, won third prize of spin cast set. Fourth prize, a AF-FM portable transistor radio was won by Veta Sutherland of Dunaphan.

Joan Simmons of Alton won fifth prize of a picnic cooler.

The competition continues for four more weeks with weekly awards.

Youth, Who Ignored Draft, Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A young man who failed to comply with an order of his draft board to serve 24 months hospital duty in lieu of active military service was sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary Monday by Judge Roy W. Harper in Federal District Court here.

Robert Lynn Smith, 20, Memphis, Tenn., was convicted of the charges by a jury of nine men and three women.

Judge Harper, in handing down the sentence advised the defendant and his friends in the courtroom, all of the Jehovah Witnesses religious sect.

Smith had been released from a 1-A classification by his draft board because of being a conscientious objector on religious grounds.

"You are fortunate to live in a country where you are able to believe in the God you wish, to worship anyway you please, where we recognize the Jehovah Witnesses as truly conscientious objectors.

"You have that right . . . We live in a great country . . .But no one - Jevoah Witnesses nor anyone - can criticize working in a hospital. No one can say it is not God's work, because you are helping humanity," the judge told Smith.

"Some may wonder why Iam giving you five years. If you served at the hospital, you would have two years to serve. In the Army you would have two years of duty. I don't know any reason you should serve less time. You will be eligible for parole in 20 months, so it is possible you will be out in two years," Judge Harper continued.

"It is no pleasure to me to pass sentence. We live in a country where if we are to keep it free and great, you can't just decide whether you want to defend it or not; it is everybody's duty," the judge added.

He pointed out to the youth that he had earlier tried to talk to him and make him see the seriousness of his attitude, but to no avail.

"I hope it will make some impression on your friends here," the judge said.

He also emphasized to Smith the stigma he was putting on his wife and child.

Smith was represented by his court - appointed attorney, James A. Cochrane Jr., of Cape Girardeau.

Irvin Ruzicak handled the government's case.

Only two witnesses were put on the stand, one by the plaintiff's attorney and the defendant.

Mrs. Velma Williams, for the government, said she was clerk of the Selective Service Board 118 at Bloomfield with which Smith was registered.

She told of Smith first being classified 1-A and of his then being reclassified to 1-0 when he notified the board he was a conscientious objector.

Mrs. Williams said the defendant was given three choices of employment in lieu of active duty--one at the University of Missouri Medical Center at Columbia, at another institution or agricultural work. He refused them all, she said.

It was brought out the Selective Service Appeal Board and a state representative then met with Smith to try to reach an agreement with him as to type of employment he would prefer.

He failed to obey the order, testimony of Mrs. Williams and Smith both showed.

However, Smith and his attorney both sought to establish that the defendant was of the opinion he did not have to obey the order, since he had signed a statement at the last meeting with the board refusing to take the job.

Members of the jury were: Frank C. Worley, 1917 Cape Rock Drive, investment broker and foreman of the jury; Wm. N. Burch, Piedmont, carpenter; Roy Edward Deneke, Gordonville Route 1, farmer; Mrs. Hazel M. Ford, 1901 William, real state saleswoman; Denny J. Merideth Jr., Caruthersville, farmer; Paul Price, Redford, farmer; Mrs. Rutha Sue Rogers, Scott City, secretary; Loel Lowes, 905 Melody lane, president of a paint and glass company; Lyman Shearrer, Patterson, retired merchant; Mrs. Robin Elizabeth Browning, Kennett, housewife; teacher, and A. Keith Bess, Sikeston, wholesale beer distributor.

Civil cases on the docket were dispensed with before court convened.

Passed for settlement were these suits: O'Neal Wimberley vs. Gulf Oil Corp., and Jerry Franklin, et al, vs. Jones - Laughlin Steel Corp., et al.

Passed for term was the case of the United States vs. 84.70 acres land in New Madrid County.

The case of Warren Keesee vs. West Lake Quarry and Material was removed from the docket and dismissed for lack of jurisdiction was the suit of Etta Mae Walker vs. Doris Ann Larkin.

Explorer Post Goes On Outing

Agriculture Explorer Post 234, sponsored by Sikeston Production Credit Association went on an outing at Big Springs Friday and Saturday. Fishing, swimming, and boat riding concluded this year's activities for the post.

Phil Black, Skip Hambrick, Jimmy Lewis, Curtis Robb, Bill Sappenfield, James Klein, James Terrell, and Dave Childers made the trip. Charles Lewis accompanied them.

The Aggie explorers have gone on field trips during the school year. They have visited feeder cattle operation, an agricultural chemical processing plant, and have had a program on the state conservation commission.

The post is directed by Committee chairmen Fred Alexander, Scott Waters and Tom Love.

I have never given very deep thought to a philsophy of life, though I have a few ideas that I think are useful to me. One is that you do whatever comes your way to do as well as you can, and another is that you think as little as possible about yourself and as much as possible about other people and about things that are interesting. The third is that you get more joy out of giving joy to others and should put a good deal of thought into the happiness that you are able to give.

Myers in response to the testimonial remarked:

"My wife and I are not alone because of our business relationships made over the years. We consider the friendships valueless, and this honor today surprises me to no end. I am happy that I had a part in bringing several new high quality insurance representatives to this area. A great share of my success belongs to my wife, Lois."

Youth, Who Ignored Draft, Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A young man who failed to comply with an order of his draft board to serve 24 months hospital duty in lieu of active military service was sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary Monday by Judge Roy W. Harper in Federal District Court here.

Robert Lynn Smith, 20, Memphis, Tenn., was convicted of the charges by a jury of nine men and three women.

Judge Harper, in handing down the sentence advised the defendant and his friends in the courtroom, all of the Jehovah Witnesses religious sect.

Smith had been released from a 1-A classification by his draft board because of being a conscientious objector on religious grounds.

"You are fortunate to live in a country where you are able to believe in the God you wish, to worship anyway you please, where we recognize the Jehovah Witnesses as truly conscientious objectors.

"You have that right . . . We live in a great country . . .But no one - Jevoah Witnesses nor anyone - can criticize working in a hospital. No one can say it is not God's work, because you are helping humanity," the judge told Smith.

"Some may wonder why Iam giving you five years. If you served at the hospital, you would have two years to serve. In the Army you would have two years of duty. I don't know any reason you should serve less time. You will be eligible for parole in 20 months, so it is possible you will be out in two years," Judge Harper continued.

"It is no pleasure to me to pass sentence. We live in a country where if we are to keep it free and great, you can't just decide whether you want to defend it or not; it is everybody's duty," the judge added.

He pointed out to the youth that he had earlier tried to talk to him and make him see the seriousness of his attitude, but to no avail.

"I hope it will make some impression on your friends here," the judge said.

He also emphasized to Smith the stigma he was putting on his wife and child.

Smith was represented by his court - appointed attorney, James A. Cochrane Jr., of Cape Girardeau.

Irvin Ruzicak handled the government's case.

Only two witnesses were put on the stand, one by the plaintiff's attorney and the defendant.

Mrs. Velma Williams, for the government, said she was clerk of the Selective Service Board 118 at Bloomfield with which Smith was registered.

She told of Smith first being classified 1-A and of his then being reclassified to 1-0 when he notified the board he was a conscientious objector.

Mrs. Williams said the defendant was given three choices of employment in lieu of active duty--one at the University of Missouri Medical Center at Columbia, at another institution or agricultural work. He refused them all, she said.

It was brought out the Selective Service Appeal Board and a state representative then met with Smith to try to reach an agreement with him as to type of employment he would prefer.

He failed to obey the order, testimony of Mrs. Williams and Smith both showed.

However, Smith and his attorney both sought to establish that the defendant was of the opinion he did not have to obey the order, since he had signed a statement at the last meeting with the board refusing to take the job.

Members of the jury were: Frank C. Worley, 1917 Cape Rock Drive, investment broker and foreman of the jury; Wm. N. Burch, Piedmont, carpenter; Roy Edward Deneke, Gordonville Route 1, farmer; Mrs. Hazel M. Ford, 1901 William, real state saleswoman; Denny J. Merideth Jr., Caruthersville, farmer; Paul Price, Redford, farmer; Mrs. Rutha Sue Rogers, Scott City, secretary; Loel Lowes, 905 Melody lane, president of a paint and glass company; Lyman Shearrer, Patterson, retired merchant; Mrs. Robin Elizabeth Browning, Kennett, housewife; A. Price Faulkner, Malden, teacher, and A. Keith Bess, Sikeston, wholesale beer distributor.

Civil cases on the docket were dispensed with before court convened.

Passed for settlement were these suits: O'Neal Wimberley vs. Gulf Oil Corp., and Jerry Franklin, et al, vs. Jones - Laughlin Steel Corp., et al.

Passed for term was the case of the United States vs. 84.70 acres land in New Madrid County.

The case of Warren Keesee vs. West Lake Quarry and Material was removed from the docket and dismissed for lack of jurisdiction was the suit of Etta Mae Walker vs. Doris Ann Larkin.

Explorer Post Goes On Outing

Agriculture Explorer Post 234, sponsored by Sikeston Production Credit Association went on an outing at Big Springs Friday and Saturday. Fishing, swimming, and boat riding concluded this year's activities for the post.

Phil Black, Skip Hambrick, Jimmy Lewis, Curtis Robb, Bill Sappenfield, James Klein, James Terrell, and Dave Childers made the trip. Charles Lewis accompanied them.

The Aggie explorers have gone on field trips during the school year. They have visited feeder cattle operation, an agricultural chemical processing plant, and have had a program on the state conservation commission.

The post is directed by Committee chairmen Fred Alexander, Scott Waters and Tom Love.

I have never given very deep thought to a philsophy of life, though I have a few ideas that I think are useful to me. One is that you do whatever comes your way to do as well as you can, and another is that you think as little as possible about yourself and as much as possible about other people and about things that are interesting. The third is that you get more joy out of giving joy to others and should put a good deal of thought into the happiness that you are able to give.

Senate Lets Up on Cuts

JEFFERSON CITY AP - The University of Missouri got back most of the buildings it wanted as the Senate worked into the wee hours today.

After the Senate knocked out the recommendations of its appropriations Committee time after time, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, resigned as vice chairman of the committee.

He said the actions of the Senate in restoring mental health and capital improvement cuts were ridiculous and he did not want to have any part in it.

The long weeks of work of the Appropriations Committee, he said, were merely an exercise in futility and in view of the Senate's actions he couldn't see that the committee had any valuable function.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, committee chairman, and several other members urged him to reconsider but Blackwell was adamant.

Sen. John E. Downs, D - St. Joseph, said he could understand Blackwell's reaction to the pressures to which the Senate had been submitted. He criticized what he called "the greedy, over-reaching and dishonest Board of Curators and the president of the University of Missouri."

Blackwell's action came after the Senate had restored a $7,650,000 multipurpose auditorium and a $2.5 million addition to the chemistry building on the Columbia campus.

Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, also sought to restore $350,000 for an addition to the university system building for which $770,000 was voted two years ago but withdrew his attempt in the face of rising opposition.

Altogether the university's capital improvement allotment was raised from $13,326,667 to $23,476,667.

The Senate declined to add about $3 million for buildings at mental institutions although it had restored a 4 per cent cut in mental health operations earlier in the day.

It also refused to cut out $200,000 for work at a new airport at Lake of the Ozarks State Park.

In the debate Sen. Albert M. Spradling, Cape Girardeau, charged Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, wanted to block construction of the jet landing strip before the Midwest governors' conference at the lake in August -- a charge Jones denied.

Jones said he just didn't want an airport in a state park and the legislature had no legal authority to make such an appropriation.

The Senate also turned down an effort to add $882,000 to the bill to improve Alley Springs, Round Spring and Big Spring state parks.

Downs was successful in adding $112,250 to eliminate fire hazards at the St. Joseph State Hospital but numerous other efforts to add buildings at state schools and hospitals were voted down.

The appropriation now goes back to the House and will be shunted into conference committee for final settlement.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

WHEREAS, by ordinance duly enacted by the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the 11th day of May, 1967, a franchise was granted to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, to construct, maintain and operate a natural gas distribution system in the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the approval of the majority of the qualified voters residing in the corporate limits of said City; and,

WHEREAS, the Mayor of said city was authorized and directed to issue a call and proclamation of such special election, to be held on the 13th day of June, 1967:

IT IS THEREFORE PROCLAIMED AND NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the voters of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, that a special election will be held in said City of Sikeston, Missouri, on the 13th day of June, 1967, for the approval of or disapproval of said franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, its successors and assigns, by Ordinance No. 3222, which Ordinance was duly enacted by the City Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said City, on the 11th day of May, 1967, and which Ordinance is, in words and figures, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 3222

"AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, GRANTING TO THE ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, A CORPORATION, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT AND PRIVILEGE AND FRANCHISE TO LAY GAS MAINS ALONG, UNDER AND THROUGH THE STREETS, AVENUES, ALLEYS, ROADS, AND HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES OF THE CITY, FOR THE PURPOSE OF DISTRIBUTING AND SELLING GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY AND TO OTHERS, AND ALSO THE RIGHT TO LAY PIPELINES IN, TO, THROUGH AND UNDER THE STREETS, ALLEYS, AVENUES, ROADS, HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES AND GROUNDS OF THE CITY FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONVEYING GAS THROUGH AND IN SAID CITY FOR DISTRIBUTION AND SALE OF GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY, AND TO OTHERS, FOR DOMESTIC, COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PURPOSES, SUBJECT TO THE ITEMS HEREINAFTER PROVIDED."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1: That the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the terms, conditions and stipulations mentioned in this Ordinance, hereby grants a franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation organized and existing pursuant to the laws of the State of Delaware, Grantee, and to its successors, lessees, and assigns the right to lay, construct, equip, operate, repair and maintain a system of gas mains, pipes, conduits, and feeders for the purpose of supplying and distributing natural and/or artificial gas for light, fuel, power, and heat and for any other purpose, to the residents or inhabitants of the said City, and further, the right to lay, construct, operate and maintain a system of works and comprising buildings, machinery, gas mains, pipelines, pipe conduits, manholes, underground conduits, appurtenances and appliances of every kind and character necessary and proper in the conduct of said gas business within the corporate limits of the City as they now exist, or may hereafter be extended, for the purpose of distributing and selling gas to said City and to the residents or inhabitants thereof, and to others, and for the purpose of conveying, conducting or distributing gas from such system to any point beyond said City Limits.

Section 2: The Grantee herein is expressly given the right and permit to use the streets, avenues, roads, highways, alleys, sidewalks and other public places, as now laid out, or hereafter to be established, for the purpose of laying gas mains, pipelines, conduits and feeders, and the necessary attachments, fixtures, connections, buildings, structures and appurtenances for the purpose of conveying or conducting gas from any point within the said City or to any point beyond the City Limits of the said City or to any point, through and beyond the City Limits of said City, and to operate and maintain a system of pipelines, pipes, conduits, feeders and the necessary attachments, connections, buildings, structures, fixtures and appurtenances for the distribution of gas within said City to serve the said City and the residents and inhabitants thereof, and others; provided, however, that where alleys are accessible for laying mains and pipes, the City shall have the right to require that the mains and pipes shall be laid in the alleys instead of the streets, and plans for laying mains must be submitted to the City Manager or specially, appointed representatives before final designation is made.

Section 3: In the opening and refilling of all openings made by the Grantee, it shall relay the pavement and do all other work necessary to complete restoration of the streets, sidewalks or grounds to the condition equally as good as when disturbed.

Section 4: No fees or charges of any kind shall be imposed upon the Grantee or upon any successors, or upon any consumer of gas for the breaking or opening of any highway, street, road, avenue, alley, or other public places, or for the laying of any main, service pipe or other connections therein.

Nothing in this franchise shall be construed in such manner as to in any manner abridge the right of the City to pass and enforce the necessary police regulations for the purpose of protecting the citizens of said City and their property and the property of the Grantee.

Grantee shall at all times keep and display the necessary danger signals and proper guards around all excavations and obstructions, and shall as soon as practicable restore all openings on the highway, road, street, avenue, alley and other public places to condition equally as good as before said openings or obstructions were made.

Section 5: The Grantee shall do no injury to any highway, road, street, avenue, alley, lane, bridge, stream or water course, park or public place, nor in any manner disturb or interfere unnecessarily with electric lines, nor with any public or private sewer or drainage system, or water lines, now or hereafter laid or constructed by said City or by any authorized person or corporation, but no electric conduits or sewer or water pipes shall be so laid as to interfere unnecessarily with any gas main or pipes which shall have been laid prior to the time of laying such electric conduits, sewer or water pipes. The Grantee shall fully indemnify and save harmless the City from any and all claims for damages for which said City shall or might be made or become liable by reason of the granting of this franchise, or any negligence or carelessness on the part of said Grantee, or because of any act or omission of the Grantee in the construction and operation of its system of mains and pipes.

Section 6: The Grantee shall supply gas under the terms and conditions herein specified to all applicants not in arrears for any bills for gas, service, pipes, appliances, or other things, owning or occupying premises on or abutting the streets, avenues, or other public places in which such gas mains or conduits are laid.

The Grantee shall have the right to require a written agreement with all applicants for natural gas. The rate or rates to be charged for gas, the minimum monthly bill, the meter connection, moving or other charge, the amount of the immediate deposit, the terms and conditions under which gas is to be served the individual applicant, and other things shall be determined by such agreement. Such agreements are to conform with the state laws and regulations governing same.

The Grantee shall have the right to make and enforce as a part of the conditions under which it will supply gas for heat, power, light, fuel or other purposes as herein provided, all needful rules and regulations not inconsistent with law and the provisions of this franchise.

The rates charged and the Rules and Regulations under which service is to be supplied, for domestic, commercial and industrial consumption of gas shall be reasonable and as may be approved by the Public Service Commission of Missouri or the Commission or Regulatory Body then having jurisdiction over the rates of Grantee.

Section 7: The Grantee shall make, own and maintain all necessary connections with its mains, lay pipe to curb line, or to point on or near property line where no curb line has been determined, and may at its option install a service cock and box. Grantee will also designate location of, set and own the meter, but all other piping, connections and appliances for the purpose of utilizing gas shall be furnished and installed by the house owner, or consumer, at his risk and expenses.

Section 8: The Grantee shall furnish promptly to the proper authorities any and all information which may be requested by them in regard to the size, location or depths of any of the pipes, mains, conduits or service pipes, in any form whatsoever and any other information in regard to its occupation of roads, highways, streets, avenues or public grounds of said City, which they may demand. Whenever the word "Grantee" occurs in this Ordinance, it shall mean and it shall be understood to be the ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, its successors, lessees, or assigns, and whenever the words "authorities" or "proper authorities" occur in this franchise they shall mean and shall be understood to mean the authorized officer or officers, committee or board representing the City of Sikeston, Missouri, or Grantor.

Section 9: All rights, privileges and authority granted by this Ordinance shall, upon its acceptance by Grantee in the manner hereinafter provided, be and remain in full force and effect for and during the term of ten years from and after its passage and approval; provided, this Franchise and all rights and privileges herein provided shall be extended for two (2) successive periods of five (5) years each, unless the municipality by notice given to the Company and by Ordinance duly enacted and approved at least six (6) months before the end of such term of ten (10) years, or before the end of the first extended term of five (5) years, as the case may be, shall declare such termination effective.

Section 10: Grantee shall file its written acceptance of this franchise Ordinance within sixty (60) days after its passage, and thereafter shall make proper application with the necessary and proper regulatory bodies for the necessary and proper permits to operate said gas system. Grantee shall, within twelve (12) months after procuring all of the necessary certificates of convenience and necessity and all other proper permits, both from the State of Missouri and the Federal Government, begin actual construction of laying gas lines for the distribution of gas in said City. All delays, however, occasioned by strikes, weather, riots, floods, war and acts of God shall be excepted from the performance period herein.

The City Council of Grantor may from time to time extend the periods provided in this Section.

Section 11: Grantee shall pay, and in consideration of the granting of this franchise agrees to pay, to the City as a franchise tax and compensation for the rights and privileges enjoyed hereunder, a sum equal to five (5%) per cent of its gross annual revenue from the sale of natural gas in said municipality, excluding any revenue derived from service to the municipality or any revenue from industrial consumers.

It is understood and agreed that the computations of the per cent of the revenue as above provided shall be computed on the basis of the revenue from January 1, through December 31, of each year prior to the year in which the payment shall be made.

The Company shall pay the City on or before the tenth day of each month the amount of the payments arrived at in the manner herein provided at the rate of 1/12 of such annual amount.

Such payments shall be in lieu of all other franchise, licenses or occupation taxes which may be levied or attempted to be levied by said City for said gas business. Upon request of the City, Grantee shall make available for examination by duly authorized representatives the necessary records to determine the payments made hereunder.

Section 12: Said Grantee shall have the full right and power to assign to any other person or persons, co-partnership, firm or corporation, any and all rights conferred upon it by the terms of this Ordinance, after it has installed, erected and built a gas distribution system; provided, that a mortgage or trust deed or judicial sales made thereunder or under tax sales or the transfer of this franchise to a subsidiary, shall not be deemed an assignment within the meaning of this Section. Any assignee of the rights of the Grantee herein, by accepting such assignment, shall thereby become subject to all of the terms, conditions and provisions of this Ordinance; and in the event of any assignment by said Grantee of the rights hereby conferred upon it, such assignment shall be in writing and a duly authenticated copy thereof shall be filed in the Office of the Clerk of said City of Sikeston, Missouri.

Section 13: The Grantee shall maintain sufficient, suitable and adequate pressure of gas in its mains, where the service line to consumer attaches to the Grantee's main or pipeline in a street or alley adjacent to such consumer's property line.

Section 14: If any Section, Paragraph, Subdivision, Clause, Phrase or Provision of this Ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or unconstitutional, the same shall not affect the validity of this Ordinance as a whole, or any part or provisions, other than the part so decided to be invalid or unconstitutional. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with any provision of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 15: The Grantor shall enact all needful Ordinances, rules and regulations for the protection of the property of the Grantee for the purpose of preserving and securing the Grantee all the rights, privileges, immunities and benefits granted herein.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

WHEREAS, by ordinance duly enacted by the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the 11th day of May, 1967, a franchise was granted to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, to construct, maintain and operate a natural gas distribution system in the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the approval of the majority of the qualified voters residing in the corporate limits of said City; and,

WHEREAS, the Mayor of said city was authorized and directed to issue a call and proclamation of such special election, to be held on the 13th day of June, 1967:

IT IS THEREFORE PROCLAIMED AND NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the voters of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, that a special election will be held in said City of Sikeston, Missouri, on the 13th day of June, 1967, for the approval of or disapproval of said franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation, its successors and assigns, by Ordinance No. 3222, which Ordinance was duly enacted by the City Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, and approved by the Mayor of said City, on the 11th day of May, 1967, and which Ordinance is, in words and figures, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 3222

"AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, GRANTING TO THE ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, A CORPORATION, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT AND PRIVILEGE AND FRANCHISE TO LAY GAS MAINS ALONG, UNDER AND THROUGH THE STREETS, AVENUES, ALLEYS, ROADS, AND HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES OF THE CITY, FOR THE PURPOSE OF DISTRIBUTING AND SELLING GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY AND TO OTHERS, AND ALSO THE RIGHT TO LAY PIPELINES IN, TO, THROUGH AND UNDER THE STREETS, ALLEYS, AVENUES, ROADS, HIGHWAYS AND OTHER PUBLIC PLACES AND GROUNDS OF THE CITY FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONVEYING GAS THROUGH AND IN SAID CITY FOR DISTRIBUTION AND SALE OF GAS TO THE INHABITANTS OF SAID CITY, AND TO OTHERS, FOR DOMESTIC, COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PURPOSES, SUBJECT TO THE ITEMS HEREINAFTER PROVIDED."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1: That the City of Sikeston, Missouri, subject to the terms, conditions and stipulations mentioned in this Ordinance, hereby grants a franchise to Associated Natural Gas Company, a corporation organized and existing pursuant to the laws of the State of Delaware, Grantee, and to its successors, lessees, and assigns the right to lay, construct, equip, operate, repair and maintain a system of gas mains, pipes, conduits, and feeders for the purpose of supplying and distributing natural and/or artificial gas for light, fuel, power, and heat and for any other purpose, to the residents or inhabitants of the said City, and further, the right to lay, construct, operate and maintain a system of works and comprising buildings, machinery, gas mains, pipelines, pipe conduits, manholes, underground conduits, appurtenances and appliances of every kind and character necessary and proper in the conduct of said gas business within the corporate limits of the City as they now exist, or may hereafter be extended, for the purpose of distributing and selling gas to said City and to the residents or inhabitants thereof, and to others, and for the purpose of conveying, conducting or distributing gas from such system to any point beyond said City Limits.

Section 2: The Grantee herein is expressly given the right and permit to use the streets, avenues, roads, highways, alleys, sidewalks and other public places, as now laid out, or hereafter to be established, for the purpose of laying gas mains, pipelines, conduits and feeders, and the necessary attachments, fixtures, connections, buildings, structures and appurtenances for the purpose of conveying or conducting gas from any point within the said City or to any point beyond the City Limits of the said City or to any point, through and beyond the City Limits of said City, and to operate and maintain a system of pipelines, pipes, conduits, feeders and the necessary attachments, connections, buildings, structures, fixtures and appurtenances for the distribution of gas within said City to serve the said City and the residents and inhabitants thereof, and others; provided, however, that where alleys are accessible for laying mains and pipes, the City shall have the right to require that the mains and pipes shall be laid in the alleys instead of the streets, and plans for laying mains must be submitted to the City Manager or specially, appointed representatives before final designation is made.

Section 3: In the opening and refilling of all openings made by the Grantee, it shall relay the pavement and do all other work necessary to complete restoration of the streets, sidewalks or grounds to the condition equally as good as when disturbed.

Section 4: No fees or charges of any kind shall be imposed upon the Grantee or upon any successors, or upon any consumer of gas for the breaking or opening of any highway, street, road, avenue, alley, or other public places, or for the laying of any main, service pipe or other connections therein.

Nothing in this franchise shall be construed in such manner as to in any manner abridge the right of the City to pass and enforce the necessary police regulations for the purpose of protecting the citizens of said City and their property and the property of the Grantee.

Grantee shall at all times keep and display the necessary danger signals and proper guards around all excavations and obstructions, and shall as soon as practicable restore all openings on the highway, road, street, avenue, alley and other public places to condition equally as good as before said openings or obstructions were made.

Section 5: The Grantee shall do no injury to any highway, road, street, avenue, alley, lane, bridge, stream or water course, park or public place, nor in any manner disturb or interfere unnecessarily with electric lines, nor with any public or private sewer or drainage system, or water lines, now or hereafter laid or constructed by said City or by any authorized person or corporation, but no electric conduits or sewer or water pipes shall be so laid as to interfere unnecessarily with any gas main or pipes which shall have been laid prior to the time of laying such electric conduits, sewer or water pipes. The Grantee shall fully indemnify and save harmless the City from any and all claims for damages for which said City shall or might be made or become liable by reason of the granting of this franchise, or any negligence or carelessness on the part of said Grantee, or because of any act or omission of the Grantee in the construction and operation of its system of mains and pipes.

Section 6: The Grantee shall supply gas under the terms and conditions herein specified to all applicants not in arrears for any bills for gas, service, pipes, appliances, or other things, owning or occupying premises on or abutting the streets, avenues, or other public places in which such gas mains or conduits are laid.

The Grantee shall have the right to require a written agreement with all applicants for natural gas. The rate or rates to be charged for gas, the minimum monthly bill, the meter connection, moving or other charge, the amount of the immediate deposit, the terms and conditions under which gas is to be served the individual applicant, and other things shall be determined by such agreement. Such agreements are to conform with the state laws and regulations governing same.

The Grantee shall have the right to make and enforce as a part of the conditions under which it will supply gas for heat, power, light, fuel or other purposes as herein provided, all needful rules and regulations not inconsistent with law and the provisions of this franchise.

The rates charged and the Rules and Regulations under which service is to be supplied, for domestic, commercial and industrial consumption of gas shall be reasonable and as may be approved by the Public Service Commission of Missouri or the Commission or Regulatory Body then having jurisdiction over the rates of Grantee.

Section 7: The Grantee shall make, own and maintain all necessary connections with its mains, lay pipe to curb line, or to point on or near property line where no curb line has been determined, and may at its option install a service cock and box. Grantee will also designate location of, set and own the meter, but all other piping, connections and appliances for the purpose of utilizing gas shall be furnished and installed by the house owner, or consumer, at his risk and expenses.

Section 8: The Grantee shall furnish promptly to the proper authorities any and all information which may be requested by them in regard to the size, location or depths of any of the pipes, mains, conduits or service pipes, in any form whatsoever and any other information in regard to its occupation of roads, highways, streets, avenues or public grounds of said City, which they may demand. Whenever the word "Grantee" occurs in this Ordinance, it shall mean and it shall be understood to be the ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS COMPANY, its successors, lessees, or assigns, and whenever the words "authorities" or "proper authorities" occur in this franchise they shall mean and shall be understood to mean the authorized officer or officers, committee or board representing the City of Sikeston, Missouri, or Grantor.

Section 9: All rights, privileges and authority granted by this Ordinance shall, upon its acceptance by Grantee in the manner hereinafter provided, be and remain in full force and effect for and during the term of ten years from and after its passage and approval; provided, this Franchise and all rights and privileges herein provided shall be extended for two (2) successive periods of five (5) years each, unless the municipality by notice given to the Company and by Ordinance duly enacted and approved at least six (6) months before the end of such term of ten (10) years, or before the end of the first extended term of five (5) years, as the case may be, shall declare such termination effective.

Section 10: Grantee shall file its written acceptance of this franchise Ordinance within sixty (60) days after its passage, and thereafter shall make proper application with the necessary and proper regulatory bodies for the necessary and proper permits to operate said gas system. Grantee shall, within twelve (12) months after procuring all of the necessary certificates of convenience and necessity and all other proper permits, both from the State of Missouri and the Federal Government, begin actual construction of laying gas lines for the distribution of gas in said City. All delays, however, occasioned by strikes, weather, riots, floods, war and acts of God shall be excepted from the performance period herein.

The City Council of Grantor may from time to time extend the periods provided in this Section.

Section 11: Grantee shall pay, and in consideration of the granting of this franchise agrees to pay, to the City as a franchise tax and compensation for the rights and privileges enjoyed hereunder, a sum equal to five (5%) per cent of its gross annual revenue from the sale of natural gas in said municipality, excluding any revenue derived from service to the municipality or any revenue from industrial consumers.

It is understood and agreed that the computations of the per cent of the revenue as above provided shall be computed on the basis of the revenue from January 1, through December 31, of each year prior to the year in which the payment shall be made.

The Company shall pay the City on or before the tenth day of each month the amount of the payments arrived at in the manner herein provided at the rate of 1/12 of such annual amount.

Such payments shall be in lieu of all other franchise, licenses or occupation taxes which may be levied or attempted to be levied by said City for said gas business. Upon request of the City, Grantee shall make available for examination by duly authorized representatives the necessary records to determine the payments made hereunder.

Section 12: Said Grantee shall have the full right and power to assign to any other person or persons, co-partnership, firm or corporation, any and all rights conferred upon it by the terms of this Ordinance, after it has installed, erected and built a gas distribution system; provided, that a mortgage or trust deed or judicial sales made thereunder or under tax sales or the transfer of this franchise to a subsidiary, shall not be deemed an assignment within the meaning of this Section. Any assignee of the rights of the Grantee herein, by accepting such assignment, shall thereby become subject to all of the terms, conditions and provisions of this Ordinance; and in the event of any assignment by said Grantee of the rights hereby conferred upon it, such assignment shall be in writing and a duly authenticated copy thereof shall be filed in the Office of the Clerk of said City of Sikeston, Missouri.

Section 13: The Grantee shall maintain sufficient, suitable and adequate pressure of gas in its mains, where the service line to consumer attaches to the Grantee's main or pipeline in a street or alley adjacent to such consumer's property line.

Section 14: If any Section, Paragraph, Subdivision, Clause, Phrase or Provision of this Ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or unconstitutional, the same shall not affect the validity of this Ordinance as a whole, or any part or provisions, other than the part so decided to be invalid or unconstitutional. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with any provision of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 15: The Grantor shall enact all needful Ordinances, rules and regulations for the protection of the property of the Grantee for the purpose of preserving and securing the Grantee all the rights, privileges, immunities and benefits granted herein.

JERRY LYNN YOUNG

Bank Robber, Joins FBI's Wanted List

WASHINGTON -- Jerry Lynn Young, a heavily armed convicted bank robber, who suffers from a serious skin disease, answers to the nickname "Bugs", rides a motorcycle, frequents, "hippie pads" and is charged with robbing banks in North Carolina and Mississippi, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Young, who reportedly has suicidal tendencies and has claimed he will never be taken alive, allegedly robbed the East Office Branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Asheville, North Carolina, of $13,671 on the early afternoon of March 2, 1967, at the point of a double - barreled shotgun.

The nervous bank robber, who was dressed in a long dark coat, rain hat, dark sun glasses, a face mask and high heeled boots, reportedly threatened to kill any bank employee pursuing him before escaping in a car stolen from a Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen, North Carolina. A bank customer, who briefly followed the escaping bandit in his car, was fired at with a pistol which the bank robber also carried.

Young then reportedly proceeded in another car to Fletcher, North Carolina, where it was recovered abandoned on March 5, 1967.

On the late afternoon of April 14, 1967, Young allegedly robbed the Bank of Olive Branch, Mississippi, of $14,919 at pistol point, fleeing in a car which was found abandoned a few hours after the holdup by police at Memphis, Tennessee. One day later, April 15, 1967, a motorcycle known to have been operated by Young was found abandoned near Newbern, Tennessee.

This fugitive, who is known to travel frequently about the country, especially in several southern states, reportedly resided in California between mid March and early April, 1967.

Federal warrants for Young's arrest were issued on March 27, 1967, at Asheville, North Carolina, charging him with bank robbery and crime on a government reservation --- larceny. Additional Federal Warrants were issued on March 21, 1967, at Greenville, South Carolina, charging him with interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, and on April 15, 1967, at Greenville, Mississippi, charging him with bank robbery.

Young served on active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps between February 1, 1961, and March 16, 1962, when he was given an undesirable discharge due to misconduct following conviction for robbing at gunpoint the Richlands, North Carolina, Branch of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company of $4,350. He was sentenced to a term of six years and one day's confinement in Federal custody for this offense and was paroled on August 14, 1963. He served his sentence in Federal reformatories at Petersburg, Virginia, and El Reno, Oklahoma. His parole for this offense expired on March 1, 1967, and shortly after noon the following day he allegedly robbed the Asheville, North Carolina, bank.

He is known to suffer severely from the skin disease "Psoriasis," which requires frequent treatment and medication, has a noticeable southern accent, plays the piano and organ, smokes cigarettes, drinks bourbon whiskey and imported beer or ale, spends freely and tips lavishly and often carries an expensive Japanese camera. He enjoys travel by air, often rides a motorcycle, associates with artists and musicians and reportedly frequents "hippie pads," bars and homosexual gathering places. He has occasionally worked as a drug store clerk, service station attendant, life guard and piano player with small bands.

Young was born at Russellville, Alabama, on October 2, 1942, is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes, light brown hair, a medium build and a medium complexion. He has a scar on the inside of his left thumb, one on the right side of his chest and an operation scar in the middle of his back.

He has been known to be armed with a shotgun, rifle and pistol, has reportedly stated he will never be taken alive, may have suicidal tendencies and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Anyone with information concerning Jerry Lynn Young is requested to immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of local telephone directories.

In a kindergarten class, one five-year-old asked the teacher for permission to go to the lavatory. Permission granted, he left the room only to return in a few minutes to tell the teacher he couldn't find it.

Carefully, she took him out into the hall and pointed to a door. Again the youngster was right back. "I still can't find it," he insisted.

This time the teacher asked another boy to go along with the first. When they finally returned, the boy sent as a guide reported success. "We finally found it," he told the teacher, "He had his pants on backwards." Jerry Record.

Pill Vendor Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A Kentucky man convicted by a jury May 8 on five counts of passing counterfeit amphetamine tablets to a government agent was sentenced Wednesday to serve 30 months federal penitentiary.

Judge Roy W. Harper, presiding in federal district court here, passed the sentence on Carl F. McCubbin, 49, of Horse Cave, Ky.

McCubbin was in court with his attorney, Robert Schneider of Horse Cave.

Schneider, after the defendant's motion for acquittal or for a new trial in the alternative was denied, asked the court for probation for his client.

He based his request in part on the fact that McCubbin is a diabetic, has an artificial leg and faces the possibility of having the other foot removed.

Schneider and McCubbin said the defendant thought he was operating a legitmate business when he sold the pills.

Judge Harper reminded them that testimony showed McCubbin had done a substantial business in selling the tablets and apparently had been in the business for at least five years.

He pointed out McCubbin had also made some sales in the dark of the night at the side of the road so that those parties involved could not be recognized.

"That's not my idea of a legitimate business," the judge said.

Judge Harper pointed out one but needs to read the newspaper to know the problems the pills are causing.

The judge said he would make arrangements for McCubbin to be sent to the Medical Center at Springfield for examination upon reporting to the marshal on June 20.

JERRY LYNN YOUNG

Bank Robber, Joins FBI's Wanted List

WASHINGTON -- Jerry Lynn Young, a heavily armed convicted bank robber, who suffers from a serious skin disease, answers to the nickname "Bugs", rides a motorcycle, frequents, "hippie pads" and is charged with robbing banks in North Carolina and Mississippi, has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Young, who reportedly has suicidal tendencies and has claimed he will never be taken alive, allegedly robbed the East Office Branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Asheville, North Carolina, of $13,671 on the early afternoon of March 2, 1967, at the point of a double - barreled shotgun.

The nervous bank robber, who was dressed in a long dark coat, rain hat, dark sun glasses, a face mask and high heeled boots, reportedly threatened to kill any bank employee pursuing him before escaping in a car stolen from a Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen, North Carolina. A bank customer, who briefly followed the escaping bandit in his car, was fired at with a pistol which the bank robber also carried.

Young then reportedly proceeded in another car to Fletcher, North Carolina, where it was recovered abandoned on March 5, 1967.

On the late afternoon of April 14, 1967, Young allegedly robbed the Bank of Olive Branch, Mississippi, of $14,919 at pistol point, fleeing in a car which was found abandoned a few hours after the holdup by police at Memphis, Tennessee. One day later, April 15, 1967, a motorcycle known to have been operated by Young was found abandoned near Newbern, Tennessee.

This fugitive, who is known to travel frequently about the country, especially in several southern states, reportedly resided in California between mid March and early April, 1967.

Federal warrants for Young's arrest were issued on March 27, 1967, at Asheville, North Carolina, charging him with bank robbery and crime on a government reservation --- larceny. Additional Federal Warrants were issued on March 21, 1967, at Greenville, South Carolina, charging him with interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, and on April 15, 1967, at Greenville, Mississippi, charging him with bank robbery.

Young served on active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps between February 1, 1961, and March 16, 1962, when he was given an undesirable discharge due to misconduct following conviction for robbing at gunpoint the Richlands, North Carolina, Branch of the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company of $4,350. He was sentenced to a term of six years and one day's confinement in Federal custody for this offense and was paroled on August 14, 1963. He served his sentence in Federal reformatories at Petersburg, Virginia, and El Reno, Oklahoma. His parole for this offense expired on March 1, 1967, and shortly after noon the following day he allegedly robbed the Asheville, North Carolina, bank.

He is known to suffer severely from the skin disease "Psoriasis," which requires frequent treatment and medication, has a noticeable southern accent, plays the piano and organ, smokes cigarettes, drinks bourbon whiskey and imported beer or ale, spends freely and tips lavishly and often carries an expensive Japanese camera. He enjoys travel by air, often rides a motorcycle, associates with artists and musicians and reportedly frequents "hippie pads," bars and homosexual gathering places. He has occasionally worked as a drug store clerk, service station attendant, life guard and piano player with small bands.

Young was born at Russellville, Alabama, on October 2, 1942, is 5'8" to 5'9" tall, weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes, light brown hair, a medium build and a medium complexion. He has a scar on the inside of his left thumb, one on the right side of his chest and an operation scar in the middle of his back.

He has been known to be armed with a shotgun, rifle and pistol, has reportedly stated he will never be taken alive, may have suicidal tendencies and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Anyone with information concerning Jerry Lynn Young is requested to immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of local telephone directories.

In a kindergarten class, one five-year-old asked the teacher for permission to go to the lavatory. Permission granted, he left the room only to return in a few minutes to tell the teacher he couldn't find it.

Carefully, she took him out into the hall and pointed to a door. Again the youngster was right back. "I still can't find it," he insisted.

This time the teacher asked another boy to go along with the first. When they finally returned, the boy sent as a guide reported success. "We finally found it," he told the teacher, "He had his pants on backwards." Jerry Record.

Pill Vendor Sentenced

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A Kentucky man convicted by a jury May 8 on five counts of passing counterfeit amphetamine tablets to a government agent was sentenced Wednesday to serve 30 monti federal penitentiary.

Judge Roy W. Harper, presiding in federal district court here, passed the sentence on Carl F. McCubbin, 49, of Horse Cave, Ky.

McCubbin was in court with his attorney, Robert Schneider of Horse Cave.

Schneider, after the defendant's motion for acquittal or for a new trial in the alternative was denied, asked the court for probation for his client.

He based his request in part on the fact that McCubbin is a diabetic, has an artificial leg and faces the possibility of having the other foot removed.

Schneider and McCubbin said the defendant thought he was operating a legitmate business when he sold the pills.

Judge Harper reminded them that testimony showed McCubbin had done a substantial business in selling the tablets and apparently had been in the business for at least five years.

He pointed out McCubbin had also made some sales in the dark of the night at the side of the road so that those parties involved could not be recognized.

"That's not my idea of a legitimate business," the judge said.

Judge Harper pointed out one but needs to read the newspaper to know the problems the pills are causing.

The judge said he would make arrangements for McCubbin to be sent to the Medical Center at Springfield for examination upon reporting to the marshal on June 20.

The Board of Aldermen met May 15th with all members present except Poindexter. The result of the election favoring changing this city to a third class city was 120 in favor and 175 against, defeating the proposition by 55 votes.

The Boy Scouts went on a short hike Monday evening to Applegate Grove, where they cooked their own supper. Two new members were admitted. Scoutmasters Denman and Burnham were in charge.

After a 10-day siege of vaccination against small pox the editor's family is almost of a mind that the genuine small pox could be little worse. Sore arms, sore glands, headaches, backaches, bellyaches, disordered livers, grouches, and everything going wrong is the complaint from morning until night.

Beginning with the first of June, the mechanical end of The Standard will be under the direct charge of the proprietor with Chas. L. Blanton, jr., to assist. Miss Clessen Edmondson, assisted by Catherine Blanton, will be the straight compositors until our new linotype is installed. Mrs. Blanton will be in charge of the front office while Miss Lill Parsons will do the locals and soliciting.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the wife who felt "left out" because her husband refused to remove his partial plate in her presence. Please tell her to count her blessings.

My husband has a bridge --- three front teeth, right in the middle. Clyde will remove his teeth any place, any time, in front of anybody. It doesn't matter if we are in a restaurant, at his boss' home or at the speaker's table honoring a distinguished member of the community. Whenever Clyde's teeth get uncomfortable he pops out his bridge, removes particles of food --and the rest of the world can go hang.

I've told him he presents a most unappetizing sight and to please cut it out. His response is, "If people don't like it they can look at something else." Will you kindly publish my letter. Maybe if my husband sees himself in the paper he will change his ways. --- WIFE OF A PERFORMER

Dear Wife: Don't expect miracles. If Clyde refuses to keep his teeth in his head for his wife, he surely won't pay any attention to me. An orchid to you, my dear, for your ability to tolerate his abdominable manners. And a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Clyde for his boorishness.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22 years old, and have two small children. The problem is my lack of self-control. I crave the attention of every man who treats me halfway decently. Three were men I work with and two were husbands of my close friends.

I am married to a wonderful guy who really does love me. We married young (I was only 17), which may be part of my problem. He would never stand for it if he knew what I was doing. Please help me before I end up out on the street, with no husband, no children and no marriage. --- AFRAID

Dear Afraid: Yours is a pathetic story and one which I have heard many times before. It may be that you did not receive the parental love you needed as a child and these shabby love - substitutes are desperate attempts to be close to someone.

You are a sick girl and I hope you will get professional help at once. Don't delay. The stakes are mighty high.

Dear Ann Landers: This is one letter I am going to mail. You have no idea how many others I have written in my mind, enumerating all the real and imagined injustices and indignities committed against me. These masterpieces to Ann Landers are usually composed during some exhausting or unsettling activity such as washing a sink full of dirty dishes, bathing a herd of screaming kids, or preparing a feast for a pack of ungrateful in-laws.

All that adrenalin surging through my veins could be very damaging. But the therapeutic value of my mental letters to Ann Landers is incalculable.

Then, of course, when I read your column and see the tragic and heartbreaking problems other people are having, my problems seem insignificant by comparison, and I feel ashamed. So, thank you, Ann Landers. My heart is grateful. -- MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Thank you. So is mine. Readers such as you give me a real lift.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect from Marriage," enclosing with your request 20¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

The Prayer
From The Upper Room

Quench not the Spirit. (I Thessalonians 5:19)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee for the gift of the Holy Spirit. We pray that we may have always an open mind and heart to receive His word and wisdom, grace to obey, and Thy guidance and blessing in all phases of our lives. Help us to manifest the fruits of the Spirit. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SIKESTON STANDARD:

Dear Editor, I, along with many of the Citizens of Sun Set Addition, to the City of Sikeston - were elated yesterday, May 15th., when we saw the mosquito control truck spraying again along the streets in our community.

I was also, relieved; and I am shure that the appearance of the truck brought relief to the minds of many of the taxpayers of the community. We are glad to know that our fine, and efficient City Manager was not influenced by what "Poor Charlie" said in the Sikeston Standard, on May 11,

We are very glad that Mr. Raymert Miller is City Manager, and not Poor Charlie. Poor Charlie's attitude toward the Citizens of Sun Set is too murch in different to that of the Sun Rise community. This in it self would prohibit him from being a good city manager. The city need a manager who understands that the tax-paying human citizecs who live in the Sun Set community can feel the mosquito bites just like those who live in the Sun Rise community. Farther, in as murch as many of the Sun Rise citizens do not share Poor Charlie's opinion about desegregation being the cause of the race problem "for there has been one since 1619" there are hundreds of citizens of Sun Set, who do not agree with, naw are conducive to the interference not only with the musquito control truck, but with any one who are doing their jobs in the community.

We commend our City manager for his broad vishion, and his deep insite. Most of all, for being manager of all of the city.

My view of the "leave them alone with their stones and mosquitos", is that; because of sticks and stones, we have been left alone too long. For hundreds of years, the schools and collages have left us alone. For this cause, the parents have left their children alone, just like for hundreds of years, the Fedal Government has left the States alone. But, when God created man, he said, it is not good that the man should be alone (Genesis 2:18). Man need a companion, wheather it be of opposiet sex or opposite race.

Rev. J. W. Gwin
President of the S.C.L.A.

May 15, 1967

To the Editor:
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri
Dear Sir:

The picture of the Rev. Tom K. Simms of Galveston, Texas, (which appeared in Friday's issue April 28, 1967) accompanied with one of his paintings, reminded me of the wonderful revival services he conducted in the Baptist Church at Boekerton, Missouri.

It must have been during his early years in evangelism, because it has been more than 15 years ago. (Our pastor at that time was Rev. Moore from Cape Girardeau, Missouri. He also, was a former pastor of the Red Star Baptist Church of the same city).

Each night during the song service, Bro. Simms completed a painting. He used these to illustrate a certain truth or person from the Bible. One such picture I especially remember was a painting of the "Hill of Three Crosses."

The Rev. Moore also, was an artist. His paintings were in oil color. He enjoyed painting, but, it was more a hobby for him.

After admiring some of Bro. Moore's handiwork, I suggested that he might paint a picture for me.

"What kind of picture?" He asked. "You know I can paint landscapes best."

Instantly, I remembered the Hill of Three Crosses. "Could you make a picture similar to this one that Bro. Simms painted for us during the revival meeting?" I asked, most hopefully.

When the picture was finished he presented it to me, complete with glass and frame. His kind face beamed with the satisfied smile of an artist who had been master of his own creation. He said:

"This will be with you long after I am gone, and for many, many years to come."

Today, the picture still hangs on our living room wall. It remains as beautiful as ever. It means even more to me each passing year. Bro. Moore now, has gone on to his final reward. And he left a reward for me. It is much more than "just a keepsake."

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Marie Spoor

From Willie Dixon President of the N.A.A.C.P. to anonymous of New Madrid county.

i recieve your letter with pleasure and also with regret. i regret that you are remaining an anonymous. i recieved it with pleasure because it is a fact. i can judge from your letter that you are a well educated and civil minded person. i sincerely appreciate all the information concerning the problem in New Madrid county. but i also want you to no as an official of the N.A.A.C.P. i am not seeking publicity but i am deeply concern about human rights. An it is my opinion that all civilized Americans should be concern about the same. You speak concern the ignorant Negroes in New Madrid county. but it is not only a job for the N.A.A.C.P. an it is not job only for Willie Dixon, but it is a job for all Americans citizens. and that include you - you are aware of the situation i need your support to solve the problem. remaining an anonymous don't build democracy. but being able to stand bold against lawless and stand firm on justic an equality and are willing to fight against ignorance and injustic and work faithful to educate all Americans then you or empruving the image of American you are also helping to eliminate the problem in which we have and if we solve the problems we have we are solving the problem in American. every individual have the right to take a stand agianst ignorance, and injustic and prejudice and segregation, and when these things are eliminated America will be better for all Americans. And remaining anonymous will not solve the problem. You said that Negroes are loaded up like cattle an haul to the voting poll on election day by the crooked politician. and the Negroes you say or to ignorant to know the differance between freedom an equal opportunity. I beleive when ever or where-ever that you see a person wrong and they don't know any better it is your responsibility to try to correct them so it is every other American responsibility to correct them that don't know. To work with faith to end the incredible situation that not only taken place in New Madrid but through out America since you are aware of the Problem I am asking you for your support to work with me and we will see if we together can stop the situation. The only way we can stop the crooked politicians is to teach the people how to use a ballot. and that is not only my job but it is a job for the American people. We don't only work for the rights of the Negroes we work to protect the rights and opportunity of all American people and you the anonymous have a share in helping all americans to acheive equality an equal opportunity an freedom. And ignorance do not only exist among the Negroes but among American people. And you and I have a share in fighting against that ignorance. We will not be able to stop all that exist but we can do our share. The constitution of Missouri say all person are created equal an are intitle to equal rights an opportunity under the law. But I say God created all person equal and they are intitle to equal opportunity throughout the world. and all American citizens must work together to protect the rights and opportunities of each other. and if we fail to protect the rights of each other we will fail Americia and americian democracy will fail us. So we must stand against all ignorance and against prejudice an injustic. an if we accomplish in our mission then we want have to worry about the crooked politician. but i do agree with you if what you say are true about New Madrid county it is a disgrace. but i all so want you to know we need your support along with many other who are willing to help solve the problem and teach them the difference between an insult an freedom an equal opportunity. You said you would send me some names but i also want you to give me your support, and we will do our best to eliminate the situation. You said answer your letter through daily standard. so i hope that you will agree with my letter as i have agreed with yours, and i am not anonymous like you are because i dont have anything to hide i am Willie Dixon president of the N.A.A.C.P.

Yours truely,
Willie Dixon

ON THE MOVE

The odds are one in five that you will move to a different home next year. If you are between 22 and 24, it's even money that you will change your residence in the next year. Marriage or your first permanent job are influencing factors. A college graduate is almost twice as likely to move as a man with a high school education or less.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE

By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF INDIGNANT THIEF

In managing a large company, George was torn between honor and booty. The latter, however, won out. During the years 1957, 1958 and 1959, he embezzled over $100,000 from his company. In fact, pickings couldn't have been easier had he been a banjo player. But then, the government intervened and nastily charged him with wilfully evading the payment of income taxes on his ill - gotten gains.

"The charge is absurd," George protested indignantly in court. "I took the money tax free! During 1957, 1958 and 1959, there was a United States Supreme Court decision that held that embezzled funds were not taxable."

"But, ah!" glowered the prosecuting attorney. "We didn't catch you in 1957, 1958 and 1959. We caught you now. And the United States Supreme Court has since ruled that embezzled funds are taxable. Therefore, my friend, you're guilty."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail George for failing to pay taxes on the tainted money?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that George had not "wilfully" evaded the payment of taxes in 1957, 1958 and 1959 since he had a right to rely upon the then United States Supreme Court decision that embezzled funds were not taxable.

(Based upon a 1965 U.S. District Court Decision)

TODAYS LEGAL POINTER:

To report that a woman is married when she is in fact single is not normally considered to be defamatory since marriage is looked upon by the law as an honorable, wholesome and necessary institution. That, consequently, such a report cannot reasonably subject her to public scorn, ridicule and/or contempt.

THE MARVEL OF SEED

What marvelous power is the tiny seed
It matters not whether they be flower or weed.
Locked within walls of each small shell
Is strength unknown, inside the hearts cell.
No matter what ever may be the name
The process of life is much the same.
Until the cycle of growth is more complete
'Tis hard to define the tares with wheat.
The weeds will grow without any care
They need no planting -- they are everywhere.
But beautiful flowers or the prize rose
Must be cultivated and planted in rows.
'Twould be so easy to let tares and weeds go
But the flowers and wheat would cease to grow.
For weeds grow wild and the tares grow tall
With no pretty flowers and wheat harvest small.
Our life is so like the flowers and weeds
Each heart bears both good and evil seeds.
Without cultivation a crop of bad seeds
Soon would choke out life's golden deeds.

HIGHER EDUCATION..... VIA A NEWSPAPER ROUTE

Why do educators frequently encourage youngsters to apply for a newspaper route? And why are more and more schools giving "credit" for newspaper route experience?

Because the attitude of a boy towards higher education frequently changes, when, as a Little Merchant newspaperboy, in business for himself, he begins to understand the value of book learning combined with practical experience.

He buys at wholesale—sells at retail—makes his own deliveries and collections—learns simple bookkeeping—and often develops into a surprisingly good salesman.

And the money he banks while a newspaperboy frequently makes it possible for him to attend the college of his choice.

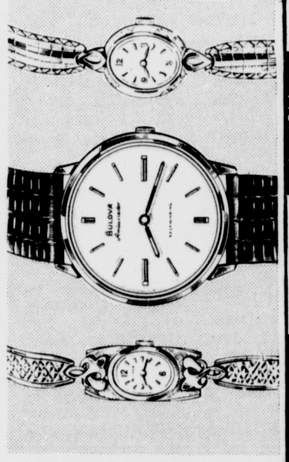

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit from newspaperboy experience, have him come in and talk to us.

The Daily Standard

Note to Subscribers: Please have your money ready when your Newspaperboy makes his collections. It will save him time and will also help him maintain his profits.

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the wife who felt "left out" because her husband refused to remove his partial plate in her presence. Please tell her to count her blessings.

My husband has a bridge --- three front teeth, right in the middle. Clyde will remove his teeth any place, any time, in front of anybody. It doesn't matter if we are in a restaurant, at his boss' home or at the speaker's table honoring a distinguished member of the community. Whenever Clyde's teeth get uncomfortable he pops out his bridge, removes particles of food --and the rest of the world can go hang.

I've told him he presents a most unappetizing sight and to please cut it out. His response is, "If people don't like it they can look at something else." Will you kindly publish my letter. Maybe if my husband sees himself in the paper he will change his ways. --- WIFE OF A PERFORMER

Dear Wife: Don't expect miracles. If Clyde refuses to keep his teeth in his head for his wife, he surely won't pay any attention to me. An orchid to you, my dear, for your ability to tolerate his abdominable manners. And a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Clyde for his boorishness.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22 years old, and have two small children. The problem is my lack of self-control. I crave the attention of every man who treats me halfway decently. Three were men I work with and two were husbands of my close friends.

I am married to a wonderful guy who really does love me. We married young (I was only 17), which may be part of my problem. He would never stand for it if he knew what I was doing. Please help me before I end up out on the street, with no husband, no children and no marriage. --- AFRAID

Dear Afraid: Yours is a pathetic story and one which I have heard many times before. It may be that you did not receive the parental love you needed as a child and these shabby love - substitutes are desperate attempts to be close to someone.

You are a sick girl and I hope you will get professional help at once. Don't delay. The stakes are mighty high.

Dear Ann Landers: This is one letter I am going to mail. You have no idea how many others I have written in my mind, enumerating all the real and imagined injustices and indignities committed against me. These masterpieces to Ann Landers are usually composed during some exhausting or unsettling activity such as washing a sink full of dirty dishes, bathing a herd of screaming kids, or preparing a feast for a pack of ungrateful in-laws.

All that adrenalin surging through my veins could be very damaging. But the therapeutic value of my mental letters to Ann Landers is incalculable.

Then, of course, when I read your column and see the tragic and heartbreaking problems other people are having, my problems seem insignificant by comparison, and I feel ashamed. So, thank you, Ann Landers. My heart is grateful. -- MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Thank you. So is mine. Readers such as you give me a real lift.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect from Marriage," enclosing with your request 20¢ in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

The Prayer From The Upper Room

Quench not the Spirit. (I Thessalonians 5:19)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee for the gift of the Holy Spirit. We pray that we may have always an open mind and heart to receive His word and wisdom, grace to obey, and Thy guidance and blessing in all phases of our lives. Help us to manifest the fruits of the Spirit. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SIKESTON STANDARD:

Dear Editor, I, along with many of the Citizens of Sun Set Addition, to the City of Sikeston - were elated yesterday, May 15th., when we saw the mosquito control truck spraying again along the streets in our community.

I was also, relieved; and I am shure that the appearance of the truck brought relief to the minds of many of the taxpayers of the community. We are glad to know that our fine, and efficient City Manager was not influenced by what "Poor Charlie" said in the Sikeston Standard, on May 11,

We are very glad that Mr. Raymert Miller is City Manager, and not Poor Charlie. Poor Charlie's attitude toward the Citizens of Sun Set is too murch in different to that of the Sun Rise community. This in it self would prohibit him from being a good city manager. The city need a manager who understands that the taxpaying human citizecs who live in the Sun Set community can feel the mosquito bites just like those who live in the Sun Rise community. Farther, in as murch as many of the Sun Rise citizens do not share Poor Charlie's opinion about desegregation being the cause of the race problem "for there has been one since 1619" there are hundreds of citizens of Sun Set, who do not agree with, naw are conducive to the interference not only with the musquito control truck, but with any one who are doing their jobs in the community.

We commend our City manager for his broad vishion, and his deep insite. Most of all, for being manager of all of the city.

My view of the "leave them alone with their stones and mosquitos", is that; because of sticks and stones, we have been left alone too long. For hundreds of years, the schools and collages have left us alone. For this cause, the parents have left their children alone, just like for hundreds of years, the Fedal Government has left the States alone. But, when God created man, he said, it is not good that the man should be alone (Genesis 2:18). Man need a companion, wheather it be of opposiet sex or opposite race.

Rev. J. W. Gwin
President of the S.C.I.A.

May 15, 1967

To the Editor:
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri
Dear Sir:

The picture of the Rev. Tom K. Simms of Galveston, Texas, (which appeared in Friday's issue April 28, 1967) accompanied with one of his paintings, reminded me of the wonderful revival services he conducted in the Baptist Church at Boekerton, Missouri.

It must have been during his early years in evangelism, because it has been more than 15 years ago. (Our pastor at that time was Rev. Moore from Cape Girardeau, Missouri. He also, was a former pastor of the Red Star Baptist Church of the same city).

Each night during the song service, Bro. Simms completed a painting. He used these to illustrate a certain truth or person from the Bible. One such picture I especially remember was a painting of the "Hill of Three Crosses."

The Rev. Moore also, was an artist. His paintings were in oil color. He enjoyed painting, but, it was more a hobby for him.

After admiring some of Bro. Moore's handiwork, I suggested that he might paint a picture for me.

"What kind of picture?" He asked. "You know I can paint landscapes best."

Instantly, I remembered the Hill of Three Crosses. "Could you make a picture similar to this one that Bro. Simms painted for us during the revival meeting?" I asked, most hopefully.

When the picture was finished he presented it to me, complete with glass and frame. His kind face beamed with the satisfied smile of an artist who had been master of his own creation. He said:

"This will be with you long after I am gone, and for many, many years to come."

Today, the picture still hangs on our living room wall. It remains as beautiful as ever. It means even more to me each passing year. Bro. Moore now, has gone on to his final reward. And he left a reward for me. It is much more than "just a keepsake."

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Marie Spoor

From Willie Dixon President of the N.A.A.C.P. to anonymous of New Madrid county.

i recieve your letter with pleasure and also with regret. i regret that you are remaining an anonymous. i recieved it with pleasure because it is a fact, i can judge from your letter that you are a well educated and civil minded person. i sincerely appreciate all the information concerning the problem in New Madrid county. but i also want you to no as an official of the N.A.A.C.P. i am not seeking publicity but i am deeply concern about human rights. An it is my opinion that all civilized Americans should be concern about the same. You speak concern the ignorant Negroes in New Madrid county. but it is not only a job for the N.A.A.C.P. an it is not job only for Willie Dixon, but it is a job for all Americans citizens. and that include you - you are aware of the situation i need your support to solve the problem. remaining an anonymous don't build democracy. but being able to stand bold against lawless and stand firm on justic an equality and are willing to fight against ignorance and injustic and work faithful to educate all Americans then you or empruving the image of American you are also helping to eliminate the problem in which we have and if we solve the problems we have we are solving the problem in American. every individual have the right to take a stand agianst ignorance, and injustic and prejudice and segregation, and when these things are eliminated America will be better for all Americans. And remaining anonymous will not solve the problem. You said that Negroes are loaded up like cattle an haul to the voting poll on election day by the crooked politician. and the Negroes you say or to ignorant to know the differance between freedom an equal opportunity. I beleive when ever or where-ever that you see a person wrong and they don't know any better it is your responsibility to try to correct them so it is every other American responsibility to correct them that don't know. To work with faith to end the incredible situation that not only taken place in New Madrid but through out America since you are aware of the Problem I am asking you for your support to work with me and we will see if we together can stop the situation. The only way we can stop the crooked politicians is to teach the people how to use a ballot. and that is not only my job but it is a job for the American people. We don't only work for the rights of the Negroes we work to protect the rights and opportunity of all American people and you the anonymous have a share in helping all americans to acheive equality an equal opportunity an freedom. And ignorance do not only exist among the Negroes but among American people. And you and I have a share in fighting against that ignorance. We will not be able to stop all that exist but we can do our share. The constitution of Missouri say all person are created equal an are intitle to equal rights an opportunity under the law. But I say God created all person equal and they are intitle to equal opportunity throughout the world. and all American citizens must work together to protect the rights and opportunities of each other. and if we fail to protect the rights of each other we will fail Americia and americian democracy will fail us. So we must stand against all ignorance and against prejudice an injustic. an if we accomplish in our mission then we want have to worry about the crooked politician. but i do agree with you if what you say are true about New Madrid county it is a disgrace. but i all so want you to know we need your support along with many other who are willing to help solve the problem and teach them the difference between an insult an freedom an equal opportunity. You said you would send me some names but i also want you to give me your support, and we will do our best to eliminate the situation. You said answer your letter through daily standard. so i hope that you will agree with my letter as i have agreed with yours, and i am not anonymous like you are because i dont have anything to hide i am Willie Dixon president of the N.A.A.C.P.

Yours truely,
Willie Dixon

ON THE MOVE

The odds are one in five that you will move to a different home next year. If you are between 22 and 24, it's even money that you will change your residence in the next year. Marriage or your first permanent job are influencing factors. A college graduate is almost twice as likely to move as a man with a high school education or less.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE

By Jack Strass L. L. D.

THE CASE OF INDIGNANT THIEF

In managing a large company, George was torn between honor and booty. The latter, however, won out. During the years 1957, 1958 and 1959, he embezzled over $100,000 from his company. In fact, pickings couldn't have been easier had he been a banjo player. But then, the government intervened and nastily charged him with wilfully evading the payment of income taxes on his ill - gotten gains.

"The charge is absurd," George protested indignantly in court. "I took the money tax free! During 1957, 1958 and 1959, there was a United States Supreme Court decision that held that embezzled funds were not taxable."

"But, ah!" glowered the prosecuting attorney. "We didn't catch you in 1957, 1958 and 1959. We caught you now. And the United States Supreme Court has since ruled that embezzled funds are taxable. Therefore, my friend, you're guilty."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you jail George for failing to pay taxes on the tainted money?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that George had not "wilfully" evaded the payment of taxes in 1957, 1958 and 1959 since he had a right to rely upon the then United States Supreme Court decision that embezzled funds were not taxable.

(Based upon a 1965 U.S. District Court Decision)

THE MARVEL OF SEED

What marvelous power is the tiny seed
It matters not whether they be flower or weed.
Locked within walls of each small shell
Is strength unknown, inside the hearts cell.
No matter what ever may be the name
The process of life is much the same.
Until the cycle of growth is more complete
'Tis hard to define the tares with wheat.
The weeds will grow without any care
They need no planting -- they are everywhere.
But beautiful flowers or the prize rose
Must be cultivated and planted in rows.
'Twould be so easy to let tares and weeds go
But the flowers and wheat would cease to grow.
For weeds grow wild and the tares grow tall
With no pretty flowers and wheat harvest small.
Our life is so like the flowers and weeds
Each heart bears both good and evil seeds.
Without cultivation a crop of bad seeds
Soon would choke out life's golden deeds.

HIGHER EDUCATION..... VIA A NEWSPAPER ROUTE

Why do educators frequently encourage youngsters to apply for a newspaper route? And why are more and more schools giving "credit" for newspaper route experience?

Because the attitude of a boy towards higher education frequently changes, when, as a Little Merchant newspaperboy, in business for himself, he begins to understand the value of book learning combined with practical experience.

He buys at wholesale—sells at retail—makes his own deliveries and collections—learns simple bookkeeping—and often develops into a surprisingly good salesman.

And the money he banks while a newspaperboy frequently makes it possible for him to attend the college of his choice.

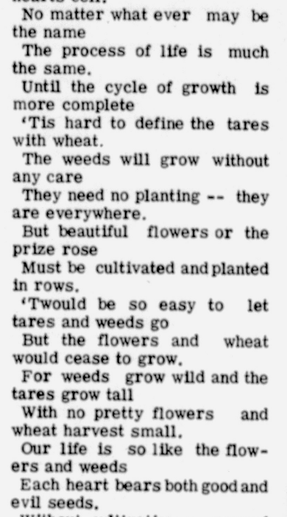

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit from newspaperboy experience, have him come in and talk to us.

The Daily Standard

Note to Subscribers: Please have your money ready when your Newspaperboy makes his collections. It will save him time and will also help him maintain his profits.

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 18, the 138th day of 1967. There are 227 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, Napoleon Bonaparte was proclaimed emperor of France.

On this date:

In 1863, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant began the siege of Vicksburg, Miss.

In 1899, 26 nations convened an international peace conference at the Hague in the Netherlands.

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson signed a military conscription bill.

In 1933, the Tennessee Valley Authority was created.

In 1940, German troops captured the Belgian city of Antwerp.

In 1941, Italian forces surrendered in Ethiopia.

Ten years ago—King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Faisal of Iraq rebuked Egypt's President Gambal Abdel Nasser for meddling in the affairs of other Arab nations.

Five years ago - Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned that the dispatch of U.S. troops to Thailand to protect the independence of Laos could lead to a conflict like the Korean war.

One year ago — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara proposed that every young man give two years of service to his country.

Mrs. Spane, 76, Dies in Hospital

PERKINS -- Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Milem Spane, 76, a longtime Perkins resident who died Tuesday in a Cape Girardeau hospital.

The Rev. Troy T. Haupt, Cape Girardeau, will officiate in the Baptist church. Burial will be in William Cemetery.

Mrs. Spane, the former Miss Essie Sitze, was born Dec. 2, 1890 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sitze of Marquand. On June 1, 1910, she married Spane, who survives.

Other survivors are five sons, Eugene Spane, Chaffee; Freeman Spane, Dexter; Lyman Spane, Painton; Truman Spane, Flat River; and Lowell Spane, Chaffee. One other son, Willis Spane, died in 1965.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Marie Hill, Rochelle, Ill., and Mrs. Ed Wagoner, and Kathryn Spane, both of Perkins; 19 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Spane was a member of the Perkins Baptist Church. Morgan Funeral Home of Advance is in charge.

Senate Bill Extends Bank Boundaries

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)— A bill to allow banks to have separate facilities within 5,000 yards of the main bank was passed by the Missouri Senate Wednesday, 25-8.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville and former banker, criticized it as "a creeping thing that will eventually lead to branch banking."

In cities under 75,000 the extra facility could be anywhere within the city limits.

Also passed and sent to the House were 18 other bills including one to require that all bonds be sold at public sale on bids — including any revenue bonds issued to build toll roads.

Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, said many general obligation bond issues have been sold privately by negotiation at considerably higher interest rates than result from public bidding.

Other measures passed included ones to:

Require uniform equipment on motor vehicles, a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation.

Raise maximum damages in wrongful death cases from $25,000 to $50,000.

Allow any municipality to join a central retirement system for its employes or set up its own system, implementing a new constitutional provision.

Let school boards provide education for five-year-olds and thus qualify for state aid under an earlier kindergarten aid bill.

Put the state health director under a seven-member board of health.

Increase state aid to junior colleges from $240 to $320 per pupil.

Extend the life of the State Tax Study Commission two more years.

Increase the pay of the state commissioner of agriculture from $12,000 to $16,000 a year.

Given final approval, too, was a bill to provide workmen's compensation for National Guardsmen called to active duty in the state. Because of minor amendments it must return to the Senate.

Search on For Assailant

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo.(AP) — An intensive manhunt was under way today for an itinerant construction worker suspected of shooting a Fredericktown high school student.

Charged in a warrant with assault with intent to kill was James Childers, 21, whose last address was in Kansas City, Mo.

He was last seen driving the car of Myron Powell, 17, who was found Wednesday shot six times with his hands tied behind his back on a county road near Fredericktown.

The Powell youth was listed in fair condition at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

New Park Bill Moves Forward

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill clearing the way for construction of state parks around federal reservoirs was advanced by the Missouri Senate today.

Under a new federal law, states must record their intent to develop recreational facilities before a new reservoir can be built to include enough water for recreational purposes.

The federal government then advances to the state enough money to build a park, a marina or additional access facilities. The money is paid back from user fees over a 50-year period.

But before a specific project could be built, the legislature would have to be assured it was economically feasible and would have to approve each individual project.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. John J. Johnson, D-Sappington, who was especially interested in the three Meramec Basin reservoirs which have been approved — Irondale, Pine Ford and I-38.

Also affected would be the Smithville Reservoir in the Platte River Basin north of Kansas City, the Long Branch in the Chariton Basin and five reservoirs in the North Grand River Basin — Pattonsburg, Trenton, Baymer, Brookfield and Mercer.

Another water bill tied in with federal law also was advanced.

It would allow the state to grant funds to local government units, including sewer districts, to help pay for water pollution control projects.

Under the law, the federal government would provide 50 per cent of the cost of such projects, the state 25 per cent and the local unit 25 per cent.

Sen. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, said Missouri now has about $10 million in federal funds available for such use.

Police Report Seven Arrests

Robert A. Jones, 614 William, was charged by police Wednesday with driving while intoxicated, peace disturbance by loud and profane language and operating a vehicle without a city license. He was arrested on West Malone, police said.

Other persons arrested Wednesday are:

Nicholas E. Haley, Morehouse, charged with public intoxication.

Adolph C. Miller, 138 Sixth St., charged with careless and imprudent driving on East Malone.

Jose L. Copeland, Miner, charged with driving without an operator's license.

Charles Fate Cantrell, Essex, arrested on a warrant from New Madrid county charging non support.

Thomas J. Flippo, 314 Kendall, charged with assault and battery on Front Street.

Ancell C. Gross, Sikeston, charged with public intoxication on North Kingshighway.

Mrs. McDougal Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Lee McDougal, 904 North Kingshighway, died Wednesday night in Rochester, Minn.

Survivors include her husband, Lee McDougal, and a brother, J. B. Jeffries, of Poplar Bluff.

The body will be at the Welsh Funeral Home.

Homemaker Program Is Successful

NEW MADRID -- The homemakers advisory committee for the University of Missouri Extension Division, OEO Homemaker Development Project, met May 12 at the New Madrid training center in the basement of the court house.

Representative homemakers from the areas serviced by the educational aides were selected to function as an advisory group to assist in evaluating the clothing unit ending May 8.

The clothing program given to individual homemakers in their homes and to group meetings of homemakers was judged to be successful. The women were pleased with clothing information given and skills taught as a way of helping low-income families.

The social and personal needs of individuals within the family group and how these needs can be met by low-income families were stressed.

Garments made by the women present were displayed.

The committee reported that the clothing unit had been helpful to participants. They judged it to be a successful program and asked that it be continued.

Lunch using commodity foods was prepared and served by the educational aides.

The Clarkton area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Joyce Hays; Mrs. Roberta Gardner, Malden, and Mrs. Emma White, Clarkton.

The Holcomb area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Ethel Wilhite; Mrs. Audie McWhirter, Holcomb, and Mrs. Louise Cooper, Campbell.

The Portageville area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Dorothy Sikes; Mrs. Margaret Gray; Mrs. Callie Trawick; educational aide, Mrs. Sybil Hurley; Mrs. Florence Birdwell, and Mrs. Mary Lou Edgar.

The Kewanee, Matthews, Morehouse areas were represented by educational aide, Mrs. Willie Hornback; Mrs. Jonie Lee Suggs, Matthews, and Mrs. Willa Mae Perry; Mrs. Rosie Lee Jones, Howardville, and Mrs. Juanita Taylor Portageville Route.

The New Madrid area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Carrie B. Sims; Mrs. Geneva Hunt and Mrs. Genevieve Sims, New Madrid Route.

The Hayti area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Mary Alice Quertermous, and Mrs. Vera Mae Ricks.

The Parma Risco area was represented by educational aide Mrs. Virtrue L. Hill.

Shoes Can Be Donated in Relief Drive

Shoes of all sizes will be accepted in the city wide drive for the Church World Service clothing appeal to be conducted through May 27 by the United Church Women.

Church World Service -- the cooperative relief agency of 27 denominations -- processes and ships clothing and blankets for distribution in 30 overseas areas of acute need. Last year more than 5 million pounds were exported.

Donations of cash are also welcomed.

A collection depot at Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian church will be open Saturday.

For further information, telephone GR 1-0101 or GR 1-5132.

ALEX CANTRELL has been named general agent for the Continental Assurance Company, for Southeast Missouri, succeeding W. U. Myers. He will be stationed at Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Spane, 76, Dies in Hospital

PERKINS -- Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Milem Spane, 76, a longtime Perkins resident who died Tuesday in a Cape Girardeau hospital.

The Rev. Troy T. Haupt, Cape Girardeau, will officiate in the Baptist church. Burial will be in William Cemetery.

Mrs. Spane, the former Miss Essie Sitze, was born Dec. 2, 1890 the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sitze of Marquand. On June 1, 1910, she married Spane, who survives.

Other survivors are five sons, Eugene Spane, Chaffee; Freeman Spane, Dexter; Lyman Spane, Painton; Truman Spane, Flat River; and Lowell Spane, Chaffee. One other son, Willis Spane, died in 1965.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Marie Hill, Rochelle, Ill., and Mrs. Ed Wagoner, and Kathryn Spane, both of Perkins; 19 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Spane was a member of the Perkins Baptist Church. Morgan Funeral Home of Advance is in charge.

Senate Bill Extends Bank Boundaries

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to allow banks to have separate facilities within 5,000 yards of the main bank was passed by the Missouri Senate Wednesday, 25-8.

Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville and former banker, criticized it as "a creeping thing that will eventually lead to branch banking."

In cities under 75,000 the extra facility could be anywhere within the city limits.

Also passed and sent to the House were 18 other bills including one to require that all bonds be sold at public sale on bids — including any revenue bonds issued to build toll roads.

Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Clayton, said many general obligation bond issues have been sold privately by negotiation at considerably higher interest rates than result from public bidding.

Other measures passed included ones to:

Require uniform equipment on motor vehicles, a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation.

Raise maximum damages in wrongful death cases from $25,000 to $50,000.

Allow any municipality to join a central retirement system for its employes or set up its own system, implementing a new constitutional provision.

Let school boards provide education for five-year-olds and thus qualify for state aid under an earlier kindergarten aid bill.

Put the state health director under a seven-member board of health.

Increase state aid to junior colleges from $240 to $320 per pupil.

Extend the life of the State Tax Study Commission two more years.

Increase the pay of the state commissioner of agriculture from $12,000 to $16,000 a year.

Given final approval, too, was a bill to provide workmen's compensation for National Guardsmen called to active duty in the state. Because of minor amendments it must return to the Senate.

Search on For Assailant

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo.(AP) — An intensive manhunt was under way today for an itinerant construction worker suspected of shooting a Fredericktown high school student.

Charged in a warrant with assault with intent to kill was James Childers, 21, whose last address was in Kansas City, Mo.

He was last seen driving the car of Myron Powell, 17, who was found Wednesday shot six times with his hands tied behind his back on a county road near Fredericktown.

The Powell youth was listed in fair condition at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

New Park Bill Moves Forward

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill clearing the way for construction of state parks around federal reservoirs was advanced by the Missouri Senate today.

Under a new federal law, states must record their intent to develop recreational facilities before a new reservoir can be built to include enough water for recreational purposes.

The federal government then advances to the state enough money to build a park, a marina or additional access facilities. The money is paid back from user fees over a 50-year period.

But before a specific project could be built, the legislature would have to be assured it was economically feasible and would have to approve each individual project.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. John J. Johnson, D-Sappington, who was especially interested in the three Meramec Basin reservoirs which have been approved — Irondale, Pine Ford and I-38.

Also affected would be the Smithville Reservoir in the Platte River Basin north of Kansas City, the Long Branch in the Chariton Basin and five reservoirs in the North Grand River Basin — Pattonsburg, Trenton, Baymer, Brookfield and Mercer.

Another water bill tied in with federal law also was advanced.

It would allow the state to grant funds to local government units, including sewer districts, to help pay for water pollution control projects.

Under the law, the federal government would provide 50 per cent of the cost of such projects, the state 25 per cent and the local unit 25 per cent.

Sen. Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann, said Missouri now has about $10 million in federal funds available for such use.

Police Report Seven Arrests

Robert A. Jones, 614 William, was charged by police Wednesday with driving while intoxicated, peace disturbance by loud and profane language and operating a vehicle without a city license. He was arrested on West Malone, police said.

Other persons arrested Wednesday are:

Nicholas E. Haley, Morehouse, charged with public intoxication.

Adolph C. Miller, 138 Sixth St., charged with careless and imprudent driving on East Malone.

Jose L. Copeland, Miner, charged with driving without an operator's license.

Charles Fate Cantrell, Essex, arrested on a warrant from New Madrid county charging non support.

Thomas J. Flippo, 314 Kendall, charged with assault and battery on Front Street.

Ancell C. Gross, Sikeston, charged with public intoxication on North Kingshighway.

The body will be at the Welsh Funeral Home.

Homemaker Program Is Successful

NEW MADRID -- The homemakers advisory committee for the University of Missouri Extension Division, OEO Homemaker Development Project, met May 12 at the New Madrid training center in the basement of the court house.

Representative homemakers from the areas serviced by the educational aides were selected to function as an advisory group to assist in evaluating the clothing unit ending May 8.

The clothing program given to individual homemakers in their homes and to group meetings of homemakers was judged to be successful. The women were pleased with clothing information given and skills taught as a way of helping low-income families.

The social and personal needs of individuals within the family group and how these needs can be met by low-income families were stressed.

Garments made by the women present were displayed.

The committee reported that the clothing unit had been helpful to participants. They judged it to be a successful program and asked that it be continued.

Lunch using commodity foods was prepared and served by the educational aides.

The Holcomb area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Ethel Wilhite; Mrs. Audie McWhirter, Holcomb, and Mrs. Louise Cooper, Campbell.

The Portageville area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Dorothy Sikes; Mrs. Margaret Gray; Mrs. Callie Trawick; educational aide, Mrs. Sybil Hurley; Mrs. Florence Birdwell, and Mrs. Mary Lou Edgar.

The Kewanee, Matthews, Morehouse areas were represented by educational aide, Mrs. Willie Hornback; Mrs. Jonie Lee Suggs, Matthews, and Mrs. Willa Mae Perry; Mrs. Rosie Lee Jones, Howardville, and Mrs. Juanita Taylor Portageville Route.

The New Madrid area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Carrie B. Sims; Mrs. Geneva Hunt and Mrs. Genevieve Sims, New Madrid Route.

The Hayti area was represented by educational aide, Mrs. Mary Alice Quertermous, and Mrs. Vera Mae Ricks.

The Parma Risco area was represented by educational aide Mrs. Virtrue L. Hill.

Shoes Can Be Donated in Relief Drive

Shoes of all sizes will be accepted in the city wide drive for the Church World Service clothing appeal to be conducted through May 27 by the United Church Women.

Church World Service -- the cooperative relief agency of 27 denominations -- processes and ships clothing and blankets for distribution in 30 overseas areas of acute need. Last year more than 5 million pounds were exported.

Donations of cash are also welcomed.

A collection depot at Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian church will be open Saturday.

For further information, telephone GR 1-0101 or GR 1-5132.

ALEX CANTRELL has been named general agent for the Continental Assurance Company, for Southeast Missouri, succeeding W. U. Myers. He will be stationed at Cape Girardeau.
